PONTIAC PICKETS CLOSE GM PLANT

Busing Foes Mass At Factory Gates To Persuade Company To Join Them

School busing foes succeeded today in closing down the General Motors Corp. Fisher Body plant despite threats by the company and the United Auto Workers to discipline employees who observed the picket lines.

Approximately 500 pickets massed in front of three gates and jeered workers who crossed their lines. They also argued with UAW representatives on hand to remind workers of their contractual obligations.

It was apparent that most workers decided not even to show up at the plant and most of those who did came with the intention of going to work.

At first, GM officials thought they could begin operating the production line on schedule thought at 6 a.m.

"I think we've got enough to run it," Charles Wright, a Fisher Body labor relations staffmember said after taking a head count at one of three gates.

However, at 6:20 a.m., the company said it was closing the plant because "less than half" of the 650-man contingent of the first shift showed up.

Another 1,300 were due to begin work at 6:30.

Many of them stood across from the main gate at a bar and watched the anti-busing pickets before either going into the bar or returning home.

A Fisher Body spokesman said officials would try to reopen the plant when the afternoon shift of approximately 2,000 begins reporting at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Irene McCabe, president of the National Action group (NAG) which organized the picketing against the world's largest manufacturing corporation, said the group's success in closing the plant proved the forces opposed to court-ordered pupil busing have more power than people think.

Mrs. McCabe said the group wants to force GM to lobby for legislation prohibiting cross-town busing to achieve school integration.

School busing opponents said they want to close the plant, the smallest of GM's three complexes in Pontiac, to show "we haven't lost our political clout."

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES— Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax today took pity on a Pacific Telephone Co. workman stuck in a manhole at Second and Lincoln streets in San Rafael during the 100-degree plus weather. Asked if he'd like a cold drink, the workman was rewarded in quadruple. The manhole cover made a convenient table for refreshments from a nearby drive-in restaurant.

Searing Heat To Continue: First Bay Smog Alert

Woodacre Registers 111-Degree Reading As Entire Area Suffers

A near-record searing heat wave — accompanied by the Bay Area's first smog alert — continued today as Marin and Southern Sonoma counties sweltered along with other sections of both Northern and Southern California.

The weatherman cautiously predicted that fog may start cooling Southern California tomorrow and gradually begin moving northward, but no immediate end to the hot weather was promised.

The thermometer hit 111 degrees in Woodacre yesterday, but the temperature may have been even higher, according to Stanley Rowan, Marin County assistant fire chief. He said that the mechanism at the fire station used for recording temperatures only goes as high as 111.

Along with the heat, came eye-stinging smog, and the first smog alert in history was called by the Bay Area Air Pollution District, which asked at 11 a.m. yesterday that Bay Area residents stop all but essential auto driving and discontinue outdoor burning, including barbecues. The alert was still in effect today.

Stinson Beach State Park today was closed because of a water shortage in the beach town, according to Col. George H. White, volunteer fire chief.

He said that the hot weather had brought many visitors to the beach in the past few days and that this, combined with a high evaporation rate in the springs and creeks feeding the water system, caused a shortage.

Col. White said he had asked that the state park be closed until further notice.

He also planned to send a fire truck around today, asking Stinson Beach residents not to water their lawns, wash their cars or otherwise use water excessively, he said.

The weatherman said that the heat was being caused by a high pressure front about 500 miles west of Seattle which is preventing cooling fog and breezes from coming into the West Coast.

Today was expected to be about the same as yesterday, where only on the coast were such relatively low temperatures as 86 degrees in Bolinas recorded. (Even normally cool San Francisco had a 99-degree high yesterday.)

Other Marin and Southern Sonoma county high temperatures for yesterday included:

San Francisco Boycott Eases

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Parents in Chinatown and other parts of the city kept thousands of children home again today in a protest against busing, but elementary school principals said the number attending classes had increased slightly.

About 21,000 of the city's 50,000 elementary school students—41 per cent—stayed home Monday as San Francisco became the largest city in the country to carry out court-ordered elementary desegregation at one stroke.

A spot check of schools by UPI today showed that attendance was up slightly, but the boycott was still nearly universally observed in Chinatown, the center of antibusing sentiment.

At Treasure Island naval base, another bastion of antibusing sentiment, 392 out of 925 students attended today —42 per cent. There were 308 students —or 33 per cent—in class Monday.

The boycott remained peaceful. School Superintendent Thomas Shaheen termed the program a success, particularly because of the lack of violence or disruption.

"We are extremely pleased that it has been a safe day," Shaheen told a late afternoon news conference. "Anyone who wanted to come to school was not prevented from doing so ..."

Shaheen said 29,000 of the elementary school students, or 41 per cent, were absent on the first day, but he could not indicate how many of those absent were assigned to ride buses to transport them to schools outside their own neighborhoods.

"It's much too early in the week to tell who rode the buses and who didn't," he said.

Shaheen said the normal ab-

8 Attica Deaths Laid To Gunshots

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—A medical examiner reported today that eight of the 10 hostages killed in the Attica state prison revolt died of gunshot wounds.

Ten hostages and 30 prisoners died in the five-day revolt which was broken up Monday when state troopers, National Guardsmen and sheriffs' deputies stormed the facilities.

It was not immediately known who fired the shots at the hostages—the prisoners or the storming troopers.

A spokesman for the Monroe County Medical Center in Rochester where the autopsies were performed said eight died of gunshot wounds.

Cause of death of a ninth hostage was not known immediately. A 10th died Saturday after he was thrown out of a window.

Prison officials had said previously that some of the hostages had their necks slashed by the convicts.

Earlier today, two more convicts' bodies were found, boosting the toll to 40 in the bloodiest prison revolt in modern U.S. times.

The toll was expected to rise higher.

Prison officials said six missing convicts may be dead in the maze of tunnels beneath the 54 acre facility. Some 100 prisoners were wounded, many seriously, when state troopers, national guardsmen and sheriffs' deputies stormed the prison Monday.

President Nixon told Republican congressional leaders in Washington today the loss of life would have been even greater if New York officials had not moved Monday to end the five day uprising.

Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the President initiated the discussion of Attica at a two-hour conference at the White House.

Three black House members said in Washington the revolt stemmed from dehumanizing conditions which they said existed in prisons throughout the country.

Reps. Shirley Chisholm and Charles B. Rangel, both New York Democrats, and Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., said in a joint statement that the need for prison reform "has been dramatically brought to our attention."

The FBI apparently has sent warnings to a number of prisons and law enforcement agencies around the country to be on the lookout for prison riots. Acting on an FBI warning, sheriffs' deputies conducted a cell-by-cell search Monday of the Wayne County jail in Detroit.

The Attica dead included 10

Fairfax Hits Clause In Leased Housing

With little discussion the council voted to drop its requirement that rental aid be given only to persons who had been living in the city for a year, and instead merely give first priority to the city's residents.

The revised statement was proposed by Gerald J. Hood, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Hood told councilmen that the commission had long felt that the county's housing authority — which has never approached Fairfax on the subject — should take action to get the requirement removed, since it was declared unconstitutional in 1970 by U.S. District Court.

Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet told the council that the residency requirement should be struck down because anybody who could afford to pay rent in Fairfax for a year without help obviously needed no such help as leased housing.

Hood was unprepared for the council's swift action on the matter and had even brought Corte Madera Councilman Edward W. Colthurst to back up his case if necessary.

Federal legislation providing low rent housing by leasing units in existing privately owned structures requires approval of any such program by cities involved and some cities attached residency restrictions to their approval.

Two Marin cities, Larkspur and San Rafael still have a residency requirement.

Fairfax will now grant first preference in subsidized housing to residents of one year, second to persons living in the city when they apply and last to other Marin County residents.

San Rafael Streets To Become One-Way

By C. P. McCARTHY

The San Rafael City Council last night approved a plan to make portions of A, B, C and D streets one-way.

A Street will be northbound and B Street southbound between Second Street and Fifth Avenue, and C Street will be northbound and D Street southbound between First Street and Fifth Avenue.

Ely Caillouette Jr., city engineer, said the new pattern will be in effect by Nov. 15.

Approval came on a unanimous vote by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilmen Fred E. Jensen and Harry A. Barbier. Councilmen John A. Miskimen and Lawrence F. Mulryan were not present.

The move was recommended by the city's traffic committee which met Sept. 8.

In recommending the one-way pattern for the north-south streets, the committee deleted its previous recommendation that Fourth Street be one-way eastbound and Fifth Avenue westbound between Irwin and G streets.

That plan met criticism at a public hearing June 14 by persons who said making Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue one-way would benefit drivers rushing through San Rafael and would not help residents, businessmen and shoppers in the downtown area.

Eighteen persons attending the public hearing last night, and there was no opposition to the traffic committee's revised recommendation.

Caillouette said the reason Fourth and Fifth had been deleted from the proposal was upcoming sewer construction projects on the streets which would make changing the traffic pattern more difficult.

Those streets can still be made one-way at a later time, he said.

Making the north-south streets, as well as Fourth and Fifth, one-way were among recommendations in a 1969 study of downtown San Rafael traffic flow prepared by D. Jackson Faustman, a Sacramento traffic consultant.

The traffic committee is headed by Norris M. Rawles, director of public works. Other members are Caillouette; Herbert G. Hotchner, planning director; Chief of Police Joseph J. Brusatori, and City Mgr. James H. McCown.

Prior to the council's action last night, John R. Wolf, advance planner, reported on the results of a poll of about 400 downtown business operators conducted by the planning department.

Fifty-three per cent of those responding said they generally favored one-way streets for improving traffic, but only 19 per cent said they favored making Fourth Street one-way, Wolf reported.

Thant Says He Will Not Serve

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General U Thant said today he would not serve beyond the end of this year "under any circumstance."

He told a news conference that he did not think the question of a draft to keep him in office will arise.

"I want to make it very clear that I will not serve beyond my present term, whether for two years, one year or three months, under any circumstance."

Thant's statement was the strongest and most specific on the subject since he first announced his decision last Jan. 18.

"My decision is final and categorical," he said.

McGovern Escapes Firebombing Injury In Saigon; New Riot

SAIGON (UPI)—A firebomb exploded tonight against a Roman Catholic church where Sen. George McGovern, D.-S.D., was meeting with religious and student leaders. McGovern was not hurt in this latest outbreak of anti-American violence.

As McGovern and four aides fled from the church, persons on the outside threw rocks at them and there were "noises like firecrackers going off," an aide said. He said he could not determine whether the noises were shots or firecrackers.

Flames spread over eight motor vehicles parked beside the church. American and South Vietnamese military police and demolition teams rushed to the scene where they found two other unexploded bombs.

McGovern raced from the church escorted by American MPS while a growing crowd of Vietnamese gathered outside the tall iron gates.

"It was very scary," an aide said. "We don't know who was behind it."

McGovern, the only announced candidate for the 1972 Democratic Presidential nomination, returned to Saigon tonight from Cam Ranh Bay where he toured the Army's drug treatment center.

The attack against the church followed widespread anti-American violence in Saigon where firebomb attacks by terrorists riding motorbikes hit at least four other American vehicles today and seriously hurt a U.S. Navy petty officer.

Hue, the ancient imperial capital of Indochina, was declared off limits to Americans today following antiAmerican rioting there Monday. Those riots were sparked when a U.S. soldier shot and killed a Vietnamese youth who the soldier said had stolen a GI's watch.

McGovern had gone to the private meeting tonight in a Vietnamese taxi. An aide said the antiwar senator had just finished speaking when the powerful blast rocked the church.

South Vietnamese police and heavily armed militiamen blocked the closed gates to the churchyard and would not allow U.S. demolition team jeeps inside.

U.S. embassy officials called to the scene refused to talk to newsmen.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was informed of the incident, and American officials went to see McGovern at his suite in the Caravelle Hotel to which he returned after the bomb incident.

Fire In Mendocino Burns 2,000 Acres

CORNING (UPI)—A brush and timber fire burned 2,000 acres in the Mendocino National Forest today as 400 firefighters struggled to control the blaze about 20 miles west of this Tehama County community.

U.S. Forest Service crews, assisted by the state Forestry Service and teams from the state Department of Corrections, were hampered by difficult terrain.

Smog Officials To Eye Reports

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Criticism of annual reports that conclude air quality is improving will be considered by Bay Area smog officials tomorrow — meeting during a spell of severe air pollution.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors recently criticized the annual report by the district's staff, and referred it to the technical committee for its analysis. The committee will meet at 10 a.m. in district offices, 939 Ellis Street.

The ad hoc committee on odor will meet first at 9 a.m., and the ad hoc committee on upset and breakdown procedures by industry will meet at 1:30 p.m.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Status Of Storms

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Weakening tropical storm Heidi skirted Massachusetts' famed Cape Cod today and steered toward chilly Nova Scotia, while sister storm Edith stalled off the Mexican coast some 180 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

Hurricane Ginger, a 100 mile an hour storm, howled northeastward across the New York-to-Europe shipping lanes and was so farout at sea the U. S. Weather Service stopped issuing advisories on it.

In the Caribbean Sea, meanwhile, forecasters said a tropical depression with winds to 35 m.p.h. moved across the Windward Islands and was expected to continue drifting westward about 5 m.p.h. Weatherman said heavy rains in this depression may cause some flash flooding in the Windward Islands from Grenada north to Martinique.

Will Keep Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Miles W. Kirkpatrick, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) chairman whose regulatory crackdown has angered some businessmen, plans to keep his job despite reports that the administration wants to promote him out of it.

Kirkpatrick said yesterday in an interview he would decline either job reportedly to be offered him — a judgeship on the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia or the post of ambassador to Belgium. Kirkpatrick, 53, emphasized that he doubted the reports were true, anyway. He said no one in the administration had criticized his work at the FTC or hinted another job might be in the offing.

He indicated he was publicly responding to the reports because of their adverse effect on FTC personnel.

To Ask Devaluation

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The six European Common market nations will urge the United States tomorrow to devalue the dollar, abolish its 10 per cent surcharge on imports, and join other countries in restoring world monetary order.

"We are really going to sock it to them," one Common Market official said today.

The Common Market's tough stand emerged from a seven-hour meeting Monday of the finance and economics ministers of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The ministers met to draw up a common position on reform of the international monetary system, thrown into confusion by President Nixon's new economic policies.

Ovation For Duke

MOSCOW (UPI) — Duke Ellington's first audience of Russian jazz fans loved him madly, worked him overtime and wore him out.

"How much better an audience can you get?" Ellington said today of his band's opening night in Leningrad yesterday.

"There were thousands of people packed into this tremendous, modern hall — I'd say seven or eight thousand — and not everyone who wanted to get in could get in.

"The program was supposed to last from eight p.m. to 10, but the encores ran till 11. They were still applauding at 11 p.m. — they wanted more. Nobody forced them to do this, they just wanted more," he said.

Mideast Plea Set

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Cairo's semiofficial Al Ahram newspaper said today Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad will appear before the U.N. General Assembly in the first half of November to discuss the Middle East conflict.

The Newspaper said Riad will be in New York Sept. 21 to head Egypt's delegation to the General Assembly, which opens its 26th session that day.

It said Riad will meet with the Big Four foreign ministers, apparently as part of Egypt's announced diplomatic offensive to round up support for its forthcoming U.N. campaign against Israel. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has said Egypt will bring up the Middle East situation "in its entirety" at the United Nations.

Al Ahram said Riad will address the assembly in late September or early October then will return to Cairo. It said he will return to New York in the first half of November "to discuss the Middle East crisis at the General Assembly after some facts of this crisis will have been disclosed."

The newspaper did not say what those facts were.

Snipers At Work

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A sniper shot and wounded a British soldier in Londonderry today in a series of clashes between gunmen, rock-throwing youths and soldiers, an army spokesman said.

In Belfast, a parcel marked "bomb" but containing only a brick, lured troops and police into the White Rock area of the Roman Catholic Springfield Road area where snipers opened fire, security forces spokesmen said.

Later, six shots smashed into an army post in the Creggan area near the Roman Catholic Bogside area of Londonderry and troops fired back at a gunman carrying a pistol, the spokesman said.

250,000 Rock Fans

AVANDARO, Mexico (UPI) — The first rock festival ever held in Latin America attracted 250,000 persons and resulted in the death of five persons, including two persons who police said drowned while swimming under the influence of marijuana.

Atty. Gen. Pedro Ojeda said last night the government would open an investigation of the festival, which brought a widespread indignation.

"It is obvious crimes were committed while state police failed to act," said Ojeda. He said he was referring to the widespread smoking of marijuana and other drugs last weekend.

8 Feared Drowned

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — Eight persons, including two volunteer firemen, were missing and feared drowned by heavy flooding of creeks and streams here and in the Norristown area 30 miles northeast of this community.

The two firemen and three other persons were last seen shortly before a 12-foot retaining wall along Chester Creek, in the heart of the business district, collapsed and sent a wall of water pouring into the streets.

Flooding occurred on many creeks and streams in Southeastern Pennsylvania following four days of rain. The weather bureau said nearly five inches had fallen.

Disposal Of Mercury Is Blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Michigan State University professor told the American Chemical Society today that "improper disposal" of mercury-containing products may be primarily responsible for mercuric poisoning of the environment.

The professor, Dr. Frank M. D'Itri, gave the society an account of the historic causes of mercury poisoning of human beings.

"It is becoming more evident," he said, "that the mercury discharges by the many companies that use mercury in their manufacturing operations, while significant, are only minor contributions of the total mercury lost to the world's environment."

"Rather," he said, "the largest sources of mercury discharged into the environment each year may result from the improper disposal od hundreds of manufactured products which contain mercury."

D'Itri also indic ted the growing combusion of coal and other fossil fuels which has poured more and more mercury poisoning into the environment since the birth of the industrial revolution in the 18th Century.

He cited increased amounts of mercury found in museum-preserved fish caught in the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, Lake Erie, and Lake St. Clair between 1920 and 1965.

He attributed the increase in mercury in Lake Erie fish to fallout from burning mercury-containing coal.

Other sources of mercury contamination, D'Itri said, include combustion of wastes, smelting of ores, and introduction of mercury into sewer systems by hospitals, laboratories, and the general populace through use of commonplace products containing mercurials.

D'Itri said the most ancient literature of Western civilization contains references to "mercury contamination capable of harming human beings." When the use of coal in the industrial revolution came along mercury pollution rose abruptly and has been increasing ever since.

Shooting Spree Over License

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—A laborer enraged because his nephew's wife wanted a driver's license shot three persons Monday night while screaming he would kill the woman, police said.

"Women who drive betray their husbands," authorities said Gennaro dell'Omo, 47, repeatedly told Teresa Puca Chiariello, 29. She ignored him and continued with driving lessons both from a school and from her husband, 31, a licensed chauffeur.

Police said Monday night dell'Omo encountered the couple in the Naples suburb of sant'Antimo where all three live, quarreled with them again, and shouted, "if you insist on getting a license, I'll kill you." His pistol shots missed the Chiariellos but wounded three passers-by in the leg, none seriously.

NADER HITS TAX RELIEF PROGRAM

Consumer Advocate Calls For Passage Of $4 Billion Temporary Tax Refund

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ralph Nader asked Congress today to reject the tax reduction package in President Nixon's new economic program and instead pass a $4 billion temporary tax refund for all consumers.

The consumer advocate told the House Ways and Means Committee that Nixon's proposals for tab relief for business would lead to "expensive and permanently inequitable tax cuts."

Nader said Nixon's proposed 10 per cent tax credit for industrial equipment this year and a permanent 5 per cent credit next year, coupled with his other tax proposals, amounted to $9.3 billion to "make 1971 the year of the greatest business tax cut in our history."

Instead, Nader said, there should be a $50 individual tax refund. He said the $50 refund would amount to a $4 billion temporary refund for all consumers, while the $2.2 billion personal tax cut advocated by the President would benefit higher income taxpayers more than average and low income persons.

"The personal tax cuts are a poor mask for the administration's attempt to permanently cut corporate taxes by 20 per cent," Nader said.

Nixon today scheduled a meeting with leaders of farm organizations to discuss his economic program. He met last week with labor leaders and Monday sat down with representatives of big business. Thursday he will confer with the Executive Committee of the National Governors' Conference and Friday with congressional leaders, as the administration attempts to work out the details of "phase two" of the economic plan, which will follow the current 90-day wage-price freeze.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said Nixon also will schedule a session with consumer groups, probably this week.

Spokesmen for industrial groups told the House committee today the investment tax credit should be increased. They said new plants and equipment the credit would make possible would help lift the sluggish economy.

Nader said his proposed $50 consumer tax refund should let consumers spend money where they wanted. He said Nixon's proposed repeal of the 7 per cent auto tax to stimulate auto sales was a "poor choice" because it would merely add to air pollution and traffic Congestion

Business representatives who met with Nixon Monday said they advocated direct federal enforcement of long-term wage-price controls. Earlier, AFLCIO president George Meany had called for a board made up of labor, business and the general public to oversee voluntary controls after the freeze ends in mid-November.

James M. Roche, chairman of General Motors, rejected this.

"I think the tripartite board would be very difficult to work out under these conditions," he asaid. "Policy decisions should be in the hands of the government."

Meany responded that government controls would amount to fascism. He said, "if you have wage controls by government, you're going to have everything controlled by government."

Death Of Man Is Under Probe

ELKO, Nev. (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies are investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of an unidentified man whose body was found in a gravel pit east of here.

District Attorney Mark Scott said the victim's hands and feet were bound and the body was wrapped in a blanket. He said the victim had apparently been strangled.

The man was a white male adult. An autopsy was ordered by County Coroner E. P. Lunsford.

A-Brandy Developed By Soviets

Russian nuclear scientists amazed the wine world today by announcing they have brought out just such a drink.

The 15 scientists, from the Soviet Food, Fish and Atomic Energy ministries, gave details of their brandy-making process to the United Nations "Atoms for Peace" conference.

"The use of ionizing radiations for the acceleration of ripening of cognac alcohol is very promising," their joint paper said.

"Ripening of cognac alcohol infused in oak shavings irradiated with 200 rads is completed in 10 to 15 days instead of three years required by the routine method."

The scientists, whose presentation was titled "The Use of Ionizing Radiation in Food Technology," did not say whether their brandy would be put on the market.

Drugs Everywhere, McGovern Is Told

McGovern, the only announced candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, toured the army's drug treatment center at Cam Ranh Bay 85 miles northeast of Saigon on the second day of his three-day visit to the war zone.

During the course of military briefings, McGovern asked if the South Vietnamese government has been cooperating in a drug availability crackdown as has been reported.

Maj. Gen. J.B. Adamson, the army's chief of personnel, replied: "Yes sir, we think they are cooperating. They realize the seriousness of the situation and so far they have been outstanding."

Brig. Gen. Harold A Kissinger, commanding general of the U.S. Army Support Command at Cam Ranh, told McGovern, however, "drugs are so available in this country, it would be almost impossible to say you couldn't get it here."

McGovern expressed shock that in a random conversation he apparently had conducted with GIs on a Saigon street the soldiers told him, they could obtain unlimited drugs "within 15 minutes."

"It is widely available," Adamson replied.

The senator toured the main detoxification center where GIs leaving Vietnam are checked for possible drug addiction, visited the urinalysis laboratory where tests are conducted and later stopped at an amnesty center.

Unreachable Bonanza On Bottom Of The Red Sea

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A $2.5 billion bonanza at the bottom of the Red Sea awaits anybody who can think up some way of exploiting it, an ocean engineer said today.

Joseph B. Lassiter III of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology told the American Chemical Society's annual meeting that the mud contains silver, copper, lead, and zinc.

With current techniques, mining of this sea floor lode would earn little if any profit. The slurry, about 80 per cent water, would have to be removed to land for processing because seagoing methods are not yet adequate for the job.

So, said Lassiter, it is up to chemists and metallurgists to come up with some "innovative techology."

Whence came the metal-rich slurry and the puzzling hot brine pools known to exist about it in the Red Sea?

Firemen Appoint Meeting Delegate

Novato volunteer firemen last night named Aldo Paladini as a delegate to the California Firemen's Association conference in Redding, Tehama County, Sunday through Sept. 23.

Richard Price was named as alternate delegate.

Timber And Heavy Brush Fire Contained

JACKSON (UPI) —A fire that broke out in timber and heavy brush about 10 miles south of here has been contained by state Division of Forestry firefighters after consuming about 90 acres.

A spokesman at the San Andreas office of the Forestry Division said the blackened area is near California 26 at the point where the highway is intersected by the Mokelumne River.

Japanese Police In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two policemen from Osaka, Japan, are in San Francisco for a 13-week study of how traffic and other police problems are handled.

Introduced Monday at Chief Alfred Nelder's office were Lt. Shinnosuke Mune, 30, in charge of Osaka's traffic, and Sgt. Toshiski Kurahachi, 28, of the city's Izumi District.

Opposition Blocks Tax Increase Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Last-minute opposition by oil companies and other industries has stalled a bill permanently hiking the maximum property tax rate of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The bill, AB 517 by Assemblyman John T. Knox D--Richmond, would hike the rate, from 1.3 to 2 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The assemblyman last year won passage of a bill providing the increase for only two years.

Industry's objections, Knox said, were to his bill's provision that would authorize the district to charge fees for registration of equipment that was or might be a source of pollution.

The bill is awaiting a final vote on the Senate floor, having already cleared the Assembly. Knox conceded it was "in trouble" because of the heavy opposition from industry. The belated opposition came only after industry "woke up" to the fact the bill set no limit on registration fees, Knox said.

He told the Independent-Journal he had not worked out a compromise, but suggested it could involve limiting the fees.

New Bay Area Sewerage Agency Appears Certain

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Creation of a regional sewerage agency in the Bay Area appears certain under legislation awaiting final action in the Legislature.

The bill, AB 2867 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will create a new agency to plan and build regional sewerage facilities, financing them through revenue bonds backed by service charges.

The agency could finance the bonds with a property tax up to one-half cent on each county's property tax rate if the service charges failed to finance the bonds.

The agency also would have veto power over all proposed wastewater facilities, but would not affect the Regional Water Quality Control Board's duties to set and police standards.

The bill won Senate approval, but has been held up temporarily in a motion by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, to reconsider the approval. He reportedly was concerned that sewerage agencies in Sonoma County opposed the bill, but Knox's office said the senator had agreed to drop his motion.

Dock Strike Talks Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Negotiators trying to settle the West Coast dock strike met for 2 1-2 hours Monday and again made no public statement of the talks.

Another meeting is taking place today.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union struck the Pacific Maritime Association on July 1, in a labor contract dispute.

Arguments On Ballot Said Illegal

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation empowering Marin Municipal Water District to join the Sonoma County Water Agency in building a new aqueduct, subject to voter approval, has run into a claim that ballot arguments on the issue would be illegal as the bill is written.

Nathan Rowley, bond counsel for the district, has advised the county elections office that no arguments for and against the referendum would be permitted on the ballot. He said any money spent for printing and mailing such arguments would be an illegal expenditure of district funds.

A solution to the problem, however, will be sought through an amendment to the legislation when it comes up before the Senate. Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, said he will seek to amend the measure to require ballot arguments.

The measure, AB 2423 by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, is on the upper house floor awaiting a vote that will send it back to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments. Once signed into law, it would become effective immediately.

The issue will be on the district ballot on Nov. 2.

Behr said that the problem was brought to him by Thomas H. Thorner of Kentfield, an attorney and chairman of Marin Alternative. The organization is opposed to the joint project with the Sonoma agency, arguing the new water supply it would bring would encourage excessive population growth.

Water district financial consultants have recommended it finance its share of the aqueduct with water rates or property taxes instead of from more costly revenue bonds. The district's share of the project is $43 million.

Sleeping Couple Held For Pot

AVALON (UPI) —A sheriff's deputy noticed two heads sticking from the same sleeping bag Monday near Bird Park Golf Course on Catalina Island and stopped to investigate.

The heads belong to Donovan K. Busby, 26, Long Beach, a county public services welfare employ, and Ruth A. Jordan, 23, a welfare recipient from Long Beach, who were arrested for possession of marijuana.

Authorities said a small bag containing marijuana was found near the sleeping bag the couple was sharing.

BART'S Entry Into Marin Very Unlikely

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bay Area Rapid Transit District trains may never reach Marin, a Senate committee agreed yesterday.

Endorsing legislation requiring the Golden Gate Bridge District to complete a long-range transit plan by mid-1973, the public utilities and corporation committee amended the bill to make it clear that any future system need not depend on extension into Marin of the BART system.

Committee members questioned the desirability of population growth such a system would bring, and noted that a North Bay loop of BART could damage ecologically valuable marshland.

Even Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, long an advocate of rail transit, acknowledge it was "quite likely" that Marin will not generate enough traffic to justify a BART extension. He previously had been highly critical of the bridge district, saying it had not given adequate attention to rail transit in its preliminary transit planning.

The measure before the committee, AB 919 by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, also was amended to empower the district to buy surplus railroad rights-of-way and whatever land it needs for its interim bus and ferry system.

The district's interim plan called for a start on a $300 million system of buses running entirely on their own right-of-way. This plan, however, also called for a second deck on the bridge for transit, while Foran's bill bars a second deck until the long-range plans are submitted to the 1973 Legislature.

His bill also bars the district from incurring long-range debts except as necessary for the interim bus and ferry system.

Foran's bill, as it came before the committee, said any rail system planned by the district must have rolling stock "compatible" with BART. But as amended, the bill requires only that the district system be "coordinated" with BART.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, chairing the committee, said the original language would have "put the future in a straight jacket."

Another bill affecting the district, AB 3094 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will be heard next Monday by the Senate Transportation Committee. As written now, it prohibits the district from operating any charter or sightseeing services on either its bus or ferry systems.

Knox has had amendments drafted, however, to delete buses from the bill, thus it will apply only to district ferries.

A third bill, one by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, similar to Foran's, has been dropped because of progress on Foran's bill. Yesterday's committee action on Foran's bill sent it to the Senate floor. It will need Assembly concurrence in Senate amendments.

Jessel Wins On Child Support

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A petition filed by actress Joan Tyler to place the assets of entertainer George Jessel in receivership because he allegedly has failed to pay her child support was denied Monday in superior court.

Judge William P. Hogoboom denied the motion but delayed a ruling on another petition to apply a levy on Jessel's home in Reseda to collect the money.

A paternity suit filed by Miss Tyler, 37, against Jessel, 73, was settled eight years ago when he acknowledged the child, Charris Carla, now 9, was his and agreed to pay $500 a month support.

Safe Is Looted

Funds For Angela Case Predicted

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, confidently predicted yesterday that the state will pungle up its share of the costs to Marin for the trials of Angela Y. Davis and Ruchell Magee.

The assemblyman, noting he was carrying a bill raising some $20 million in new taxes that the Reagan administration "wants and needs," said he expected the administration to provide Marin with as much as $800,000 as his "finder's fee" for carrying the tax bill.

Bagley also is carrying a bill to require the state to pay part of the costs for the trials, but that bill only would authorize the Department of Corrections to draw from a dry well. The fund it depends on to share trial costs has too little in it to help Marin, thus Bagley also needs to find new money for the special fund.

His bill to authorize the sharing, AB 644, is pending action in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The bill adds conspiracy to escape from prison to those offenses for which the state must reimburse trial costs.

The two defendants are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in the August, 1970, shootout at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others died.

Tape Deck, Tapes Taken From Auto

A tape deck and tapes, valued at a total of $243, were taken from the car of a Chicago man while it was parked near 842 Greenberry Lane, Marinwood, last Friday, Marin County Sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Deputies said the car was owned by Jay M. Smyser.

BUTTER BALL—AU JUS

So delightfully rich when broiled or barbecued to a crusty brown on the outside and pink inside. Use a 3 to 3½-lb. butter ball. Have butter ball at room temperature before starting. Cook at high heat 3 to 4 inches from heat source. Brown well on first side before turning. Total cooking time approximately 35 to 40 minutes for medium. Serve on a pre-heated platter, carve in diagonal slices ¼ inch thick. Let natural juice run down to one end of pre-heated platter. Into juices, add ½ cube melted butter, 2 tsp. Worcestershire, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 tsp. accent, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and pour over sliced butter ball before serving.

Serves four to six people.

County Needs Policy On Appointments

In the "Remember When" column on this page is a little item that perhaps deserves further notice. It chronicles the appointment 10 years ago of Billy D. Dobbs to succeed Mary Summers as Marin County planning director.

Mary Robinson Gilkey Summers had been the county's planning director for 20 years. She submitted her resignation together with recommendation that Dobbs, No. 2 on a four-planner staff in the department, be appointed to replace her. The planning commission concurred the day the resignation was received. The board of supervisors appointed Dobbs the next day, although Mrs. Summers's resignation was not even to take effect for six months.

TWO PLANNING commissioners, Worth Fenner and Felix M. Warburg, objected to the quickie appointment.

Dobbs served until July, 1965, when he resigned under some pressure. This time, the supervisors recruited nationwide for the job that had been filled so hastily four years earlier. Six months were spent in sifting candidates. Then, passing over local and California applicants, the board hired Paul C. Zucker from the East.

Zucker, who found little to applaud in the way things are done in Marin, served four and one-half tumultuous years and was fired.

Then the supervisors made another in-house appointment, choosing Werner von Gundell, one of seven planners under Zucker, to succeed his boss. This was not done with quite so much haste as the Dobbs appointment. Five weeks elapsed between Zucker's firing and von Gundell's appointment.

THE REASON for reciting this is that history recently repeated itself.

The appointment of John F. Barrows one of two assistants in the county administrator's office, to succeed his boss differed from that 10 years ago of Dobbs as planning director only in that the supervisors this time started a recruitment program, then abruptly called it off.

This is, of course, "water under the bridge." But because succeeding boards of supervisors seem unable to make up their minds on how to go about appointments to administrative positions, we suggest they adopt a policy and embody it in a county ordinance.

WE SUGGEST that this ordinance call for recruitment and careful screening whenever an administrative position at or above department head level is to be filled.

We suggest that it provide for preference for those already in county employ — if their qualifications place them among the finalists in the selection process; and that it give second preference to other Marin residents, with the same proviso.

And we suggest that it specify a minimum period for such recruiting and screening before a permanent appointment can be made.

Such an ordinance should save future supervisors a lot of headaches, and be beneficial to the county.

A Son In Kindergarten Starts Thoughts On Busing

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — Our Adam went last week.

We watched him walk down the lane and stand there by the mailbox in the morning sun. Striped jeans, Winnie-the-Pooh shirt, tousled hair. A piece of the future wrapped up in a 5-year-old.

We watched him climb aboard that big yellow bus. Watched it rumble down the road to his first day in kindergarten.

Adam is our youngest, and our last. After him there were no more. It is no easier to watch the last one skip out of your life than it was the first. They come back. But from here on the skips grow longer.

ONE THING, THOUGH. For the first time in almost 25 years years the morning hours in this house are quiet. Utterly quiet. And, there is time for reflection.

Time to wonder when it was that the state grabbed so much power over the lives of our offspring. When was it someone decided that if education is a good thing (and it is) then every individual must go to school . . . or else?

Did our forefathers really think this thing through? Did they truly know what they were doing when they gave the state the power to compel our youngsters to go to school? To bend our twigs, shape our arrows?

I want my kids to learn. Want them to develop their minds and their faculties. And school seems to be the best place for learning, of a sort. But, it's the compulsion I object to — the overpowering, faceless, careless compulsion that manhandles the free spirit and manipulates the days. By the numbers. Out of the house into the computer. Hup-two-three-four!

ALL OF THIS might seem rather rhetorical. The meaningless musings of a libertarian on the down-hill side of 49. Except that right now we are seeing the fruits of compulsion in a way our forefathers probably never imagined.

Busing. Forced, compulsory, dammit-you-do-it-or-else busing of school kids. Shunting kids around like checkers on a board.

It's not the bus that bothers me. Hell, as a farm schoolboy I was brought up on the bumps and grinds and gas fumes of oversized Fords and Chevvys. It's not the bus. It's the compulsion. The coercion. That really bugs me.

Busing doesn't bug Wilson Riles, superintendent of public instruction and high mucky-muck of education in our state. He pooh-poohs the passions surrounding forced busing. Trots out fatuous statistics to fuzz things up.

LISTEN, FRIEND WILSON. Those 800,000 kids are like our Adam — bused because that's the best way to get them to the nearest schoolhouse. Not to cart them around town, past neighborhood learneries, to some distant sociological laboratory.

Where do we get off telling the Chinese-Americans in San Francisco, or the Mexican-Americans in Los Angeles, or the Negro-Americans of Oakland, or even the WASPS of Woodside that their kids will get part of their schooling on a wayward bus — or else?

It has nothing to do with racism. Let me tell you, buster. I express the sentiments of thousands and thousands of parents who come in all sizes and shapes and colors and ethnic backgrounds.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL busing may be the law of the land (a law to be challenged) but it is a violation of a natural law. The law that holds that parents, not the state, know what's best for their kids.

We Occidentals always did have a lot to learn from the wisdom of the East. The sagacity of Mohandas Gandhi's passive resistance, for example. Gandhi, in his quiet way, refused to fuel the machinery of the oppressive state. He refused to use himself as a vehicle for those dogmas which violated his conscience.

Perhaps the time has come to be willing to damn the politicians and to face the jailer — if that is what it takes to reaffirm man's right to free choice and freedom of conscience.

State Seizes Authority From The Parents

Thanks for your editorial of Aug. 31 regarding new laws requiring health officers to offer family planning and birth control services to all over 15 who ask, a law which promotes the state to act as an authority to those under legal age in place of the parents who are responsible legally for their minor children. If the wisdom of the state is to replace parental control in this instance, how soon will the state, like Russia, rule that all mothers work and place children from a few weeks old in state-controlled nurseries? Then how soon will the elite-c-control rule that the bulk of the people be treated like cattle (read "Time Machine")? All of this, of course, is "for their own good." It seems "1984" is nearer than we think, in ct, it's here and Big Brother's name is State Control while Big Daddy is Federal Control.

Kindly print how our senator and representative voted on this new state welfare legislation which requires counties to provide this (dis) service.

Meadowsweet Plans Found Acceptable

After attending the meeting last week on the proposed Meadowsweet Station development, I wish to make my feeling known on the subject.

We live on Sonora Way, directly above the meadow of the land in question. My husband and I were of course saddened when we first heard of this development, because no project, no matter how nice, could compare with our now natural setting. However, after seeing the plans I feel that his development is well thought out and has potential for enhancing Corte Madera. I share the opinion that we should make every effort to work with Mr. (Warner) Odenthal, not against him.

Concerning the closing off of the end of El Camino should the plan develop. I feel that it would be foolish to do so. Not only for the convenience of the school children, should they attend (and I assume they will) the Granada School, but I hope that we all will befriend the occupants of the development and should I have occasion to go into Meadowsweet Station by car, I certainly wouldn't want to have to go all the way down to Paradise Drive and then double back down the new road just to get to the bottom of this hill.

Horses, Bicycles Can Easily Co-exist

I read with interest a report of the Belvedere City Council meeting of Sept. 7 and their concern that an equestrian trail parallel to a bicycle-pedestrian path shared by the cities of Tiburon and Belvedere might create both a tremendous safety hazard and an ecological disaster.

The complete lack of provision for bridle paths in the incorporated areas of the County of Marin is a complete disgrace and a sure indicator of the fact that very few of our elected representatives, if any, are aware of the fact that bicycles, pedestrians and equestrians can and do co-exist quite peacefully. However, we repeatedly hear the cry of the "nervous Nellies" on the various city councils who fail to recognize the fact that the horse is a thoroughly domesticated animal. The tragic consequence of their ignorance is clearly manifest to the many horsemen residing in Marin County who are concerned at the total lack of provision for bridle paths in and around the cities. The people who really suffer most are the children, many of whom own horses but are not yet old enough to drive an automobile in order to pull a horse trailer to convey their animal to the state parks and water district lands where facilities exist. For these young people, it is high time that our various city councilmen woke up to the fact that responsibility is to make provision for ALL recreational interests, and not just those of the bicyclers and pedestrians.

As to the "ecological disaster" of horses' droppings being washed into the Belvedere Lagoon, I would like to point out that horse manure is an extremely rich source of nitrogen, and when plowed into the soil will produce the most amazing results in any flower or vegetable garden. Try it, Belvedere, and give the horsemen a break and withdraw your resolution condemning the use of the equestrian trail.

Gnoss Field Hazards Ignored By County

Having read the report of the airport commission meeting, we would like to make the following comments:

Having been a member of the Aviation Improvement Committee of Marin County for the last year and a half, we feel that the citizens of the county of Marin should be appraised of the true facts as to the conditions of Gnoss Field, otherwise known as Marin County Airport. For a year and a half, the pilots who based their airplanes and pay taxes at Gnoss Field have tried to impress upon the aviatioc commission and the board of supervisors as to the hazardous conditions that exist at Gnoss Field. We feel that if reports were made known to the public of the numerous accidents (there have been 187 accidents to date, including a Piper Commanche that was completely demolished on Sept. 6, fortunately the pilot and his family escaped alive) and person injuries that have occurred, that it would show the complete lack of concern and co-operation on the part of the board of supervisors to establish a first rate, safe, airport for County of Marin.

As has been previously published by the I-J, Gnoss Field is the only self-supporting project in the county, which I am sure that the pilots who own and base their aircraft at the field, are not getting value received. Gnoss Field is the highest accident-rated airport in the nation. In other words, as to the drop in the number of airplanes based at Gnoss Field, it is our opinion that it is a combination of high taxes, lack of responsiveness on the part of the board of supervisors and the aviation commission of Marin, as well as the hazardous conditions that exist because of a lack of a cross-wind runway, lack of adequate security as well as closed hanger facilities. We hope that it will not be necessary to have people killed because of the lack of concern of the County of Marin. . . .

Kennedy Center Fills Need In America's Cultural Desert

WASHINGTON — This capital has just been through a kulturkampf that left behind bruised egos and rancorous feelings, and yet with all the uproar there was a sense of moving into a new age. The occasion was the formal opening of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts with three dedicatory performances.

Both with the huge marble center and with the premier presentation, Leonard Bernstein's Mass, it was not hard to find fault, and the professionals in this department were quick to rush into the breach. The miracle seemed, however, that with all the pulling and hauling from so many different directions, the center had actually come into being.

AS FIRST SIGNED into law by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958, the National Cultural Center was to be built with voluntary contributions. This didn't work. Following the assassination of John F. Kennedy, his successor, Lyndon Johnson, rushed through bi-partisan legislation calling for dedication of the center as a memorial to the murdered President and providing $15.5 million in federal money to be matched by private giving.

Two years ago President Nixon got through legislation providing an additional $7.5 million. The site on the Potomac River had been an initial contribution by Congress.

From the beginning the going has been tough. In a survival of the Puritan ethic, many members of Congress have felt it was immoral to spend the taxpayers' money on the arts. If people wanted to hear opera and orchestral concerts, let them pay for it.

This makes evident the serious problem ahead for the huge $76 million center. If it is to fulfill its function and make music and theater available, not just to a few rich opera lovers, but to a broader public, there must be a generous annual subsidy which can come only from Congress. While without such a subsidy the concert halls may be filled, the vision of a center that would encourage the experimental, the new, and the untried will not come to life.

EVERY OTHER Western nation has a long established tradition of public support for the arts. Without government subsidies such costly entertainment as opera could scarcely survive with any hope of a high standard of excellence and particularly in light of worldwide inflation. The contrast with the United States, rated the richest nation, is striking.

Austria has a state budget for music and theater equivalent to $3 per capita. In addition, provincial governments contribute to the arts. Granted that this is in part a practical matter, the superb Vienna State Opera and the Salzburg music festivals being conspicuous tourism attractions, nevertheless it is a national tradition that makes available to all income levels the best in theater and music.

Finland, with a population of 4,700,000, has a national opera and several subsidized theatrical companies with a remarkable standard of excellence. State and local community aid to the performing arts is about $1 per capita.

AFTER THE CLOUD of controversy subsides the important fact remains — the center is in being with facilities for opera and ballet long needed in this cultural desert. This is bound to mean a cross-fertilization of the arts on both the national and international level.

Among the guests coming from abroad for the opening of the center was Austria's Minister of Education and Arts, Leopold Graz. With him was the new director of the Vienna State Opera, Rudolph Sarusjeger. One objective was to negotiate an appearance of the Vienna Opera for the season of 1973. This has hitherto been considered all but impossible because of the union demands to pay an orchestra and singers who do not perform.

By including a variety of expenditures, many of them hardly relevant, the federal government in 1970 spent on the arts at the rate of 19 cents per capita. This was up from 1969 when the rate was 10 cents. The total spending figure of $39,505,000 includes $9,150,000 for the National Endowment for the Arts and $15 million for the public broadcasting corporation.

That is a miniscule sum for an affluent people approaching the 200th year of nationhood. The Kennedy Center provides an excellent opportunity to make up for long indifference and neglect.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Primary Campaigns Certain To Move Onto Campuses

By BENJAMIN SHORE

WASHINGTON — One of the most popular activities on many California college campuses this fall will be the effort to register an estimated 1,200,000 persons between 18 and 20 years old who will be eligible to vote in next June's presidential primary elections.

Thanks to the brand new 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, and to the Aug. 27 decision of the state Supreme Court, the majority of students qualified by age and citizenship may register to vote in federal, state and local elections in their college communities.

It is not known what impact these new voters will have on local politics. City councils and school boards have been warned by doomsayers to expect a takeover by enfranchised radicals, but students active in the 18-year-old vote movement discount the scare stories as not reflective of student political interest.

WHAT STUDENTS want primarily is the opportunity to register and vote in the communities where they live nine months out of 12, not because they necessarily want to take over the city council, but because it is a right afforded persons over 21.

As the California Supreme Court noted in knocking down Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger's advisory opinion that students must register in their parents' home town, "Only the most dedicated partisan would travel from Oakland to San Diego (or Tuscon) in order to exercise effectively his First Amendment rights of political association and expression."

Nevertheless, California's two Democratic senators, Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney, report that many over-21 citizens in college towns are angered and frightened by the senators' legislative efforts to make registering and voting even easier for the newly enfranchised under-21 citizens.

WHEN CRANSTON introduced legislation in July to permit young persons away from home to register and vote in their college towns, he said, "I believe it is wise and fair that we make it easier for these young people to participate in the democratic process."

Tunney is concerned about not only the college student but also the single person aged 18, 19 or 20 who is working and supporting himself but is living away from his parents' home. Many registrars across the country have turned away this category of away-from-home voters unless they were married. The argument was that persons under 21 are minors, and minors must use their parents' adress as their legal — and voting — address.

However, the 26th Amendment intends that persons aged 18, 19 and 20 shall be treated as adults for the purposes of voting. Challenges to contrary registrars' rulings are underway in federal courts in New York, Kentucky and Connecticut, and it is hoped one of these cases will be settled in time to affect all states for next year's elections.

Tunney wants to get congressional action this year on his bill to lower the minimum residency requirement in all states to 30 days for congressional and presidential elections. His bill also would allow registration by mail, which would help the out-of-state student, worker or soldier who cannot get home to register.

WHILE MANY over 21 fear that students may take over their city halls, some Republicans worry about losing the White House.

Since California's new voters are registering Democratic at a 3-to-1 margin over Republicans (and the trend is similarly lopsided elsewhere in the country), the impact of these young voters on Nixon's re-election could be significant. Nixon carried California by 123,000 votes in 1968.

Petaluma Becomes Paradise For Sidewalk Superintendents

Petaluma has become a veritable paradise for "sidewalk superintendents" lately with a flurry of demolition activity and road work in progress.

The major projects catching the interest of avid watchers are the widening of East Washington Street and work along Hopper and Wilson Streets. In the wake of the widening project many homes and businesses have fallen. Most of the structures will not be missed. In fact, many residents were pleased to see the dilapidated buildings go.

FOR OTHERS, especially the historic Cavanagh Lumber Co. on East Washington Street, there was considerable mourning. Architecturally, the building was not particularly remarkable. But there was something about the stone work that made the structure one of Petaluma's favorite landmarks.

Old timers stood beside Jack Cavanagh Sr. as the building was leveled. He had virtually spent his entire working life in the building, but professed no sadness at its demise.

Several persons discussed relocating the building or at least saving its stone work to house a Petaluma museum. Unfortunately, that idea never got beyond the talking stage and the stones, bricks and wood were unceremoniously hauled away.

The destruction of the Tivoli Hotel also drew a large body of onlookers. Most were elderly Italian men who reminisced about evening hours spent in the restaurant-bar and lazy Sunday afternoons on the bocce ball courts beneath the grape arbor in the rear.

FOR THOSE who prefer to watch the erection rather than destruction of buildings, the place to be is at the Petaluma City Hall, where work is moving swiftly on the new wing for county and city offices.

While that work is of a more positive nature, it has also had its fatalities. Some trees were intentionally removed for parking lots, but a row of healthy and tall sycamore trees which had been marked to save also fell victim. Construction work had damaged their roots so badly that they had to be removed.

Sometimes when residents are caught in construction-caused traffic jams and they see trees and interesting landmarks destroyed, it's hard to keep from making snide remarks about the "virtues" of progress.

Assembly Passes Collier Bill On Plans For Rivers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly today overwhelmingly voted final passage for a bill requiring the state to prepare detailed masterplans for preservation and development of 19 rivers on the North Coast.

The bill, by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, went to the governor for his signature on a 58-0 vote.

Environmentalists beat back attempts on the Assembly floor last Thursday to amend the bill to permit engineers to prepare plans for damming the rivers while the masterplan studies were being conducted.

The floor sponsor, Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, said it was decided to drop the amendment and "avoid confusion."

Environmentalists supported the bill without the amendment.

The bill appropriates $50,000 for the state Resources Agency to prepare detailed waterway management plans for flood control, water conservation, recreation and wildlife preservation on these streams:

The Klamath, Trinity, Salmon, Shasta, Scott, Smith, Bear, Mattole, Van Duzen, Eel, Big, Garcia, Navarro, Noyo, Ten-Mile, Russian and Gualala rivers and Redwood and Alder creeks.

The bill is regarded as an alternative to another measure strongly backed by conservationists and carried by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael. It would immediately declare the Eel, Trinity and Klamath as official wild rivers and prohibit water projects from being built on them.

The Behr bill, staunchly opposed by Collier who represents the district, has been rejected by the Senate but is awaiting reconsideration on the upper house floor.

"This (Collier) bill is better than nothing, but it's sure a hell of a long ways less than the Behr bill," said Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, one of the legislature's leading conservationist spokesmen.

Saigon Dispatches Provide Buchwald Dream Of Glory

WASHINGTON — Recent stories out of Saigon indicate that the United States offered huge sums of money — through Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker —to Vice President Ky and Gen. "Big" Minh if they would run against President Thieu in the October elections. The United States, which has a big stake in "free" elections, was worried that if no one ran against Thieu some people might suspect the elections were rigged.

I am constantly searching for new dreams of glory and thanks to the press dispatches from Saigon, here is my latest one:

IT IS MIDNIGHT in the summer of 1972 and suddenly there is a knock on the door of my house in Washington. Putting on a bathrobe I stumble to the door. "Who is it?" I ask.

I unlatch the door.

' 'Ambassador, what the devil are you doing here at this hour?"

"I didn't want anyone to see me. I have to talk to you on some urgent business."

BUNKER COMES IN with a satchel in his hand, the size of a medicine bag.

"I don't have much time," he says, "so I'll get to the point. As you know, the Democrats could not agree on a candidate to run for president at their convention in Miami last month."

"I am well aware of it," Isay. "It ended in a dead heat and everyone went home mad. They decided not to run anyone. It was all in my column."

"Yes, well, nevertheless, President Nixon is very upset about not having any opposition during an election year."

"I also wrote that. I said if he had no one to run against but himself, it could turn into one of the dirtiest campaigns in political history."

"Well, be that as it may, the president is very concerned that if he has no opponent this fall, many people around the world will think the election was rigged."

"That's certainly the impression the Democrats would like to give," I say.

"THEREFORE," says Bunker, "I have been asked by Mr. Nixon himself to urge you to run against him for the presidency of the Uited States."

"But why me?" I protest.

"Because, sir, the president feels you would be the ideal opponent. You have the qualities of Jefferson, Lincoln and Eisenhower. You put principle before power, the country's good before personal gain. It's all in your FBI folder."

"Heck," I say blushing. "Is nothing sacred?"

Bunker picks up the medicine bag and opens it. "The president has authorized me to give you $25 million in nontaxable unaccountable funds if you will run against him in the fall."

I STARE AT the money and whistle. "That's a lot of money, just for running for president."

"We will direct your campaign for you, provide you with speechwriters, buy television time for you, put up billboards, and lend you Lawrence Welk to warm up the crowds."

"All right," I say, putting the money back in the bag. "But the day after the election I want to go back to being just plain John Q. Citizen."

"Have no fear," says Bunker, putting on his homburg and walking toward the door.

As he gets into his limousine a thought suddenly occurs to me and I yell, "Hey, suppose I win?"

But Bunker drives off. Apparently he doesn't hear me.

Council To Eye Joint Director

The San Anselmo City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today at city hall, will consider a recommendation that it authorize hiring of a joint director for parks and recreation.

The joint directorship was split last year at the request of former director Frank L. Quinn, who complained the job was too great a work load for one man to handle.

City officials and the park and recreation commission now feel the positions should be reconsolidated prior to recruiting a new man.

Students' Air Tickets Held Bogus

LONDON (UPI)—U.S. Embassy officials said Monday American charter companies and related groups sold more than $1 million worth of invalid roundtrip tickets to students traveling abroad.

"From the hundreds of students we have interviewed and the numbers reported to us by national airlines and our embassies abroad we have estimated that the companies and clubs selling these worthless tickets must have made well over one million bucks out of it," the spokesman said.

"This is dishonesty on a huge scale and we are only just beginning to feel the extent of it," he said.

"We expect at least another 300 stranded students in our offices by the end of this week —and I don't think they will stop coming until the end of October.

New York State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz and the State Department is investigating nine charter companies named by the Embassy.

The organizations identified by the embassy were: The American Union of Students, The University Students Association, Charter Flights International, The North American Students Association, Transatlantic Flight Services, Associated Culture Clubs Inc., The Anglo-American Association, The International University Association Ltd., and Donaldson's International Airways.

Emperor Going To Europe On Just $35,000 A Day

By FREDERICK H. MARKS.

TOKYO (UPI)—When Emperor Hirohito returns from his 17-day trip to Europe next month, he'll be able to write a travel book entitled "Europe on $35,000 a Day."

But then Hirohito, who departs Japan for Europe Sept. 26, isn't about to travel halfway around the world on an economy class ticket. He is, after all, the symbol of Japan which is the third richest nation in the world.

Accordingly, the Japanese cabinet recently appropriated $595,000 to pay for the emperor and empress' trip, the first journey on foreign soil ever made by a Japanese emperor.

Needless to say, the government is pulling out all the stops to insure that the arrangements for the emperor's trip are up to imperial standards.

For instance, although a complete breakdown of the trip's budget has not yet been released, the government has alloted $71,000 to the emperor so he can invite his hosts out to dinner. Presumably, it would be in bad taste if the emperor does not reciprocate the various formal dinners he attends along the way.

A regal form of keeping up with the Joneses, so to speak.

Another allotment in the overall budget totals $90,000 to be used by the emperor to make donations to charitable organizations and to bestow gifts to worthy recipients.

The 70-year-old emperor and his wife, Empress Nagako, will fly to Europe, via Alaska, on a Japan Air Lines DC-8 jet liner, fitted oat especially for the occasion with a suite.

Even though Japan Air Lines is half-owned by the government, there apparently won't be any discount in the fee for chartering the airliner. Out of the total budget, $184,000 is allotted for the charter of the aircraft.

The imperial couple will be accompanied by 14 personal servants and 20 government officials, including Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda. The servants include an aide de camp for the emperor and a lady in waiting for the empress. The empress will also have a hair dresser and a maid accompanying her.

Their majesties' party will include two accountants who apparently are being sent along to make sure that the hotel bills are paid promptly without any snafus.

The budget for hotels and meals is $77,000, and plans now are for the emperor to occupy only the best suites throughout the continent.

The budget figure announced Friday, large though it may be, is only a fraction of the overall cost of the trip, sources here say. They point out that Japanese embassies in the countries where the emperor will visit are being completely refurbished, and there are numerous other indirect costs.

"The figure approved by the cabinet is the public cost of the trip," one source said. "The total cost is apt to be much larger."

In another anti-American incident a group of 15 to 20 laborers demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy this morning demanding greater compensation payment for civilians killed or injured in accidents involving Americans. Police dispersed the crowd. On Sunday demonstrators smeared paint on the Embassy.

The Saigon outbreaks stemmed in part from past American support of President Nguyen Van Thieu and his decision to run unopposed in the Oct. 3 presidential elections. Disabled war veterans have demonstrated against Thieu, the United States and the war itself.

The Hue violence came after an American soldier shot and killed a youth who had stolen a watch from another GI. A mob of Vietnamese youths hurled firebombs into American vehicles before they were dispersed by police. The city was declared off limits and U.S. vehicles forbidden to enter it.

Little fighting was reported on the war fronts but in Laos government troops entered the town of Pakson today in a major victory over North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops who overran the Bolovens Plateau last May. The plateau controls large parts of the Ho Chi Minh Trail infiltration routes to South Vietnam.

With American troops steadily withdrawing from the northern areas of South Vietnam military sources said today the South Vietnamese army is establishing its first new division since 1965 to replace the departing Americans just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

Townhouse Zoning Will Be Sought

The commission will meet at 7:30 o'clock in city hall.

The commission has approved preliminary plans for the townhouses to be built on 27 hillside acres above Butternut Drive. The area now is unzoned and would have to be changed to a planned unit development residential zoning.

Planning director Herbert G. Hotchner said the developer, Gonzalez and Oberkamper, will move the road 20 feet over from the back property line of the Butternut Drive residents, a requirement made by the city at an earlier meeting.

The commission will also hear a continuation of preliminary plans for a 292-unit development on a 54-acre site off San Pablo Avenue near North San Pedro Road. At the commission's last meeting, residents in the area protested the density of the development the planning staff said it favored.

The commission will consider a zoning change to permit the city's first mobile home park. The park proposed for 400 mobile homes is located off Smith Ranch Road by the railroad tracks.

Pay Curb Petitions Are Filed

Approximately 3,000 signatures were filed yesterday with the county elections office on petitions for a state constitutional amendment prohibiting elected officials from raising their own salaries.

Yesterday was the deadline to file the initial petitions, but the campaign has another 40 days to circulate supplemental petitions. The final deadline to file them with the county will depend on when the county files the initial petitions with the state, but in any event will be no later than Nov. 15.

Backers of the amendment, calling themselves the Initiative Petition Group, have to gather 520,286 signatures statewide to qualify it for next June's primary election ballot. This would put Marin's share of the needed signatures at about 5,200.

Theresa Schaefer of 25 Lathan Street, San Rafael, is chairman of the group's Marin campaign.

Two Sheriff Aides Fired In Sonoma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County Sheriff Donald Striepeke has fired two subordinates — one of them Sgt. Winfield Thibodeau, his opponent in the election last June — for bad conduct.

After meeting in closed session with the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday, Striepeke announced the dismissals of Thibodeau and Deputy John McCall. Both had been stationed at the Guerneville substation, but Striepeke said the firings were not connected to the current grand jury investigation of a prostitution ring in the Russian River area.

Striepeke charged the men with conduct unbecoming an officer, disorderly or immoral conduct, neglect of duty and failure to meet reasonable work performance standards and requirements.

Striepeke defeated Thibodeau in a close election last June. The firings came on the heels of the Sept. 10 dismissals of Sgt. Leslie Manley and Deputy George Barr from their posts at the county honor farm. They were charged with the same conduct violations.

The officers have five days in which to appeal the dismissal and seek a hearing on the charges.

Striepeke said that although the grand jury prostitution investigation was not directly responsible for the firing, the Russian River investigation has uncovered evidence that both Thibodeau and McCall have "accepted favors from and consorted with persons engaged in criminal activities, and induced and encouraged fellow officers to engage in like conduct. . ."

(Novato's temperature was the highest recorded since the fire department there started keeping records 14 years ago.)

The weather was termed the "most extreme we could have for starting fires," by firemen.

As for smog, the highest level of oxidant reading recorded in San Rafael yesterday was .18 of a part per million, well over the figure (.10) that triggers alerts at monitoring stations but also below the .31 registered in Oakland.

The North Bay's combined pollutant reading was 98, setting a record. (Readings of 75 to 100 are considered moderate pollution and over 100, severe.)

The reading in the Central Bay was 147, also setting a record, and 102 in the South Bay, well below the October 1968 record there of 118. All three readings were records for this year.

The hot and dry weather compounded by a prevailing north wind caused the suspension of all burning permits on forest and watershed lands in Marin and Sonoma counties, according to State Forest Ranger Gordon Lowell.

ATTICA

hostages, one of whom died Saturday after he was thrown out of a window, and 30 prisoners.

State officials believe the riot was planned weeks in advance by black militants and Puerto Ricans. About 55 per cent of the prison's 2,200 inmates is black. There are no black guards among the prison's 380-man security forces, and only one Puerto Rican.

When police began firing, bullets ripped into some prisoners even as the knives they wielded flashed up toward their captives' throats.

"The knife was pressed against my neck," said Capt. Frank Wald. "And he said "when the first shot is fired I'm going to cut your throat.' But I was lucky. Someone picked off the man apparently just as he was about to do it."

"The tragedy was brought on by the highly organized, revolutionary tactics of militants who rejected all efforts at a peaceful settlement," said Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The attack started when a sharpshooter looking through the telescopic sight of his high-powered .270 magnum rifle saw a convict slash the throat of a hostage, officials said. A National Guard helicopter hovered over one corner of the courtyard to divert the prisoners while two other choppers dumped tear gas into the midst of the convicts.

Then the attack force surged in. Each hostage had been assigned an "executioner" to kill him when the attack came, said the hostages who escaped.

The convicts had issued 30 demands during the siege. State Corrections Commissioner Russel G. Oswald had acceded to all but two of them: Amnesty for acts committed during the rioting and passage to a "non-imperialist country."

No Reaction By Quentin Inmates

San Quentin convicts, although aware of the violence in New York, did not react outwardly to the news, officials said.

"They are reacting more to the tight controls we still have here and the hot weather," Information Officer Joseph R. O'Brien said today.

Many men have been confined to cells since the Aug. 21 bloodbath at San Quentin and normal routines have not been resumed yet.

Chairman Of Ad-Hoc Parade Panel Named

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday named Sheriff Donald Striepeke as chairman of an ad-hoc committee to draft an ordinance regulating parades and demonstrations.

Striepeke said the ordinance would not be designed to discourage demonstrations, but would assure that all gatherings are orderly and lawful.

He said recent demonstrations against the Sonoma County wine industry posed no problems, but that the ordinance should be drawn to clearly establish the responsibilities of groups involved.

Board chairman Ignazio A. Vella asked Striepeke to include representatives of various governmental offices on his committee as well as representatives of groups that might have to abide by the ordinance later.

Pileup Hurts Two Marinites

Two Marin residents were injured yesterday in a three-car pileup on Highway 680 near Walnut Creek, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the accident occurred yesterday morning when a car driven by Lindquist plowed into two others which had stopped because the traffic had slowed. No one else was injured, according to the patrol.

Whitcomb Asks Study Of Merger

A Sausalito School District trustee has expressed doubt that Sausalito can continue to exist as a separate district in the face of sharply declining enrollment and has asked the school board to study the possibility of a merger with another district.

Trustee Jerry L. Whitcomb, who made the suggestion at last night's school board meeting, told the Independent-Journal today he did not see how the district could "continue to provide our children with an education equal to that offered by other districts."

On the first day of school yesterday, Whitcomb noted that 451 students were enrolled in Sausalito schools, 67 less than the 518 the administration had anticipated for this year. Enrollment has dropped about 25 per cent from September of last year, he said, when 598 students attended classes on opening day.

As enrollment decreases, so do the funds the district has available for educational purposes, the trustee added. Whitcomb asked Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg to study the feasibility of a merger with another district and to report back at the board's Sept. 27 meeting.

SCHOOLS

sentee rate for the first day of school is 10 per cent.

"But we are optimistic that enrollment will increase through the week," he said.

Bob Jacobs, cochairman of an antibusing group called We All Love Kids (WALK) said the boycott would "get bigger" during the week.

Jacobs claimed that "65 per cent of the kids stayed out of school" Monday and the boycott "exceeded our expectations."

California's black superintendent of public instruction, Wilson Riles, toured several schools on the first day and said San Francisco had "set an example" for the rest of the nation.

"The beauty of what I saw today is that there was no hostility," Riles said. "The children were together and they worked together."

The citywide school integration was ordered by U.S. District Judge Stanley Weigel earlier in the year after a suit was filed by the regional NAACP office.

Mayor Joseph Alioto, an opponent of busing who has said the court ruling will be overturned on appeal, said he was confident that "dissent in this community will be kept within the framework of the law."

Dixie Trustees To Eye Camp

Dixie School District trustees will review an outdoor education proposal at its regular meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the administration office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

The proposal, by Supt. Clifford B. Campbell, concerns participation in a one-week camp by the district's 500 sixth graders, during which they would be instructed in biology, botany and other nature sciences in the outdoor setting.

The trustees will also consider formalizing a policy on handling students involved in demonstrations and protests.

Hearing Is Set On Burglary Charges

I-J Special Report

A preliminary hearing on burglary charges has been set for Edwin Tucker, 31, of Novato.

Tucker is to appear Oct. 15 in San Mateo County Municipal Court, Northern Judicial District, South San Francisco, court officials said. He was arrested last August after he allegedly tripped a burglar alarm at a Holiday Inn near San Francisco Airport.

Boy, 4, Struck, By Novato Car

A 4-year-old Novato boy suffered a fractured skull yesterday when he was struck by a car on Midway Drive after he reportedly ran into the street.

Injured was James Scott Woodall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Woodall of 525 Midway Boulevard. He was reported in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Novato police said the boy apparently ran into the path of a car driven by Junanita Easton Trask, 73, of 1205 Ridgeview Heights at 3:15 p.m.

He was being cared for by an aunt and attempts were being made to notify his parents vacationing in the Mount Shasta area, police said.

OBITUARIES

Cornelia S. Wyatt Dies At 65

Cornelia S. Wyatt, a public school teacher for 24 years, died yesterday in Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Wyatt, 65, was the first kindergarten teacher in Fairfax and remained in the city until her retirement in 1968. Her last assignment was Manor School.

She was born in Texas. She taught in the public schools of Phoenix, Ariz. until her marriage to Lamar Wyatt.

She was a member of the National Retired Teachers Association.

Mrs. Wyatt is survived by her husband, living in Santa Rosa and two brothers, Don and Robert Seeds of Arizona.

Funeral and private cremation were held today in Santa Rosa.

FRED WEBBER

Funeral for Fred John Webber, 63, of Novato, a retired carpenter, will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Redwoods Chapel Funeral Home.

Webber, discovered dead in the street near his home at 731 Orange Avenue at 8:20 a.m. Saturday, apparently died of natural causes, according to Deputy Coroner Donald Cornish.

Webber retired as a carpenter because he had been in poor health for several years. He had been a resident of the Novato area for 40 years.

Surviving are two sons, Donald Conklin of Petaluma, and Fred J. Webber Jr., with the Air Force in Wisconsin, and a daughter, Nancy Ochenden of Petaluma.

Inurnment will be private.

ROBERT RENNIE

Private service and cremation were held yesterday in San Anselmo for Robert Rosburgh Rennie who died Saturday in Larkspur.

Rennie was born in Kinross, Scotland, 85 years ago and came to America when he was 7, settling in New York City. He and his wife moved to California in 1937 and to Marin County six years ago.

Rennie in his early career on the East coast was in banking. After he moved to California, he became west coast regional manager for Home Owners Loan Corporation, a loan executive with the Bank of America in San Francisco and financial advisor of Flotill Products, Stockton.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Society, San Francisco, and had been director of the Stockton Golf and Country Club.

Rennie is survived by his wife, Maude D. Rennie, living at the family home at 965 Magnolia Avenue; a daughter, Maude Rennie Lindner of Kentfield, and a son, William Roxburgh Rennie of Milwaukee; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The family has requested that memorial contributions be made to a favorite charity.

JOHN ZAMBERLIN

A Mass of the Resurrection for 16-year-old John Anthony Zamberlin Jr. of Santa Venetia, who died Sunday after a motorcycle accident in Lake County, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia.

According to the California Highway Patrol, the youth was riding a motorcycle in a dry creek bed near Upper Lake and was jumping small rises when he hit one which caused him to be thrown to the ground, officers said. They added he was not wearing a helmet.

Young Zamberlin was taken to Lakeside Hospital near Lakeport where he died a short time later, officers said.

The youth, a native of San Francisco, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Zamberlin, at 79 Vendola Drive.

He would have been a junior at Terra Linda High School this semester. He had attended Blessed Sacrament School before entering the high school.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three sisters, Rosanne, Mary Jo and Carol; a brother, Daniel, all of Santa Venetia; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurley and Mr. and Mrs. George Zamberlin, all of Seattle, Wash.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Blessed Sacrament Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Intimate Look At Makeup Queen

By GAY PAULEY
Intermediate Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Any woman who nears a cosmetics counter knows the name of Helena Rubinstein.

But few persons ever were close to the Polish-born woman who parlayed 12 jars of family face cream into an international cosmetics empire and became one of the world's richest women.

Undoubtedly Patrick O'Higgins was the one who knew "Madame" best, even more closely than most members of her family. For O'Higgins spent 14 years as personal secretary assistant and traveling companion of this dynamic businesswoman who, as one observer noted, "changed the face of every woman in America. Not to forget: the faces of women around the world.

NOW, O'HIGGINS has chronicled the vicissitudes of those 14 years in a revealing, often irreverent biography, "Madame" (Viking Press) just published.

In an interview, O'Higgins talked of why he became entwined in the Rubinstein demanding way of life, why he didn't flee the whirlwind and use his talents in languages, writing and organization for greater returns elsewhere. He recalled that when he would ask Madame Rubinstein for a raise, she would answer—"What do you need a raise for? You have rich friends."

Madame Rubinstein died April 1, 1965. Her age was given as 94 although "some claim she was 99," said O'Higgins. She left a fortune estimated at more than 100 million dollars in real estate, cosmetics, stocks and bonds, jewelry, art and antiques. O'Higgins said her will provided him with $5,000 cash outright and $2,000 a year for life.

He sees his biography as "a tribute—I like to think it is." Yet also in the interview he calls it an "exorcising the spirit."

WHAT KEPT him working for her through many trying times?

"I was an apprentice . . . learning, he said. "Part of it was fascination. And my own insecurity. I'm a Pisces. I need propping up."

O'Higgins found Madame Rubinstein a courageous woman—"she had to be to do what she did, migrate to Australia in 1900..."

She had an uncle living near Melbourne. Helena Rubinstein wrote in her own memoirs of her early struggle to set up shop and market face creams in Melbourne and to expand the business. O'Higgins dipped into the memoirs briefly but said that over the years "Madame built her own history—and believed it."

THE AUTHOR, a tall, sandy-haired man of Anglo-Irish ancestry, was born in Paris, and educated in England and Switzerland. He served six years with the Irish Guards during the World War II period and said the military taught him the "patience" he needed to get along with Rubinstein.

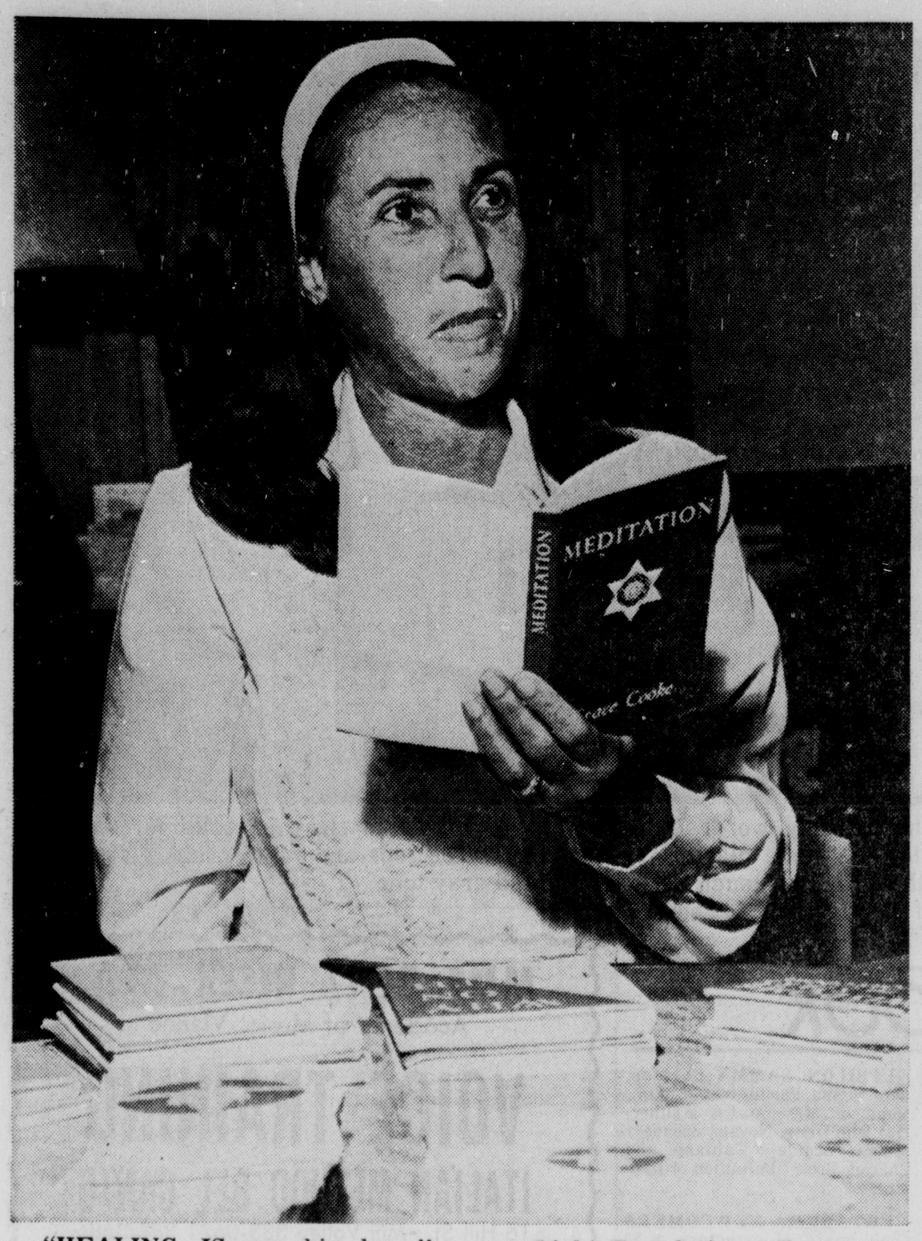
"I was for three years an aide-de-camp to a general just as bad as Madame," he said.

The O'Higgins book is packed with vignettes in the Rubinstein life that encompassed business, the arts, artists and high fashion. She feuded with her competitors — Charles Revson (of Revlon) was called "The nail man." Elizabeth Arden was "the other one, she's more interested in horses."

"SHE ADMIRED CHANEL (the French fashion designer) because Chanel had more style," said O'Higgins. "It was as if Madame was the empress who has siezed power.

Her collection of, and love for, jewelry was legendary. O'Higgins remembered an incident a friend recalled.

The two women were standing in front of the windows of Cartier's. Her companion was impatient to move on but Madame Rubinstein stood on, admiring the jewels—"It rests my eyes to look at them," she said.



"HEALING IS my big love," says Betty Bethards, as she looks over one of the many books on meditation at her home in Novato, headquarters for the Inner Light Foundation. "Turn on with meditation, not with drugs," she says. "There is no communication gap when one meditates."

IT'S GROWING

Meditation Is Key To Peace, Novato Psychic, Healer Says

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"Meditation is listening — prayer is talking," says Mrs. Betty Bethards of Novato as she tells of her communication with God, the power or force she has found which helps her heal and "turn people on."

A young grandmother of one, and the mother of four, Mrs. Bethards says every age is crying out, the hippie and the square.

"Turn on with meditation, not with drugs," she says. "There is no communication gap when one meditates," she adds.

MRS. BETHARDS represents the Inner Light Foundation, and she says those who come to her meetings at the Church in Ignacio the first and third Mondays of each month are from all walks of life, and from ages 9 to 90.

"Healing is my big love," says Betty.

The entire body must be cured, she says, including mental, physical and spiritual. She feels that doctors, psychiatrists and chiropractors must all work together to heal the entire patient.

Betty, a Baptist fundamentalist, was 21 years old when she found she was psychic. She says it frightened her when she awoke during the night and found herself floating three feet above her body.

Her oldest son, Wayne, 20 years old, was killed earlier this year in Vietnam. She says he didn't believe in the war and neigher does she. She feels that "he didn't want to live that life and God took him home."

"THERE IS nothing to death but stepping out of the body," says Mrs. Bethards.

She uses contemporary slang when speaking.

"You get an inner peace and calm sitting at the feet of Jesus," she says."you get 'high or hi' when coming to a four-way stop sign and letting the other person go first."

The Inner Light Foundation, a non-denominational organization, was started three years ago by Dr. Hal Basham of San Rafael.

The principal objective of the foundation is to develop between all people a conscious awareness of God through a knowledge of and use of the extrasensory faculties possessed by each person and to thereby achieve a greater understanding between all persons, according to a printed brochure.

Persons from all walks of life are donating their time to the foundation, Betty says. Serving on the board of directors are Barry Brown, formerly with station KQED, Dr. Basham, Lloyd Dunlap, Novato; George Tuttle, San Rafael; Mrs. Bethards and her husband, Chris; and Ken Hugh H. Sandoval.

THERE ARE 24 groups in Marin County and the foundation hopes to eventually establish a hospital here.

"Many people come to the foundation for the psychic phenomena," Betty says, "but we try to channel them into meditation. Nobody walks through life alone," she explains. "Everyone has a spirit guide."

Betty, who believes in reincarnation, says, "What we sow we shall reap. We chose our own race and chose our own environment."

She says she believes that if in this life a person is prejudiced against one segment of civilization, he will return to suffer the prejudice.

Mrs. Bethards is appearing this month on a television program, "Middleclass Meditation," at 8:30 p.m., Mondays on Channel 9 KQED.

ON THE AGENDA

Werner von Gundell, director of the Marin County Planning Department, will review the Marin County Master Plan.

Mrs. Leo A. Wagner of Novato is membership chairman.

THE SAUSALITO Woman's Club will hear a talk, "A New Slant on Horoscopes," at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the clubhouse by local author Steven Schmidt.

Schmidt, an astrology researcher, technical writer and editor, is the author of a new book, "14 Signs of the Zodiac."

Mrs. Frank Rossman is chairman.

SCENE

Princess Will Be Honored

By MOLLY MARIN

Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra and her husband, the Hon. Angus Ogilvy of England, will be guests of honor at a dinner Oct. 1 in the Garden Court of the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

Hosting the black tie dinner, which will launch British Week in San Francisco, is the English-Speaking Union.

AN OLD-FASHIONED picnic was hosted Saturday evening my Mr. and Gordon F. Parr of San Rafael on a greensward in Forest Meadows, prior to the Marin Shakespeare Festival's production of "As You Like It."

Attending the picnic and play were Dr. Joel J. Kudler and Mr. and Mrs. S. Robert Politzer of Sausalito, The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Davisson of San Anselmo and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dwyer of the Napa Valley.

Mr. Parr is president of the Marin Shakespeare Festival board of directors.

MRS. PAUL Duggan of Belvedere is a new provisional member of the Little Jim Club of Children's Hospital and was welcomed by president, Mrs. Richard T. Conlon, at a luncheon held today at the hospital in San Francisco.

'Miss Ireland' Candidates

Single women between the ages of 17 and 23 of Irish birth or descent are eligible to compete for the title of Miss Ireland, who will reign over the Irish Festival celebration activities slated in San Francisco, Oct. 16 to 23.

Miss Ireland will also be given the title "Rose of Tralee" and "Miss Shamrock" and will receive a trip to Ireland to compete in the International Rose of Tralee Finals in Kerry.

Deadline for the contest is Oct. 15, and those interested may contact the Irish Center at 2123 Market Street in San Francisco. The winner will be announced at the Festival Ball planned at the Jack Tar Hotel on Oct. 23.

Dry Elbows

Problems of dry elbows, knees and heels can be solved by rubbing in body lotion after shower or bath, according to beauty experts for a New York perfume corporation. The skin is warm and ready to soak up the lubrication best then, and if the lotion is scented the fragrance stays longer when applied while the skin is warm from the water.

Kaufmans

DISCOVERIES
Jack Shelton

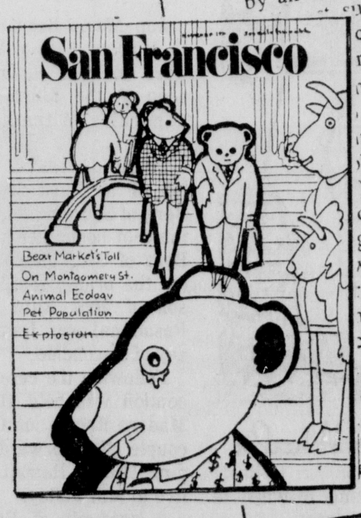
Cheese Preservers make the ideal gift for any cheese lover. A gift should be something the recipient would really use, not exclaim over and then tuck away in a closet. Equally important, it should be just enough of a luxury item, one which people hesitate to buy for themselves. When you come right down to it, you can make your own cheese preserver at very little cost. But you know you never get around to it. Thus, the outstanding and attractive one available at Kaufman's in San Anselmo deserves your consideration.

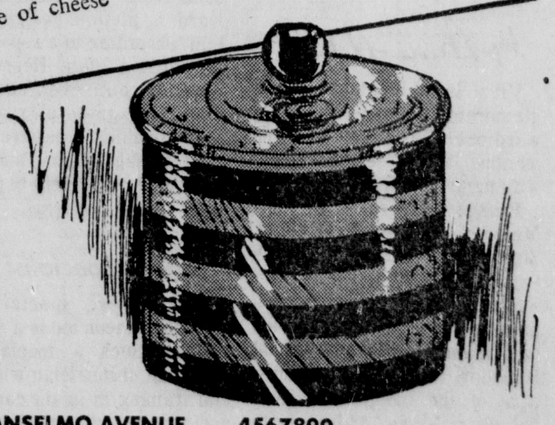
Fine imported cheeses can be costly, especially to westerners, as most arrive by air from Europe. It makes no sense ... such sizeable sums and then ... cheese in your refrigerator. ...res you to remember to re... long enough in advance of ... insure their return to room ...re. The technique is very simple. ...ge earthenware crock has ridges ...to the bottom. This enables you ...e ⅔ cup of vinegar, plus 1 table... of salt first diluted in a little ... The combined liquids and salt re... within the ridges so as not to actu... touch the bottom piece of cheese ...ed atop the ridges.

When the lid is placed on the preserver, your cheese will keep a maximum length of time without deterioration and, best of all, it will always be at room temperature—ready for instant use. Of course, you should keep it in a relatively cool place but never, never in the refrigerator.

Mozart Kaufman, owner of the very fine Kaufman's establishment, points out that a very soft cheese placed directly on the ridges may be pushed out of shape, so a small plate may be placed atop the ridges to avoid this. I suggest this procedure only when absolutely necessary and then be certain you do not use a large plate; otherwise, you stop the flow of the vinegar-salt mixture which, after all, is the secret of cheese preservation. When keeping a combination of soft and harder cheeses, simply be sure to place the softest on top.

Incidentally, if you give one of these Cheese Preservers as a holiday gift, don't bother writing down the basic instructions; they are conveniently provided with each Cheese Preserver. You will find these preservers at Kaufman's, 540 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, California 94960. Better phone the gourmet section first (456-7890) if you are journeying a distance, as this is an imported item and sometimes there is a delay in replenishing the stock. Naturally, you can order them by phone or mail at $12 each plus tax. The ones I saw were bold blue and white striped and should fit quite comfortably into any kitchen color scheme. □





Jack Shelton has said it all. The columnist, whose "Discoveries" enrich San Francisco magazine, discovered our cheese preserver and has, since then, sent us a steady stream of cheese lovers. Happily, we have a new supply of these much-in-demand earthenware crocks designed to save fine cheeses and, therefore, money. Handsome in off-white with blue 12.00

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

DEAR SUE AND HELEN:

Maybe the two of you can give me a new look at myself — sort of from both sides of the fence.

My problem is I've been a big put-on all my life. I try to be friends with everyone, and it looks (to others) that I'm successful, but instead, I'm getting lonelier and farther away every day.

Last year I wanted to be a long-hair, so I smoked grass, but didn't like it, and quit. Those guys still consider me a friend.

Next, I went to the straight kids, ran for student council president and won. That's because people think I'm "popular." You see, I'm into sports and was football captain last year.

I finally woke up to find I have no true friends and am not as great as I thought. I just go from one group to another, "bulling" it through like a con artist. Life has always come too easy for me. I get what I want but it isn't honest, and someday I'll be found out. For the first time I'm realizing what a phony I am and I'm sick of myself.

I'd like to start over again, but how can you when you've acted so long you don't know if there is a real person under all that "scenery"? — DON

SUE'S VIEWS

DEAR DON:

Welcome to the group! You aren't as unusual as you think.

It's hard not to try making a different impression on different kinds of people because most humans are part chameleon too: We change the "color" of our personalities to suit the persons we're with at the time. So you're "longhair" with the longhairs, and "straight" with the straights because you want to be liked — and who doesn't?

How to start over? Figure out where you really stand and don't be afraid to speak your mind. Sure, you'll lose a few acquaintances, but you'll gain true friends — kids who have their heads straight (both longhair and not) — and they'll help you away from being a politician. — Sue.

HELEN SAYS:

DEAR DON:

Perhaps you're putting yourself down too much: When things have always come so easily, we tend to feel guilty.

As Sue says, "We're all part chameleon." But the wise ones recognize this weakness early. Now that you've asked, "Who am I?" I think you'll soon uncover the basic Don — the boy who'd rather stand up for what he believes than be "everybody's pal," but nobody's friend.

The longhairs made you probe more deeply than usual, right? So you swung over to the safer straights, and some of their standards didn't jibe either. Possibly you thought that making council president would put you right with both groups, but it only confused you more, for a leader is often loneliest of all. People don't get close because they're either scared or envious. He must work doubly hard to show he's human: truly interested in others and not just in pushing himself out front.

I doubt you'll have much trouble finding "the real person behind all that scenery." You've hit the honest button early. Congratulations! — HELEN

DEAR SUE:

All this Women's Lib talk leaves us high school girls cold. How about you? — STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Ditto! In high school, girls are trying to get the guy, not fight him! After we marry, it's time enough to think of Liberation. — SUE

NOTE FROM HELEN: Gloria Steinem will hate you, Susie, but according to my mail, you speak for most high school girls. — H.

Vows Said In Ceremony On Hilltop

Deborah J. Cruson and Robert L. Peugh Jr., both of San Rafael, were married Sept. 5 in San Rafael in a hill-top ceremony.

Attending the couple were Gerry Arrowood of San Rafael, matron of honor, and Wally Seskin of San Diego, best man.

A reception at the couple's home followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Cruson of Ontario, Ore., are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Peugh of Phoenix, Ariz.

Robert was graduated from the University of Arizona and is employed by Holiday Magic, Inc., in San Rafael.

Too Soon

Starting a baby too soon on solid foods may head him toward a lifetime weight problem, according to a report from Washington State Heart Association-sponsored research team. The group also suggests that curtailing excessive weight gain during infancy and early childhood might help to prevent later weight problems.

Couple Wed, Will Live In Petaluma

Maxine Boucher of Novato was the maid of honor and Valerie Wells of Novato, the bridegroom's sister, and Cara Siler of Novato, the bride's sister, were the bridesmaids.

Roderick Wells of Novato was his brother's best man. The ushers were the bride's brother, Kenneth Siler of Novato, and Lynn Swenson, also of Novato.

They plan to live in Petaluma.

Christine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Siler of Novato and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Siler of Napa and Mrs. Orvin B. Gaston of Vallejo.

She was graduated from Novato High School and attended the College of Marin.

Randall also is a graduate of Novato High School and attended the College of Marin. He is employed by the Marin Municipal Water District.

He is the son of Mrs. Robert Wells of Novato and the late Mr. Wells. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stroeh of Novato and Mrs. Ruth Wells of Martinez.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Plastics Are Fluid, Modern, Beautiful

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

It may be a plastic world to the under-30 set, who put an unattractive interpretation on the word plastic. But to me and some contemporary designers, plastics are beautiful.

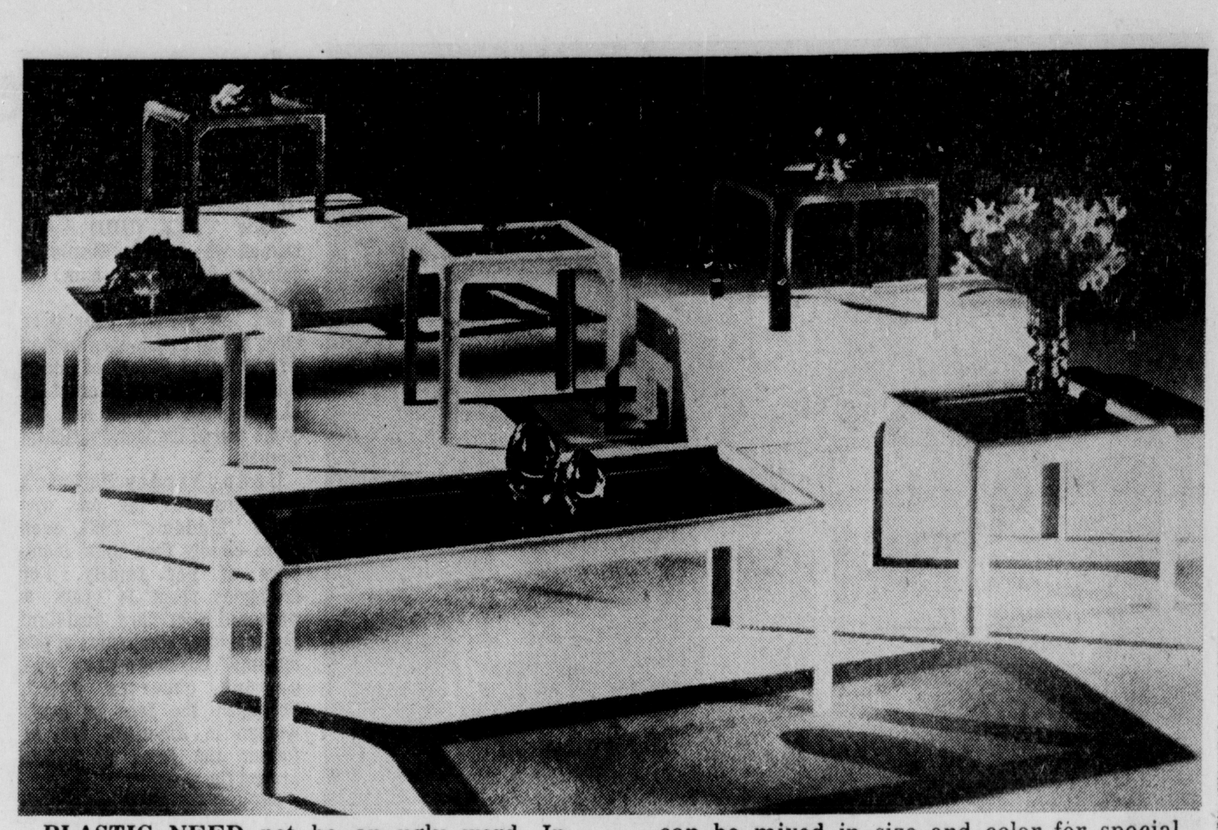
The very word conjures up a flowing, fluid motion. Think of the plasticity of the great poured concrete bridges and structures around the world. Yes, concrete is a plastic material. It can be shaped and sculptured and designed to carry a great deal of stress.

So the plastic product need not be a reproduction of any other classic material. It has a world of its own and an appropriateness for today and tomorrow.

PLASTICS, AS a generic group, have been badly used. But when you take a look around the house, you'll realize how the manufacturers of small utilitarian objects have made almost the best use of plastics. Take for example, the plastic bowl. It was the first great concept in plastic for home use. You could hold it in your hand, squeeze it, pour from it, refrigerate it. In fact, that bowl was chosen as a museum quality object in the first good design show at the Museum of Modern Art in 1948.

Today's housewares continue to give you a bargain in plastics. But there are more significant products on the horizon. The line of tables illustrated today is just part of the revolution occurring in the home furnishings industry. What better material could you find for the simple role of the pullup table? It's a perfect role for the scar-and-stain-resistant materials. And the touch of bright color can be an asset in any kind of room.

The line shown is part of Bassett's Concept 80 group. The series includes bunching tables, lamp tables and cocktail tables in colors described as lobster red, avocado, yellow and white. The plastic is a high-impact, color-integrated ABS. It's tough, rigid and sturdy. Tops are quarter-inch glass in a muted gray tone, a nice balance to the brilliantly colored frames.



PLASTIC NEED not be an ugly word. In contemporary designs for the home plastics take on a fluid look with clean lines, such as shown in this array of handy tables. They can be mixed in size and color for special effects. The tops are quarter-inch glass in a muted gray tone.

Couple Says Their Vows In Mill Valley

Ann Marie Berg and Wayne G. Morgon, both of Mill Valley, were married Saturday afternoon at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Mill Valley.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berg of Sacramento, had as her maid of honor her sister, Thea Berg of Sacramento. Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Ruby Hopper of Pasadena, was Danny McBurney of Escondido.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Corte Madera Recreation Center. The couple left afterward for a wedding trip to Hawaii. They will live in Mill Valley.

A graduate of Encina High School in Sacramento, the bride is employed with her husband in his own business, Morgon of Marin in Mill Valley. She has another sister, Patty Berg of Sacramento.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Pasadena High School and attended Pasadena City College. He is the brother of Steve Morgon of Mill Valley and Sunny Morgon of Marshalltown, Iowa.

PEEL O MATIQUE
REMOVES THE DRY DEAD SKIN
(revealing the soft young under-layer)

Come in and meet the Peel O Matique Consultant at our Cosmetics counter.

Why does your body remain years younger looking than your face? Because daily bathing or showering, plus the gentle friction of clothing causes the tiny dead skin tissues to continually be removed, letting fresh skin take its rightful place—while face and hands are exposed to the harsh elements (sun, wind, dust, etc.) and the dead, dried-out skin tissue does not shed as fast. This dry layer of skin forms a congesting film that locks-in telltale aging lines and skin blemishes!

It is no longer necessary to suffer the so-called ravages of time. The gentle assist from PEEL O MATIQUE will challenge crows feet, lines above the lips, blemishes, deeply etched wrinkles and crepey skin in three steps used in the privacy of your boudoir. PEEL O MATIQUE will gently remove the dead, dry layer and allow the skin that renews itself daily to come through.

Just as a waxed floor builds up a screen so thick it discolors and hides the true value of the surface—so does the dead, dry layer of your skin prevent the loveliness of your complexion from coming through. Even the most potent of lotions can't penetrate this shield to work their magic. PEEL O MATIQUE will enable you to derive the potential benefits of cosmetics and creams.

Look at the smoothness of your man's face. He may have laugh lines around his eyes, or creases on the forehead, but the lower part of his face is wrinkle free. Why? Because daily shaving removes that outer layer of useless cuticle skin that locks in wrinkles, blemishes and lines.

The three steps of PEEL O MATIQUE are gentle to even the most sensitive skin. Phase I is massaged into the skin. You continue massaging until you feel the shedding take place (like rubbing off skin tissue following a sunburn). Phase II is a firming protective lotion applied to your 'new' skin. Phase III supplements your skin with the natural nutrients of pure protein. It takes but minutes to apply . . . and in a matter of weeks the results will be obvious to everyone.

Non-allergic PEEL O MATIQUE is for the back of the hands too. Prominent veins recede when the skin is permitted to 'plump out'. Surface spots and blemishes vanish along with that crepey texture. You are going to love looking more beautiful, younger!

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 14, the 257th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

On this day in history:

In 1847 the United States Army occupied Mexico City.

In 1901 President William McKinley died from wounds inflicted by an assassin eight days earlier.

In 1963 the first quintuplets in U.S. history to survive were born in Aberdeen, South Dakota, to Mrs. Andrew Fischer.

In 1969 the tanker S.S. Manhattan became the first commercial ship to navigate the northwest passage.

A thought for today: from the constitution of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization: "Since wars begin in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed."

The Enemy Can Be Great Boost In Making This Six-Heart Slam

If you don't like the slam contract in today's hand, any number of pessimists will agree with you. You need quite a bit of luck to avoid the loss of two spade tricks, but suppose you have just seen the happily revived musical "Candide," and you're convinced that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds. So you optimistically bid the slam. Now all you have to do is make it.

FIVE SPADES?

West opens the king of spades, and you are entitled to assume that West has bid on a five-card suit. This means that East starts with only one spade. I have to tell you this because none of my readers would dream of sneaking a look at the East-West hands. From here on, however, you're on your own.

You take the ace of spades at once, draw a round of trumps with the king and then clear the ace of diamonds out of the way. You continue with a trump to dummy's nine, ruff a low diamond, lead a club to the ace and ruff the ten of diamonds.

You were hoping to ruff out the king of diamonds since that would enable you to discard a spade on the queen of diamonds.

DIG DEEPER

The plan doesn't work, so you must dig deeper to cultivate your garden. Cash the king of clubs, ruff a club in dummy and lead the queen of diamonds. East covers with the king of diamonds, and you get ready to ruff with your next-to-last trump.

If the roof happened to fall in on you just then, you would be able to announce that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds since the accident prevents you from making a bad play. Put that trump back in your hand.

DISCARD SPADE

Instead of ruffing the king of diamonds, you must discard a spade. East wins the trick but must return a diamond or a club (for lack of anything else). You discard your last spade while dummy ruffs — thus making the slam.

I bet you never thought Voltaire and Leonard Bernstein would help you make a slam!

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass if vulnerable since a vulnerable overcall should promise very nearly the strength of an opening bid.

Some experts would bid one spade with this hand if not vulnerable; others would make a weak jump overcall of two spades.

The comedy is being presented by the Phoenix Theater of New York, sponsored by the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco.

ART REVIEW

Broad Range In Faculty Show

By ADA GARFINKEL

The moment one enters the Fine Arts Gallery at College of Marin to see the new Art Faculty Show (which continues through Oct. 8), one becomes instantly aware of the broad range of talent and expression ... so much so, in fact, as to belie the old adage: "those who can, do; those who can't teach."

Most dramatic are the technologically enhanced sculptures. Glen Miller, for example, fabricates a delicious red torso out of vacuum-formed glass fiber, sprays its glossy body a brilliant red, and lashes it to one of the gallery's sculpture platforms with black thongs.

Farhad Moezzi's new sculptures are of tubular black chrome and of textured steel pipe with organic accents of polished metal. They are only about three feet in height ... but they really make one think of somber things, for they are monumental in concept, and are reminiscent of steles. And Barry McDowell's oversized helmet of Germanic origin, and made of cast steel is both beautifully conceived and mind-grabbing to contemplate.

The weavers, too, are having a field day as they extend their scope. Carol Beadle, for instance, calls her work crocket sculpture, and so it is ... a chair of woven leather and rope!

But novelty is not the theme, and there are many rewarding viewings throughout the handsome gallery. A stroll into the inner court of enclosing panels reveals prints by Eleanore Bender in Mexican and American-Indian geometric format; Kent Rupp's "Old Master" paintings, and Tom Meisenheimer's biting and lyrical — yes, his range is broad — pop-art photos.

Elsewhere, the two glass cases on either side of the Gallery as one enters house Dale Roush's huge ceramic covered jar, and fetishes (also crocheted — by Carol Beadle) in the left hand case, and look for Thano Johnson's miniature porcelain bottles in the right one, also his sparkling watercolors from his Sierra Sketchbook which are also there.

For a breathtaking view of the origin of life, Martin Stoelzel's tour-de-force paintings of seven scenes from GENESIS leave one ready for a light touch, so one must visit Alton Raible's hilarious birds on the back wall and try to identify in them the features of three of his fellow-faculty-exhibitors in the show!

A worthy pause is due Susan Thompson's hanging weaving titled: "Rhode Island Perplexity;" Ida Grae's alternately fringed-and-banded textured rug, and Ross Curtis' ethnic mother and child ceramic sculpture.

For photography buffs, there is the solarized work by Gene Martz; street markings and patterns by Edward Douglas, and people and pets by Thos. C. Johnson.

The Fine Arts Gallery at College of Marin is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 10 p.m.

Police Panel Suggests Trial Period

The projected new Tiburon police department should undergo at least a one-year shakedown period before it considers selling service to the City of Belvedere.

This was the consensus of a joint police study committee from Tiburon and Belvedere which has completed its review of the recent report by Edward S. Kreins, former Sausalito police chief and now chief in Pleasant Hill, who made the proposal.

The committee's recommendation, however, would appear to lack force, since the Belvedere City Council last week declared its intention of retaining its own separate police force. The council did say it would consider joint participation with Tiburon in some specialized services, but these were not spelled out.

Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood last night outlined the committee's recommendations to the council, which is faced with establishing and putting into operation a police force by July 1. The city currently contracts with the Marin County Sheriff's Department for police protection.

Although representatives from Belvedere said the two cities' should not consolidate police departments physically at this time, several joint services were suggested, Miss Ellinwood reported.

Included were 24-hour communication lines; possible police boat; sharing police records; a juvenile officer to serve both cities and possible joint ambulance service.

The group's recommendation that Tiburon proceed with selecting and hiring a chief of police, to begin duties Jan. 1, was curtailed by Tiburon City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

Balmer suggested the council wait until the outcome of the Oct. 19 annexation election before advertising for a chief in order to be able to tell him the actual size of the city.

The council concurred with Balmer's suggestion.

Tiburon City Council also:

PARKING — Approved position of parking controller be established at a monthly salary of between $712 and $867 to replace a deputy sheriff leaving the force.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE — Heard first reading of amendments to traffic ordinance that extend limited parking requirements to include Sundays and holidays, and until 7 p.m. rather than the previous 5 p.m. restriction Monday through Friday.

OPEN SPACE — Continued until next Monday action on a proposal to spend $16,090 to hire a consultant to plan open space on Tiburon Peninsula.

ADJOURNED — To 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss open space proposal, alignment of Tiburon Boulevard and possible purchase of Strawberry Cove.

State Cancels Burn Permits

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Citing the possibility of "disastrous wild fires," the state has suspended all state burning permits.

The suspension, which took effect at Midnight Monday, was ordered by James Stearns, director of the Department of Conservation and State Forester Lewis Moran.

The burning ban applies to all areas where the state is responsible for fire protection.

A spokesman for the forestry department said the permits were suspended because of continued hot weather and strong, dry north winds.

DRAMA REVIEW

Bedford Delightful In Moliere Comedy

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Brian Bedford, the toast of Broadway last season as Arnolphe in Moliere's "School for Wives," recreated that role last night at the Geary Theater.

And it has to be one of the most delightful single performances this reviewer has yet to see. In short, it is a tour de force in the grandest manner.

Moliere, who had a special genius to laugh at the human condition, is brought back to life brilliantly through Richard Wilbur's hilariously funny translation. And what Wilbur has transcribed, Bedford brings to life in sparkling fashion.

Arnolphe is Moliere's definitive portrait of a man possessed by jealousy and living in fear of becoming a cuckold, so driven by this feat that he spends years carefully preparing his intended wife for marriage. All he wants is a wife who will "say her prayers, love me, spin and sew." And he asks "is a man so simple that he wants a simple wife?"

Bedford in molding the character that Moliere has sketched leaves not a theatrical nuance untouched. A fluff of his feathered hat is a study of flowing motion. And Bedford's forced laughs when he finds his love plot collapsing are pure joy to hear.

Joining Bedford in creating the high comedy are Joan Van Ark as the charming and beautiful Agnes, and David Dukes, who got his theatrical start on stages in Marin County and later with the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco, as her young lover Horace. Both are most convincing and needless to say have learned much from Bedford's sterling portrayal.

David Hooks as Chrysalde and James Green as Alain and Peggy Cooper as Georgette lend to the hilarity of the evening.

The feeling of the 17th Century is captured by James Tilton in the small setting in which the closed courtyard opens up and in costumes by Jancy Potts which are rich in texture.

The Moliere comedy, an offering by the Phoenix Theater of New York under the artful direction of Stephen Porter in association with ACT, will be at the Geary through Sept. 25. The Phoenix troupe is also responsible for the just closed "Harvey" with Gig Young and Shirley Booth.

Despite last night's sweltering heat, which at times seemed almost to engulf the stage, the company never lost its sparkle and Bedford earned a rightful standing ovation from the coatless crowd.

For any student of the theater Bedford's performance is a must.

The schedule calls for performances at 8:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays, and at 2:30 p.m., Wednesdays and Saturdays.

"SCHOOL FOR WIVES" — A two-act comedy by Moliere. Translated by Richard Wilbur. A New York Phoenix Theater production in association with American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco. Directed by Stephen Porter. Scenery and lighting, James Tilton; costumes, Nancy Potts, and music, Conrad Susa. The cast: Chrysalde, David Hooks; Arnolphe, Brian Bedford; Alain, James Greene; Georgette, Peggy Cooper; Agnes, Joan Van Ark; Horace, David Dukes; Notary, Tony Manionis; Enrique, Mario Siletti, and Oronte, Peter Harris.

Safety On Boulevard Key Concern

Tiburon City Council would like the state Highway Division to take immediate steps to make highly-congested, winding Tiburon Boulevard safe while it studies possible expansion of the roadway.

The council last night directed its staff to draw up a resolution to that effect after debating the merits of the state's proposal to construct a four-lane highway the length of the Peninsula by widening Tiburon Boulevard.

The directive will advise the highway division that the council finds the proposal for a four-lane road unacceptable; that it is undertaking a study to determine if any expansion of Tiburon Boulevard is desirable and asks the department to assign the highest priority to improving safety on the road, Route 131.

Four specific suggestions were included in the request for a safer highway: adequate realignment of Trestle Glen; appropriate stacking lanes; resurfacing the road and safe crossing by signals, tunneling or bridging.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning called "ludicrous" the state's proposal, later modified by the Joint Belvedere-Tiburon Balanced Transportation Committee in February, that the boulevard be widened by filling in the bay.

He said the proposal is no longer feasible and certainly would be vetoed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission which must approve such plans. Fanning is a member of the commission.

Councilman Albert H. Sennett urged the council to concern itself first with obtaining immediate safety conditions on the roadway before making up its mind on whether or not Tiburon Boulevard should be widened.

The council approved Sennett's proposed resolution 4-1 with Fanning dissenting.

Homeowners Step In To Abate Odor

A Tiburon homeowners association which has been suffering the brunt of offensive odor from the Trestle Glen sewage treatment plant has stepped in to clean up the odor.

James D. McArthur, president of the Little Reed Heights-Tiburon Knolls Homeowners' Association, last night told the city council the group has reached an agreement with the Richardson Bay Sanitary District to abate the odor problem.

McArthur said the homeowners will request $5,800 at the district's meeting next Tuesday to cover the cost of a gas burner ($4,800) and consultant's fee ($1,000).

The association hired two professors from the University of California at Berkeley, Drs. Jerome Thomas and David Jenkins, who studied the source of odors at the sewage treatment plant and made recommendations, McArthur said.

When the solution was presented to the district last month, the board asked the association to reach an agreement with the Nute Company of San Rafael, its engineering consultant and to request funding for the corrective work at the next meeting.

McArthur did not explain what was causing the odor problem or how much the association paid to hire the two professors.

The council which had called a public hearing on the odor problem last night postponed action on the matter for an indefinite length of time until the homeowners' solution is tried.

Two years ago, the same residents complained to the city council about similar odors.

At that time, the council drew up abatement proceedings against the district, but retracted them when the engineers promised complete elimination of the odors.

In November, 1969, a study was made which cited the source of odors as "associated with the processes of handling raw sewage and sewage sludge."

Borgnine's Wife Seeks Divorce

Mrs. Borgnine asked for division of community property and support for their two children, Christopher, 5, and Sharon, 6.

HERE COMES THE JUDGE — BOWWOW

Getting 22-year-old Doug Broyles ready for his role as the Old English Sheepdog, Judge, in "Wind in the Willows" is a two-and-a-half-hour task, starting with the raw material (left), applying white face makeup, a goatee and moustache, a bulbous, black nose, and finally spectacles and a furry hood to transform him into the shaggy dog (right) for the children's play. Broyles, of Berkeley, is a member of the Marin Shakespeare Festival cast which is presenting "Wind in the Willows" at 2 p.m. each Saturday in September in the Forest Meadows amphitheater at Dominican College in San Rafael. Festival member Jim Mairs wrote the music for A. A. Milne's stage adaptation of the children's story by Kenneth Grahame.

Prison Told To Release Possessions

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday ordered San Quentin prison officials to turn over the personal property of slain inmate George Jackson to his mother or appear in court Sept. 24 to explain why they have not done so.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson's order was sought by Jackson's mother, Georgia B. Jackson of Pasadena.

Jackson was killed during an alleged escape attempt at the prison Aug. 21.

Mrs. Jackson's attorney, Edward C. Bell of San Francisco, said some of Jackson's property was given to him by San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson on Sept. 7.

Other property, however, was turned over to Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Bell said Nelson told him.

Bales declined to state today what property of Jackson's he had, but Bell said it included a manuscript of a book Jackson was working on, various correspondence dating from 1960 and legal documents pertaining to the defense of the Soledad Brothers.

Bell said among the items given to him by Nelson were a watch, keys and key chain, ring, Social Security card, a check and some legal forms.

Six-Month Sentence For Sale Of Drugs

An "incredible" and "outrageous" story yesterday helped keep a Petaluma man from being sentenced to state prison for selling LSD.

Instead, Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court sentenced Vaughn Deb Viator, 27, to six months in Marin County Jail.

Judge Wilson also placed Viator on probation for two years and ordered that he be released from the jail every third weekend to visit with his family.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony had recommended that Viator be sent to prison.

Viator pleaded guilty to the charge in July, and his version of the events leading up to his arrest were contained in a probation report prepared by deputy probation officer Patricia Schuman.

Mrs. Schuman termed the story "incredible" Judge Wilson and Viator's attorney, Berwyn Rice, agreed that it was "outrageous," but all agreed an investigation had uncovered no evidence to disprove it nor evidence to indicate any prior connection of Viator with drugs.

He was arrested Sept. 4, 1970, at a Mill Valley service station where he worked after he sold 6,000 LSD tablets to a state narcotics agent for $2,000.

Viator admitted the sale in July, but told Mrs. Schuman he did it because his family had been threatened by the man who supplied the LSD to him — a man Viator said he knew only as "Larry."

Viator said that Larry had once helped him push a car into a service station.

Last year, Viator said, Larry came to the Mill Valley service station and asked that Viator return the favor. He wanted him to sell some LSD.

When Viator hesitated, he said, Larry pulled out a gun and threatened to harm Viator's family if he did not sell the drug.

Viator said he went to the first person he could, a female customer at the station, and asked if she knew anyone who wanted to buy LSD.

The woman told a friend, who happened to be a deputy sheriff, and the sale was arranged between Viator and a state agent.

Viator told Mrs. Schuman he thinks Larry avoided arrest by watching the sale, and Viator's arrest, through binoculars from a distance.

Mrs. Schuman had recommended Viator be sentenced to four months in jail.

Opening Day Count Is Down

Opening day public school enrollment in Marin County yesterday was down 210 from opening day of last year.

Opening day enrollments, as reported to the county schools office and the Independent-Journal, totaled 51,392 for yesterday, compared to 51,603 on the first day of last school year.

College of Marin's enrollment, however, jumped from 5,728 last year to 6,662 this year. Kindergarten through 12th grade schools in the county declined in enrollment by 1,144, dropping from 45,875 last year to 44,731 this year.

Declines were reported in 13 school districts, and in the preschool program conducted by the county schools office.

Bolinas-Stinson Elementary, 196 and 196; Dixie Elementary, 4,354 and 4,509; Fairfax Elementary, 1,042 and 1,022; Kentfield Elementary, 1,303 and 1,368; Laguna Elementary 17 and 13; Lagunitas Elementary, 470 and 474; Larkspur Elementary, 1,555 and 1,595; Lincoln Elementary, 15 and 17; Mill Valley Elementary, 5,454 and 3,464; Nicasio Elementary, 48 and 47; Reed Elementary, 1,876 and 1,908; Ross Elementary, 462 and 489; San Anselmo Elementary, 2,023 and 2,050; San Rafael Elementary, 4,444 and 4,758; Sausalito Elementary, 451 and 598; Union Elementary, 17 and 15.

Novato Unified, 11,472 and 11,723; Shoreline Unified, 926 and 902; San Rafael High, 4,062 and 4,210; Tamalpais High, 6,114 and 6,062; College of Marin, 6,662 and 5,728; preschool program, 33 and 105; county schools' special education (exclusive of San Quentin Prison and juvenile hall, which operates on different schedules), 397 and 350.

Teachers' Union Charges Violation In Firing Case

A Tamalpais High School District teachers' union last night charged the district board and one of its principals with violating due process of law in refusing to assign classes to a teacher appealing his firing.

According to Marion Higgins, board secretary, the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers maintained that trustees and Raymond J. Bell, principal of Tamalpais High School "prejudged" teacher Kenneth Anderson.

Anderson, fired earlier this year on 11 charges including failure to follow district policies and encouraging or condoning antisocial attitudes among students, is appealing his firing in Marin Superior Court.

The board said teacher assignment is the purview of each school principal and since Anderson is still being paid his salary no violation exists.

During the brief encounter with union representatives last night, the board also refused a union request to discuss the matter behind closed doors, Mrs. Higgins said.

She said the board noted such a closed session with union representatives would be in violation of the state's anti-secret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Anderson, 30, who has taught English at Tam for four years, is a tenured teacher and therefore entitled to an appeal for the board's action.

He has complained that his firing is based on his political beliefs and activities with the teachers union.

In papers filed with the court, the district maintains Anderson is unfit for service and has refused to obey school laws.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

LAWSUIT — Designated Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino as the district's attorney in a $400,000 damage lawsuit brought by parents of mentally retarded children. The parents, members of a group called Citizens Association for Special Education, are also seeking a court order directing the district to reorganize its program for their children.

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT — Agreed that a special advisory committee of parents and taxpayers should be established to oversee the district's controversial decentralization program. The matter was carried over to the next meeting for discussion of the make-up of such a committee.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE — Adopted a negotiated grievance procedure for teachers. It outlines steps for teachers and administrators to follow in grievance matters.

Chase Heads Off Stolen Vehicle

Thomas Brennan noticed a company truck leaving the parking lot at 65 Jacoby Street at 8 a.m. Sunday and gave chase, according to California Highway Patrol officers.

Brennan followed the stolen truck south on Highway 101 until it passed the last exit in Marin County. Then he passed the truck and warned a toll booth operator at the south end of the Golden Gate Bridge that the truck was approaching.

Police were waiting and arrested John Edward Wallace, 21, of Garden Grove and John Allen Thompson, 26, of Whittier, on suspicion of auto theft. The two were booked into San Francisco City Prison.

Marinite To Appear On Pot Charge

I-J Special Report

PACIFICA — A Marin County social worker is to appear in San Mateo County Municipal Court Sept. 20 on a felony charge of possession of marijuana, Pacifica police reported today.

Elaine Goldman, 36, of 9 Hazel Court, San Rafael, was one of 10 persons — including a former San Francisco State College official — arrested Friday at a party. She was released on her own recognizance from San Mateo County Jail.

Nesbit Crutchfield, former black studies administrator at San Francisco State, was freed Sunday night on $1,000 bail, police reported. Pacifica officers said they went to a Sharps Park home to serve a traffic warrant, and found the marijuana party in progress.

Mrs. Goldman is a Marin County employee, according to Betty L. Presley, director of the department of public social services. She said Mrs. Goldman was at work today.

Deer Sends Cyclist Officer To Hospital

A Mill Valley police officer was treated for multiple leg scrapes at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a run-in with a deer on the Corte Madera Grade.

Police said Officer Martin Nielsen, 24, was traveling northbound on his motorcycle about 8:40 a.m. when a deer jumped from the bank above him, struck the officer and the cycle and knocked both to the ground.

Board Finally Approves Sale Of Eastwood Land

Mill Valley School District trustees last night after months of negotiation approved the sale of its 5.13-acre Eastwood property to the Tamalpais Community Services District for $66,500.

The land at Eastwood Way and Glenwood Avenue will be used for public recreation, according to a clause in the contract, Supt. James A. Collins said.

A more restrictive clause, previously the source of conflict between the two groups, had limited the use of the land to parks and recreation.

The new wording, Collins said, indicates only the intent of both groups to keep the land as open space.

The Tamalpais Community Services District which meets tonight is expected to approve the purchase, according to Collins.

The services district has applied to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for a $37,000 grant to purchase the property.

If HUD approves the grant, a restricting clause limiting use of the land to parks and recreation will be mandatory.

In other business, the school district board adopted minimum study requirements set by the county and established a minimum 240-minute day for primary grades and a 300-minute minimum for higher levels.

The board met in closed session at the end of the meeting to discuss current negotiations with the Mill Valley Teachers Association, Collins said. The two groups still have not reached agreement on a new contract.

The other former contract expired last June.

Meeting Schedule

The Terra Linda Recreation-Park District has announced its November meeting will be Nov. 10 because the regular meeting day, Nov. 11, is Veteran's Day. Next month's meeting will be Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. at the recreation center.

Robbery Of Boat Captain Is Foiled

A gunman attempted to rob a fishing boat captain on the Sausalito waterfront today and may have been wounded while fleeing after the try was foiled.

Sausalito police said the would-be robber jumped into the auto of fishing boat captain Hank Schramm of Novato, at 4:15 a.m. today when Schramm stopped for a traffic light at Bridgeway and Harbor Drive.

The intruder held a gun to Schramm's head and ordered him to drive to the Clipper Yacht Harbor area at the foot of Harbor Drive.

Schramm obeyed, then leaped from the car when he reached the harbor. The gunman fired a single shot, which missed, and then ran toward downtown Sausalito. Schramm told police he pulled his own gun, fired two shots, and saw the man stumble, then continue running.

Fish and Chips Social Saturday

The Marin chapter of the British-American Club of Northern California will sponsor a fish and chips social night and dancing at the Log Cabin in San Anselmo Saturday.

Orders for fish and chips will be taken at 7:45 p.m. and at 8:15 p.m. The Prince Charles Bagpipe Band and the Mill Valley Scottish Country Dancers will perform.

Nancy Peppitt of Terra Linda, secretary of the club, said non members are welcome.

Man Arraigned On Assault, Battery

Edward H. Voss, 31, of Sonoma, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court on two counts of battery and assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $2,500 and scheduled Voss to enter a plea next Monday at 1:30 p.m. He was arrested Friday after a youngster said Voss kicked him with baseball cleats at McNear Park. Officer William Lane said Voss struck him during booking at the jail.

Cooling For New Cars Eliminated

The council members approved the bid specifications prepared by City Adm. Robert E. Crowe — except that they deleted proposals for air conditioning in the three passenger autos to be purchased.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

BRIDGE — Rejected Rolin-Tee Co. design proposals for the Bridge Court bridge and instructed its city engineer to proceed with his design for the structure which will be presented at the council's next meeting.

INTERSECTION — Held up action regarding intersection modifications at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Claus and Bank streets until the city attorney and city engineer can determine whether action would affect a suit pending against the city by a citizen injured at the intersection.

AUDITORS — Accepted auditors report on the 1970-71 fiscal year which set the city's revenues at $597,799, expenditures at $529,929, and balance at $556,376 as of June 30.

NOISE — Accepted city administrator's conclusion on noise abatement that the city have sufficient laws to control noise problems.

PAY — Tabled a proposed amendment to the town code regarding pay increases for employees. The new amendment would remove automatic pay advances and base raises on the quality of an employee's performance. The measure would also reduce pay for performances assessed inferior by the department head and city administrator.

ALCOHOL — Adopted an amendment to the town code prohibiting drinking of alcoholic beverages on public streets, sidewalks, passageways, playgrounds, and rights-ofway.

CLOSED SESSION — Adjourned into closed session to consider the possible disciplining of a city employee.

MEETING — Adjourned to its next regular meeting Oct. 1.

HOW TO BUY MORE HOUSE THAN YOU CAN AFFORD

Pick a price out of thin air. Then go out and buy it by yourself, and pay more than you'd planned, because you couldn't find what you wanted at the price you had in mind.

A better idea is to let us help. We're Realtors. Experts who know how to help you find what you can afford. And even help you find mortgage money.

Whatever we do, we'll do in your best interest, because we're pledged to a strict code of ethics.

So, doesn't it make sense to see us first?

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things, whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, a Realtor can be invaluable in judging prices and values of homes. He can tell you what the market is (he knows it well) — what homes are worth, and what they are selling for; he can evaluate properties properly, and he can tell you if a price is realistic.

STOP!

Please don't read this ad unless you believe in the American free enterprise system.
But if you do; if you believe America still offers unlimited opportunity to anyone with a little horse-sense who is willing to roll up his sleeves and go to work. If you believe it strongly enough to invest in your own and America's future; then, perhaps, you're the person we're looking for to operate a new concept vending business in this area.
But let's not kid each other; it takes more than wishful thinking to achieve the financial independence you want. To qualify for our distributorship; you must make a cash performance deposit of $975 to $4,000; you must have some spare time to devote to service; but most of all, you must have a sincere desired to make your business grow.
If you think you qualify, write us a note telling us about your background, and then we'll tell you all about us. And say, please include your phone number.

Manson Burns Cell Bedding

LOS ANGELES. (UPI) — Charles Manson's jail privileges were revoked for 10 days Monday because he set fire to the bedding in his cell at the Hall of Justice.

Manson, under death sentence for the Tate-Labianca murders, currently is on trial for the slayings of musician Gary Hinman and stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea.

A sheriff's department spokesman said Manson set fire to blankets and a towel before going to court in the morning.

Except for brief appearances in court Monday, Manson remained locked in an adjacent holding cell after he reportedly told his guards he would "punch the judge in the jaw."

KQED (9), 11 p.m. — Governor Ronald Regan's press conference will be covered as a half-hour news special.

Housing Policy To Be Aired

The Novato Housing Committee, a citizens advisory group, will hold a hearing on its recommended housing policy at 7:45 p.m. Sept. 22 at the Novato Community House.

The committee believes the city should have a mix of housing both in prices and styles, with low and moderate cost housing throughout the city.

The committee's recommendations will be reviewed by the city council prepatory to including a housing element in the city's master plan.

Sharp Decline In Sausalito's Student Count

The Sausalito School District experienced a sharp decline in enrollment on the first day of school yesterday, as only 451 youngsters attended classes at Bayside and Martin Luther King schools.

The total was 67 fewer than anticipated enrollment of 518 students and 147 fewer than on the opening day last year when 598 students were in Sausalito schools.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the opening of school in the district went "very smoothly," even though the district is operating two schools instead of four. Central and Manzanita schools will not be used for classes this year.

Because of the enrollment drop, Lindberg said some cuts may have to be made in the district's $1,173,675 budget for 1971-72 which was predicated on 518 students. He could not say what items will be cut, but said he will review the budget this week.

Democrats Doubt Withholding Date

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Key Democratic legislators agreed today that Gov. Ronald Reagan's deadline for enacting income tax withholding won't be met.

As Democrats prepared for face-to-face negotiations with the Republican chief executive, they showed no sign of relaxing their insistence that withholding must be included in an overall tax reform and property tax relief package.

Reagan one week ago gave the legislature two weeks to enact withholding so the state general fund's cash flow squeeze could be eased.

The governor has maintained that tax reform and property tax relief can be handled as issues separate from withholding.

But Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, and Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, Monday doused cold water on Reagan's appeal for enacting withholding separately.

Hitchhiker Is Discovered Dead

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A New York man who had been hitchhiking cross-country for nearly two months was found robbed and beaten to death Monday in the Baldwin Hills district.

The nude body of Kenneth S. Jackson, 27, of Long Island, was found on a knoll in the hilly neighborhood after residents reported hearing moans from that direction.

Jackson, who was dead when police found him, had been killed with a blunt instrument. Detectives said identity papers offered the telephone number of Jackson's mother in New York. She said her son had left home July 26 to travel.

Principals' Reports To Larkspur Board

The Larkspur School District board, meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the district office, will hear school reports from its four principals.

The reports will deal with school maintenance and student enrollment, according to a district spokesman.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

TONIGHT LOOK 4 (YOU'LL NEVER LOOK BETTER)

UN Probe Asked By Mrs. Jackson

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Georgia Jackson, mother of slain Soledad Brother George Jackson, said yesterday she will petition the United Nations to investigate the death of her son as well as what she called "the barbarous penal institutions of the state of California."

Mrs. Jackson made the remarks at Glide Memorial Church, from which many newsmen were barred because the Jackson family said they have given "bogus coverage" to Jackson's death.

The convict died in what was apparently an abortive escape attempt which set off violence leaving five others dead at San Quentin on Aug. 21.

Mrs. Jackson yesterday repeated earlier statements that her son was murdered and said that she expected charges to be filed against some of the remaining family.

"Now that they have murdered the body of George L. Jackson, which they are attempting to conceal with the Hitlerian technique of the big lie, they will attempt to eliminate the rest of the family through phony indictments and charges," she said.

Asked what the charges were, Mrs. Jackson said she had read about them in a newspaper clipping which she did not identify. "Nobody has ever bothered to say anything to us," she added.

Her petition for a UN investigation, which she asked that others throughout the country and world sign, said that "neigher the state of California nor the United States of America will conduct an unbiased investigation of the killing."

Asked whether she had faith in the United Nations, Mrs. Jackson replied that she did. She said that she plans to go to New York to make a personal plea for an investigation.

Penny Jackson, George's sister, read a statement saying that Gov. Ronald Reagan, the California judiciary, state prison officials and personnel at San Quentin did "with malice aforethought perpetrate the cowardly murder of one George L. Jackson . . ."

Drive Begins For Tomales Bay Study

The Marin Audubon Society and the Marin Conservation League have joined forces in an effort to raise $10,000 toward an environmental study of Tomales Bay, according to the presidents of the two groups.

Dudley S. Hubbard, president of the Audubon Society, and Harold Gregg, league president, said that "Tomales Bay is in the same critical situation that Bolinas Lagoon was 10 years ago."

In a letter asking contributions, the two presidents said that the bay is "the victim of inadequate planning and insufferable zoning" and that it is threatened by "exploitive development, pollution and overpopulation. . ."

Gregg and Hubbard said that a study will be undertaken by the Conservation Foundation which will cost a minimum of $25,000 but they hope to raise enough money for a more complete $29,500 study.

Half the cost will be paid by the foundation, and various governmental agencies may be interested in paying part of the study if private citizens contribute the rest, the two men said.

Commission Denies New Creekside Lot

A new building lot should not be created along Papermill Creek near Point Reyes Station where the property is subject to inundation almost every other year, the Marin County Planning Commissioners decided yesterday.

A request for a new lot came from Victoria Dwyer, who owns more than an acre of land between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Papermill Creek, just south of Point Reyes Station. She already has two building sites but asked that one of the lots be split so that she could have a total of three lots.

Her attorney, Bryan R. McCarthy, said that the property is subject to periodic flooding, but the owner is willing to notify purchasers of the flooding problem.

Acting Chairman John F. West said the area is under five to eight feet of water during winter floods, and he could not deliberately create another building lot in such a flood area.

On a motion by Margaret B. Azevedo, the planning commissioners denied a third lot to Mrs. Dwyer but agreed that she could realign the boundary between her two lots so that both would be more equal in size.

Marin County Planning Commissioners also:

VIEW ACRES — Approved a tentative map for View Acres subdivision, a seven-lot subdivision on 20 acres at the corner of Laguna Vista Drive and Cerro Crest in east Novato. The subdivider is Alfred Bellucci of Novato.

REZAIAN — Denied Taghi Rezaian's request for design approval of about eight buildings at Dolan's Corner in Tamalpais Valley which he wants to use for various shops.

Tahoe Plan Is Attacked

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— A group of professional engineers assert the proposed plan to save Lake Tahoe will not preserve its environment.

"The Tahoe Regional Planning Agency is steamrolling towards the establishment of a regional plan, which will load the basin with hundreds of thousands of permanent residents and leave little to enjoy or opportunity for visitors to enjoy it," the Professional Engineers Tahoe Regional Committee said Monday.

The engineers say there should be limitations on land coverage and population density based on an analysis of land capability; less emphasis on permanent residents and greater provisions for visitors; more emphasis on public transportation to reduce dependence on private cars and allocation of development rights as a device to make possible the implementation of the plan without dependence on federal funds.

About one-third of the U.S. population lives in rural areas.

Planners Delay Decision On Sand Removal Plans

Should contractors be allowed to remove tons of sand from dune areas near Dillon's Beach?

This question came up twice yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission, and in both instances the commissioners put off a decision until Sept. 27 and asked the planning staff to see if the excavations come under a new quarrying ordinance that just went into effect last Friday.

The first request came from James Hazen of Marin Landscaping Co., Novato, which wants to continue excavating for sand from the Richard Hicks property northeast of Tom's Point on the east side of Tomales Bay. Hicks' 259-acre ranch is located southeasterly of Dillon's Beach.

Attorney James A. Duckworth of Novato, representing Hazen, said Hazen has been quarrying for sand on the same property for four years under a previous landowner. Hicks, the new owner, does not want the excavation to continue.

Duckworth said Hazen has an easement on the land until March of next year, and wants a permit to take between 10,000 and 40,000 cubic yards of sand within the next six months. He will not ask for an extension beyond next March.

The other applicant for sand excavation was Merle Lawson of Dillon's Beach. Lawson wants to take sand from an open sand dune between the town of Dillon's Beach and Lawson's Landing trailer camp. Planner Raymond Smith said the area has no vegetation, and removal of sand would not be detrimental.

Quadruplets Die Soon After Birth

SYDNEY (UPI)—Quadruplets born 14 weeks prematurely to an unidentified migrant woman all died within hours of the multiple birth, Crown Street hospital authorities announced today.

The one boy and three girls were born to a woman who had been taking the fertility drug cornadotrophin.

Shapiro Asks New Trial On $106,500 Judgment

San Anselmo attorney Carl B. Shapiro yesterday moved for a new trial of a case in which a Marin Superior Court jury awarded a $106,500 judgment against him and two other attorneys Aug. 27.

Shapiro said he was basing his motion on irregularities in the first trial, abuse of discretion by the trial judge, newly discovered evidence, excessive damages, errors in law during the trial and insufficient evidence to justify the verdict.

The jury found that Shapiro and Vincent Hallinan and his son, Patrick, both of San Francisco, had committed constructive fraud — meaning fraud without intent to defraud — and breach of contract in their dealings with John S. Krysiak, a former San Mateo building contractor whom the attorneys represented in a 1965 civil case in San Mateo.

The jury awarded $46,500 actual damages — a judgment against all three attorneys — and $12,500 punitive damages against Vincent Hallinan.

No court date has been set for hearing of Shapiro's motion.

13-Gun Salute For New Presidio Boss

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A 13-gun salute and an honor guard ceremony greeted Maj. Gen. Albert E. Milloy on Monday when he arrived at the Presidio of San Francisco as the U.S. Sixth Army's new chief of staff.

Ecologists Hit Consolidation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A plan by Gov. Ronald Reagan to put all state anti-pollution agencies under a proposed department of Environmental Protection has run into stiff opposition from conservation groups.

Reagan's plan calls for the state Water Resources Control Board and the Air Resources Board to fall under the new department. His reorganization would abolish the Water Quality Advisory Committee and the Environmental Study Council.

During hearings by a joint legislative subcommittee on executive reorganization, the plan came under heavy fire from the conservationist Sierra Club and several other conservation groups.

Jacob Miller, representing the Sierra Club, said the plan "will delay vital action" in the fight against pollution.

When Smoke Clears Giants Ahead By Only Two

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If you want to see all there is possible to ee in a baseball game, and then some, take in the next game the Giants and Dodgers play.

Monday night the two old antagonists squared off at Candlestick Park and when their battle was over, 2 hours and 42 minutes after it had started, the Dodgers had won, 5-4, and stood poised today only two games behind San Francisco in the red-hot National League West race.

Winning the game was a big thing, but there was enough sideline play in this struggle to fill a book.

Four players —Juan Marichal and Jerry Johnson of the Giants and Bill Buckner and Maury Wills of the Dodgers — were tossed out for various sins, at least a couple of dozen fans from among the near capacity crowd of 31,081 spent the night in jail for fighting, on the field and off, and at least a dozen players were about as mad as they could be.

All that doesn't take in the fact Dave Kingman, who only 12 days ago had his appendix removed, played first base for San Francisco and had a triple and double; Willie McCovey pinch-hit (unsuccessfully) a week after taking eight stitches in his left hand; the Dodgers extended their latest winning streak to seven with their seventh consecutive victory over the Giants; Jim Brewer gained his 20th save of the year, and Bill Singer was splashed in the face with a can of beer and needed an escort to the clubhouse when he was removed in favor of Brewer.

The Dodgers, hottest team in baseball at the moment, meet the Giants again tonight with Al Downing, the little lefthander picked off a garabage heap last spring, pitching for Los Angeles and Gaylord Perry hurling for the Giants.

Home runs by Richie Allen, Willie Crawford and Willie Davis accounted for all the Dodger scoring in Monday night's battle. The Giants got a big lift from Kingman and some help by Allen and Tom Haller, whose loose play helped San Francisco to a pair of unearned runs in the seventh and almost sent manager Walter Alston to a psychiatric ward.

Marichal was behind 3-1 in the fifth when he sent two fastballs at Singer's head leading off the inning. Plate umpire Shag Crawford warned Juan and two outs later Marichal, smarting because Singer had hit Willie Mays and Chris Speier with pitches and apparently had gotten away with it, clipped Buckner.

According to the rules, Marichal was automatically out. But Buckner wanted to make a fight of it and took off after Juan with bat in hand. Giants catcher Russ Gibson restrained him but he, too, was automatically out of the game. But a big fight ensued in the middle of the diamond with players from both benches and bullpens in the action.

While some fists flew and various players shoved each other around Johnson made a choke gesture at Crawford and Shag told him to take a shower.

"I didn't do anything anyone else was doing," said Johnson in his own way, meaning he didn't think he should have been thrown out, while Buckner said he had no intention of hitting Marichal with his bat and that he was holding it in self defense.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants said that the umpire seemed to be leaning in one direction.

"Their guy (Singer) hits two of our guys and nothing happens," said Fox "My man (Marichal) hits one of their guys and he's out right now. That's hard to understand."

Singer said the pitch that hit Mays simply got away from him and insisted that he never hit Speier.

The ball was barely inside on Speier," said Singer, "and it hit his bat. He made a big thing of it and I think he swayed the umpire."

After Crawford told Johnson to take off for his choke gesture Jerry charged the umpire but was restrained by half a dozen of his teammates.

"I'd have broken him in half," said Crawford later.

Wills was tossed out for arguing over a call at first by Stan Landes. With Tito Fuentes on second and Jim Howarth on first and two out, Bobby Bonds struck out on a low pitch that got away from Haller for a passed ball. When Haller threw wild to first Fuentes scored. Wills charged that Bonds, in running to first, interfered with first baseman Wes Parker.

"He (Wills) didn't have a good view of the game," said the umpire, "so I gave him a chance to watch the end of it on television."

Singer was still working in the seventh when the Giants cut the Dodger lead to one with three runs and had the tieing run on third and the lead run on second. Brewer came on to get Al Gallagher and then stopped the Giants the rest of the way without a hit.

"I'm too much of a coward for that kind of stuff," he said.

Boosters Hoping For Better Times

Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, who led the Giants Boosters Club on an athletically disastrous but artistically successful trip to Los Angeles last week, is putting together the club's final 1971 tour to Houston and Cincinnati starting next Monday.

With the pennant race suddenly a race, he expects the final road trip of the season to take on monumental proportions. To help ease the tension for his travelling Boosters in Houston, where the Giants appear jinxed, Murray has scheduled a side trip to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters. The Boosters should really get a boost out of that; maybe they'd better take the Giants along for a lift.

Asked about last week's southland jaunt, Murray frowned: "Well, we had a lot of fun during daylight hours, including a tour of the Queen Mary at Long Beach, but our after-dark schedule was a nightmare." Guess who lost three straight nocturnal tilts to the hated Dodgers?

SHARON WALSH, San Rafael's contribution to big time tennis who has been idled several months by a shoulder ailment, won't return to the tournament trail until December or possibly January, according to her father, photographer Les Walsh.

This squelches the report that appeared in another paper yesterday, listing Miss Walsh as second seeded woman in this week's Central California Open Championships at Sacramento.

The story reported: "This tournament will mark the return to competition of Miss Walsh, the San Rafael teen-ager who twice (1969-70) won the National Girls' 18 championship."

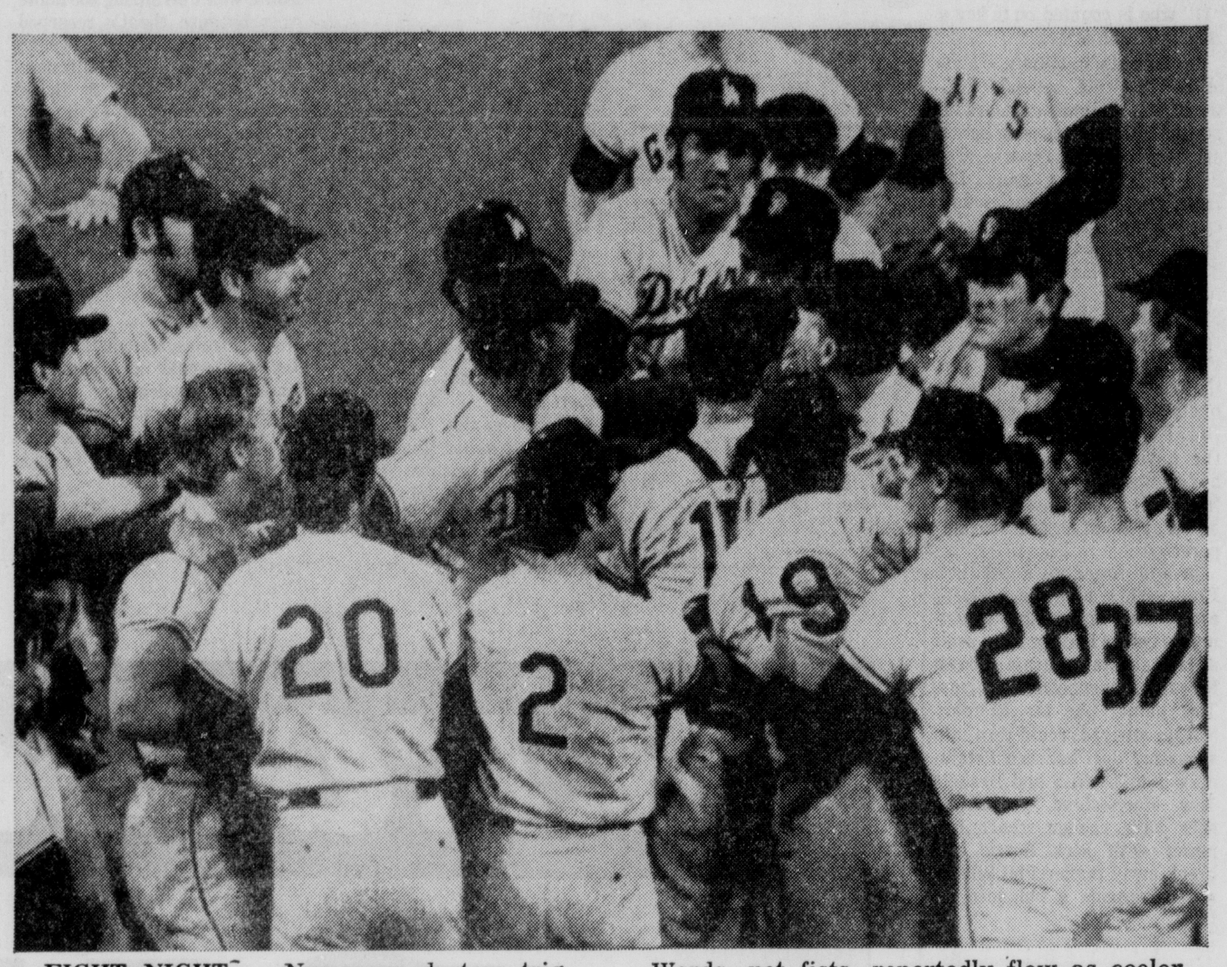
"Don't you believe it," said her proud pop yesterday. "Sharon needs a lot more rest and won't be competing ahty top level until the end of the year at the earliest."

DAVE JUDNICK, the football-baseball star from Novato High, will pursue his athletic and academic ambitions at University of Santa Clara starting this month and the Broncos are happy to land this prize athlete.

Bringing to mind, reports J. B. Arbios of Mill Valley, the Santa Clara Alumni Association's annual stag venison bash will be held Thursday night at the Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

I believe they started this deer feast back in the days when Buck Shaw was the coach, but I'm not sure.

SAN ANSELMO'S Don Alvarado had a hand in on Stanford's 19-0 rout of Missouri in the collegiate football opener Saturday. The former Drake High Flash, second string flanker for the Injuns, caught one pass for 22 yards in his brief appearance.



FIGHT NIGHT— Numerous dusters triggered a near riot in the fifth inning last evening at Candlestick Park as San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers engulfed each other in anger after Giants pitcher Juan Marichal hit Dodger batter Bill Buckner. Words, not fists, reportedly flew as cooler heads ultimately prevailed. Marichal, Buckner and San Francisco reliever Jerry Johnson were ousted from the brawlgame won by the Dodgers, 5-4. IN KANSAS CITY

A's Ready To Clinch It

Their controversial owner, Charles O. Finley, was in San Francisco Tuesday night watching the Giants-Dodgers game. But Finley was armed with a radio. When he heard the A's defeat the Kansas City Royals, 2-1, in 11 innings, Finley made a beeline for a telephone booth.

A telephone call awaited Manager Dick Williams in the Oakland clubhouse. Williams called Jim (Catfish) Hunter, who had just won his 20th game, to the phone and Finley told Hunter he was the owner of a new Cadillac—as soon as the wage-price freeze is lifted.

The victory reduced the A's magic number to two. They can clinch the American League's Western Division title tonight with another victory over the second-place Royals.

"If we win tomorrow (Tuesday) night, the fellows will raise all kinds of hell on the plane to Chicago and probably be up all night," Williams said. "I'll probably use a makeshift lineup for awhile.

"But we've got to keep our noses to the grindstone and win the playoffs, which we're going to do. Winning the playoffs, that's the main thing."

Hunter, understandably, was elated at joining the 20-victory circle.

"This means more than that perfect game will ever mean," said the 25-year-old North Carolinan. "This means that everybody will remember you. And that means everything to me.

"Twenty games comes first for any pitcher. You might win 15 or 16 games and win a World Series game and they'd remember you for that. But 20 victories ... that's the main thing."

Hunter (20-11) scored the winning run Monday night in the 11th on Rick Monday's two-out single. Roland Fingers finished up after Hunter walked the leadoff hitter in the bottom of the inning.

Champagne will not be on the menu tonight if the A's do clinch the division title. But, after Wednesday's doubleheader in Chicago, the team has a day off Thursday and has been invited to Finley's farm in LaPorte, Ind.

A New Running Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Some new wrinkles are being introduced by the San Francisco 49ers to give the offense a bit more of a running attack.

Last year the offensive line lined up shoulder to shoulder to afford quarterback John Brodie maximum protection. As a result, he was dumped only eight times for a National Football League record.

"If we expect to complement our passing with our running, the line has to be split," said new line coach Rich Stanfel. "I've never seen a club consistently move on the ground where the line played shoulder to shoulder."

"We're now averaging 4.2 yards a carry where last year we averaged 3.4," he said. "When you have a guy like Brodie, you're going to throw a lot. But if you have established a running game before the season, you know you have it there it it's needed."

Nolan gave his troops the day off Monday so he and his staff could study films of San Diego's 28-17 exhibition victory over Atlanta. The 49ers open the season at Atlanta Sunday.

The day off was welcome to the 49ers because the mercury climber to more than 100 degrees at their training camp at Redwood City.

49ERS TRADE TUCKER

The 49ers traded fullback Bill Tucker to the Chicago Bears for an undisclosed 1973 draft choice to reduce their roster to 43. Tucker, a 6-2, 220-pound product of Tennessee State, had the misfortune of playing four seasons behind Ken Willard.

"I've been happy in San Francisco," said Tucker, "but a man wants to play, and I think I'll get more of a chance in Chicago. I talked to coach (Jim) Dooley of the Bears and he said "I had a chance to be the starting fullback."

Surprise In Tennis Opener

But a bigger surprise probably is yet to come.

Tournament officials are keeping one eye on the weather in New York and the other on the local tournament. Stan Smith and Czechoslovakia's Jan Kodes, the two top seeds here in men's singles, have been sidelined by rain for three days in a row at Forest Hills in the U.S. Open.

Unless Smith and Kodes and five other players are able to make it to Sacramento by Thursday they will be scratched from active competition and eligible only for exhibitions.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., the fourth seed, defeated 48-year-old Tom Brown, a San Francisco attorney, 6-1, 6-3.

Finals are scheduled for Sunday.

Healthy Raiders Trade Koy

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) —The Oakland Raiders have opened drills at Upsala College minus running back Ted Koy and three other unidentified players.

In order to get down to today's deadline of 40 players, the Raiders traded Koy, a 225-pound, second-year player from Texas, to the Buffalo Bills for undisclosed future draft choices. Three other playets were also either cut or waived but their names were not immediately released.

Koy was the Raiders' second-round draft choice in 1970. He played both tight end and running back and apparently will do the same for the Bills.

Oakland coach John Madden announced that his club would be in fairly decent shape physically for its opener Sunday at Foxboro, Mass., against Jim Plunkett and the New England Patriots.

"We're getting back Charlie Smith, Bob Brown and Ron Mix. They're healthy again," said Madden. Smith is a running back while Brown and Mix are offensive tackles.

That means the Raiders will be missing only running back Hewritt Dixon and linebacker Greg Slough for the opener.

"Greg has stretched ligaments in his right knee," said Madden. "We don't really know now long he'll be out. But no surgery is required so that is good news."

More Rain Threatens U.S. Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —Wet grounds and possibly more rain threatened the finals rounds of the U.S. Open tennis championships Tuesday for the fourth straight day.

The men's singles semi-finals were washed out again Monday and rescheduled for today with third-seeded Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., slated to meet Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia.

N.Y. Giants Trade For Two Starters

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

After finishing the pre-season schedule with a shocking 0-6 record, coach Alex Webster decided that two birds in hand are worth more than one in the bush.

The New York Giants, winding up the pre-season with the worst record in their history, traded their No. 1 draft choice for 1972 to the Chicago Bears in exchange for two starters—center Bob Hyland and cornerback Bennie McRae.

In other transactions the Green Bay Packers asked irrevocable waivers on two veterans and two rookies— including starting tight end John Hilton.

The Philadelphia Eagles reduced their roster to the 40-man minimum by trading running back Cyril Pinder to the Bears, placing four men on the waiver list, and assigning guard Dick Hart to the injured reserve list.

The Minnesota Vikings reached the 40-man limit by trading second year quarterback Bill Cappleman to the Eagles for a future draft choice. Players out were defensive back Ted Provost, linebacker Jerry Hillebrand, and guard Mike Lahoud.

The Baltimore Colts put wide receiver Cotton Speyrer on the injured reserve list and waived injured rookie Gordon Bowdell, another wide receiver, to cut their roster to 42 players.

The Cincinnati Bengals placed star quarterback Greg Cook on the unable to perform list and waived rookie defensive tackle Arthur May, rookie wide receiver Irv Mallory and defensive back Joe Johnson.

Buchanan Retains Title With Unanimous Decision

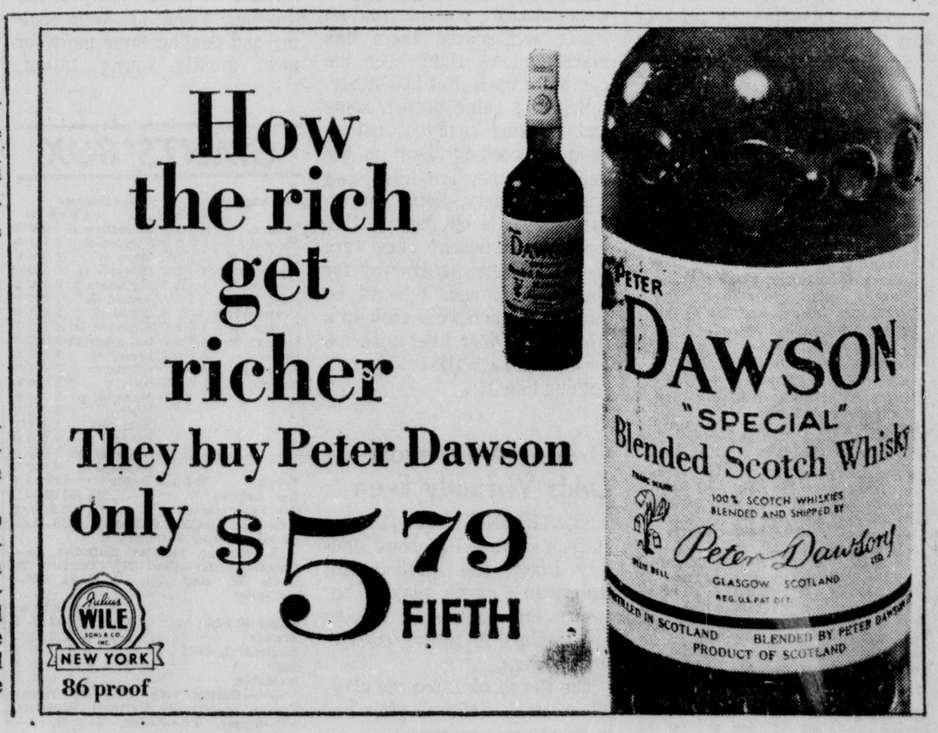
The 26-year-old lad has repaid a debt, and with typical Scottish guile, came up $100,000 richer and still clinging to his world lightweight title by taking a unanimous 15-round decision over Ismael Laguna Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

When Laguna lost the title to Buchanan last year, the Panamanian thought it was only a loan. For the past year, the 28-year-old Laguna has railed against what he considered the injustice of the decision and demanded a rematch so he could reclaim the title.



Full Schedule Of Football For Marin's High Schools

A full schedule is on tap this weekend with eight Marin County high school football teams prepared to participate in the pigskin parade.

On Friday, Redwood High hosts Sacred Heart of San Francisco at 3:30 p.m. in Larkspur, Novato High travels to Riordan of San Francisco to battle the Crusaders at 8 p.m. on Kezar Stadium turf, Terra Linda entertains Santa Rosa High at 8 p.m. at San Rafael High, while Drake visits Petaluma High also at 8 p.m.

On Saturday, San Rafael invades Lincoln in San Francisco at 11 a.m., Tamalpais collides with visiting Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland at 1 p.m. in Mill Valley, Encinal of Alameda invades San Marin at Novato High at 1 p.m., while Marin Catholic goes to Petaluma to face Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park at 8 p.m.

Of the eight, six teams are making their 1971 debuts; Marin Catholic and San Marin registered losses Saturday in their inaugurals.

The two seem optimistic in evening their marks Saturday, particularly the ever-hopeful Bruno Banducci, Marin Catholic's mentor. The affable coach, apparently over his disappointment from the 14-12 heartbreaking defeat by Salesian of Richmond, had his troops thinking victory for Saturday.

His small Wildcats are working on offensive consistency this week and containing Cougar quarterback Steve Wlodarczyk and running back Mike Cooper. Rancho Cotate coach Clyde Brock considers Wlodarczyk an excellent passer and Cooper "a real clutch performer." Both were instrumental in the Cougars' 46-22 win last year over the Wildcats. The winners intercepted 11 passes.

While the Wildcats seek to cut down turnovers, San Marin will try to generate more offense against Encinal of Alameda. The East Bay delegation is an attack-minded aggregate with ability to connect on deep passes; San Marin surrendered four touchdown passes to Gunn High Saturday.

The remaining half-dozen go into their games unbeaten, untied and unplayed. Of this group, San Rafael probably faces the stiffest test, taking on perennial San Francisco power Lincoln.

However, the Bulldogs have power of their own, notably All-League halfback Scot Duncan. The quick back maneuvered for 823 yards on 93 tries and 13 touchdowns last fall, only 317 yards more than teammate Mark Farrar, a hard-charging fullback, according toBulldog coach Bob Muster.

Both this and the Novato-Riordan clash are expected to be free-scoring affairs. The latter tilt pits All-League quarterback Marty Moroski of Novato against the Crusaders' Mike Carey, a junior. Last week, Carey threw a pair of six-pointers to wide receiver Dave Castiglioni covering 26 and 8-yards, respectively in a 32-6 route of Watsonville High.

Tamalpais, without benefit of a scrimmage last week, comes into Saturday's battle with Bishop O'Dowd well rested. The time off should benefit Tam All-League back Cliff Hall, afflicted with a badly chipped left ankle, although he may miss Saturday's encounter. Otherwise, Coach Mike Davlin's Indians should be in good health.

Defending champion Terra Linda's debut against Santa Rosa will feature the debut of heralded transfer quarterback Kevin Donohoe for the host "11" who is counted on to key a rebuilt Trojan attack.

Another Marin County Athletic League title hopeful, Redwood, will attempt to uncork its new-found potent passing punch at Sacred Heart's expense. Unlike the Larkspur gang, the Irish already have a victory chalked up, a 17-8 conquest of Moreau in Hayward last Saturday, thus making it a successful debut for new Irish coach Steve Ellison. They have aspirations of making the Giants victim number two, but first the visitors will have to stop pre-season running sensation Bill Edralin. In scrimmages, the hard-running sophomore has shown fine potential at the fullback slot to unseat incumbent Jay Lehman, at least temporarily.

Patio Club Rally Tips Aliens, 4-3

Wayne Onizaka's two-run, last inning home run enabled Patio Club to record an uphill 4-3 win over the Fabulous Aliens yesterday in San Rafael Recreation Department softball on Albert Field.

In other games: W.E. Joost slammed Timmer Realty, 19-1, and 39 Main clobbered Morwear 11-1. Bob Roby belted three hits and scored thrice to lead W. E. Joost.

Frank Robinson Reaches The 500 Home Run Mark

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Baltimore's Frank Robinson is now a card-carrying member of the "500 Club" but doubts strongly whether the ticket alone is good enough for entry into the Hall of Fame.

Robinson became the 11th man in baseball history to hit 500 career home runs when he smashed Nos. 499 and 500 Monday night. But why is the only player ever to have been selected as the most valuable player in both the National and American Leagues doubtful of his entry into the Hall of Fame?

"My ticket to the Hall of Fame won't be hitting 500 home runs because theat's reserved for guys like Willie Mays or Hank Aaron," the Baltimore star said, adding, "My ticket will be playing on championship clubs."

No. 500 was a two-run shot that came with two outs in the ninth inning of a doubleheader nightcap with Detroit but was of no avail as the Tigers rolled to a 10-5 victory.

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Monday they would not permit the National Broadcasting Co. to televise locally any of their home playoff games if the Pirates win the National League East title.

It would be the first time since the playoffs were inaugurated in 1969 there would be a television blackout.

Swimming

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Triple Olympic Gold Medal winner Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, abandoning talk of retirement, said Monday she would become "a robot again" in an effort to make the U.S. Swimming team for the 1972 Olympics.

"In 1968 I was virtually a robot and did everything my coach told me to do without questioning it," Miss Meyer said. "That's what I'm going to do again."

Golf

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The British Ryder Cup team, faced by the strongest American team ever assembled for the biennial competition, has lost its bid to change scheduling procedures for the three days of play at old Warson Country Club.

Boxing

NEW YORK — Muhammad Ali hopes to give Japan its first look at a real, live heavyweight contender on Nov. 29 when he meets former Marine Mac Foster in a 15-round fight at Tokyo.

Japan is just the next important stop on Ali's trip down the backstreets of the heavyweight division to some rather exotic places, but his only goal is reaching the title again in a rematch with Joe Frazier.

FISH AND GAME

It's Big Salmon Time At California City

By AL GIDDINGS

It's that time of the year for the salmon to show up off California City between Raccoon Strait and Paradise Cove. This past week, some big fish were taken there. One was reported to weigh 60 pounds. There were 86 boats out there Sunday morning. On Saturday, 41, 28, and 22 pounders were logged through the Loch Lomond launching ramp in San Rafael. Frank Spencer, the Marin Rod and Gun Pier keeper, said the Buck Bailey brought in a 25-pounder.

Some stripers have been caught also while trolling for salmon. Last Tuesday and Wednesday, a large school of anchovies was noted all around the MRGC pier. Then the bass came! A couple of the anglers each caught one from the pier, but a fly fisherman or a surface plug caster would have had a field day.

BASS FISHING at the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge is good in the mornings and the evenings. Si Testa and two friends took nine at The Brothers Islands, releasing about fifteen, looking for big ones. The fish caught were between two and five pounds. About 15 stripers were logged into Loch Lomond Saturday. All or most of the fishing is done trolling a pet spoon with a pork rind on a spreader leader with a bugeye as the second lure.

MOST OF you know that the inland deer season opens Sept. 25 thisyear. The wild pig season also opens in Monterey County on that day, running through March 27, 1972. The limit is one pig per day, and one pig in possession. Elsewhere in the state wild pigs may be taken any time of the year, and there is no bag or possession limit. Permission to hunt on private property must be obtained from he landowners.

I HAD a few calls and comments on my column about the Leach fellow from Sacrameno who was including the price of his liquors in the campout food bill. One little old lady called to say that she was happy to see that we had caught the culprit because whiskey and guns don't mix! I gave her Howard's address; he should be getting her letter any day now. Most of the comments were, "We've got a guy that always does the same thing! Now we're going to tell him off!"

ANYWAY, TO finish up that trip, we arrived at Webber Lake in the afternoon. Every camp and cabin was taken. For the first time in 30 years, I had to sleep on the ground there! From now on, I'm keeping my hot spots quiet! We saw the DeVines of Woodacre up there. They were having trout for the group for dinner. They were most successful, using a small grey gnat fly trolling without a sinker. Tommie (aged 6) and Laurie (aged 8) supplied the dinner one night for their group. Papa ran the motor.

We didn't take a boat and there are no rentals at Webber, so we took a jeep road to a back county lake. We caught one fish there, so we sent the boys on a creek fishing expedition. They came back with 11. In camp that evening, we cooked two sage grouse (cut up like frying chicken). Rolled them in flour, browned them in oil in a Dutch oven, added two cups chicken stock, then let them simmer for an hour. Then we added a couple of packages of rice-a-roni. In about 20 minutes, they were ready. They were tops. We put the trout on sticks and cooked them like marshmallows right over the camp fire coals. Not bad either.

Bringing game or fish home and freezing really is not as good as cooking them in the field when they are fresh, and you are hungry. Don't you remember those old days of abalones on the beach? They were the best! I can hardly wait for the evening, and it won't be long now, when we'll cook up a fresh mule deer liver with onions. That sage flavor! There's nothing like it!

Seals Open Camp With New Faces

OSHAWA, Ont. (UPI)—A lot of new faces were in camp during the weekend when the California Golden Seals opened their training camp prior to the 1971-72 season.

Fred Glover, who turned down an executive position with the team to remain as coach, welcomed a healthy, happy group of candidates in the hometown of the Seals new general manager, Garry Young.

Ever since being hired from the Boston Bruins early in the summer, Young has been dealing and dealing some more for new, mostly young, talent.

Orioles-A's Playoff Odds Virtually Even

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Harrah's Tahoe Racebook Monday listed the forthcoming American League playoff between the Baltimore Orioles and Oakland Athletics as "virtually" even.

The Racebook listed the playoff as 10-11, which is pick 'em in man-to-man wagering.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Canadian Firm's Sales Promising

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What is your opinion of investing in Canadian stocks in view of President Nixon's new import tax and "floating dollar" proposals? What issue would you suggest? — I.D.

A. Since the Canadian dollar has already been "allowed" to float freely for some time vis-a-vis the U.S. dollar, the new measures have had only a minimal effect between the two currencies. However, Canadian stocks such as Dome Mines which derives the bulk of its revenues from its gold mining interests, would be temporarily affected by the cutting of the U.S. dollar from gold. Longer term, though, this monetary development would prove beneficial.

The U.S. import tax would penalize certain Canadian industrial companies, but it does not apply to oil or gas and to imports that are presently under a treaty umbrella. An example of the latter is the 1965 U.S./Canadian Auto Pact. A specific case in point is Van Der Hout Associates, a fast growing Canadian company, which I've mentioned here before.

Van Der Hout, in a joint operation with Maremont Corp., manufactures shock absorbers, the bulk of which are exported to the rapidly-expanding U.S. market. The auto pact exempts these exports. In fact, higher U.S. auto sales, which are now expected because of the recision of the 7 per cent excise tax, should actually benefit Van Der Hout's future operations. A further boost to sales could result if Congress enacts proposed legislation requiring shock absorbing bumpers on all new cars.

On a consolidated basis, Van Der Hout should report earnings of around $0.85 per share this year, up from 1970's $0.70. The uptrend is expected to continue over the next several years. Finances are sound. Van Der Hout, currently selling at a modest multiple of 10X, is a Canadian company that continues to have excellent long-term appreciation potentialities. Shares are traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Stocks Are Lower For Fourth Day

NEW YORK (UPI) —Traders and investors, awaiting the economic program to follow the wage-price-rent freeze, pushed the stock market lower for the fourth day in a row today. Turnover was light.

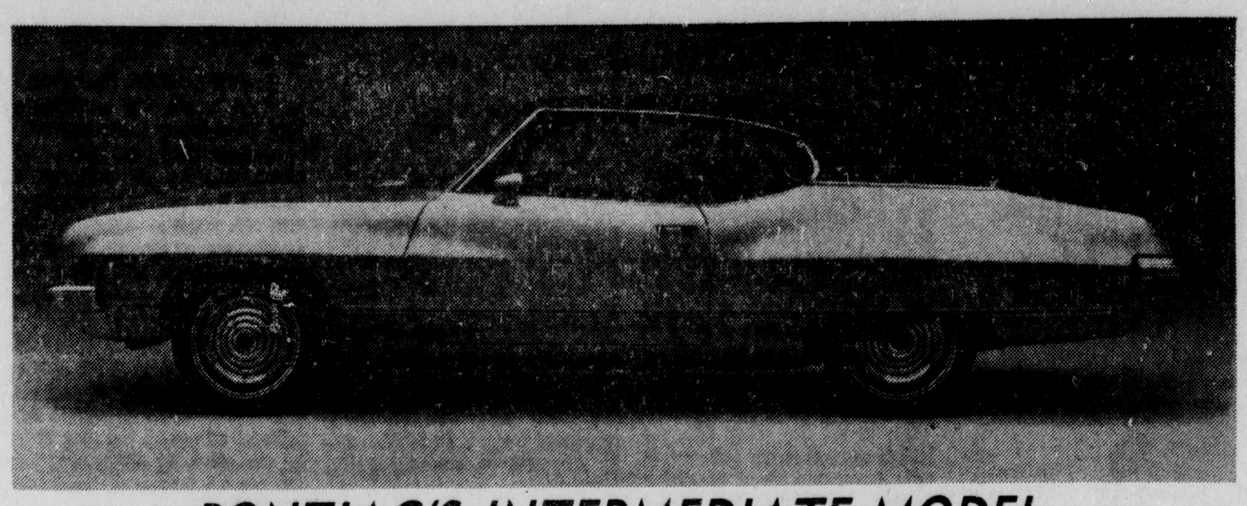
President Nixon met last week with labor leaders and with representatives of big business Monday to discuss what approach to take. He met with leaders of farm organizations and congressional leaders to work out the details of phase two when the freeze expires Nov. 13.

StandardStandard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.24 at 99.83, while declines topped advances, 657 to 412, among the 1,443 issues crossing the tape.

Prices also eased in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were House of Fabrics down a point on 30,000 shares, Leisure Technology Corp. up about a point on 23,000 shares, and Instrument Systems fractionally higher on 20,000 shares.

On the Big Board steel surrendered fractions. Oils and chemicals were mostly lower. Airlines were steady to easy.



PONTIAC'S INTERMEDIATE MODEL

The LeMans will offer a wide choice of two-door coupes, two and four-door hardtops, sport convertibles, four-door sedans and two and three-seat station wagons with dual hinged tailgates. Four-door models are built on a 116-inch wheelbase and two-door models have 112 inches. They will be offered Sept. 23 at Marin Automobile Co., San Rafael.

BUICK'S NEW SUN MODEL

A folding vinyl sun roof is offered for the first time this year on the Buick 350 sport coupe. It is also available on special order for other Buick intermediate hardtop coupes and a power-operated steel sun roof is available on the 1972 Riviera. Buicks will be sold in Marin at Don Collins Buick, San Rafael.

Sign Companies Acquired By Building Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — American Building Maintenance Industries has announced the acquisition of Sign Maintenance Inc. of Los Angeles and its affiliated corporations — Sign Maintenance of San Diego Inc. and Apex Sign Corp. — for an undisclosed amount of cash.

The companies are engaged in the business of display sign maintenance and building lighting maintenance throughout California under the name S M I Industries.

The sign maintenance side of the business serves nearly 15,000 customer locations under contracts with major petroleum companies, banks, supermarket chains and department stores.

Ralph C. Townsend, the founder of the company, will remain as president under a long-term agreement and no other personnel changes are contemplated.

Distribution Pact

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (BW) — Renault Motors of France and Aeroceanic Corp. have entered into an international distribution agreement. Under terms of the agreement, Renault will distribute Aeroceanic's gray marine engines and aero-marine jet-paks throughout France and parts of Africa. Aeroceanic will distribute Renault marine engines in the United States, according to C. R. Salmon, president of Aeroceanic.

California Condor Faces Rugged, Hazardous Life

By DARRYL STEWART
Toronto Telegram Syndicate
(Seventh of 12 articles)

Toward the end of the Pleistocene epoch some 10,000 years ago, a huge ancestor of the California condor flourished throughout the southern United States as far as Florida.

Fossil remains indicate that it was a gigantic bird and must have sported a wingspread of about 19 feet, but in all other respects it very loosely resembled our present-day bird.

The California condor is one of the largest-flying birds in the world — certainly the largest found in North America. It weighs 20 to 25 pounds and has a wingspread of 9½ to 10 feet.

Adult condors are all dark-brown or black, except for a triangle of white feathers on the underside of the wings. The head is a bare orange. Together with its beady eyes, the bird conveys a sinister appearance which does nothing to improve its general image. As a matter of fact, the condor is a harmless and timid bird and its benefit as a scavenger cannot be overestimated. Also, the condor is a much cleaner bird than is generally accredited; one of its favorite habits is to assemble on the bank of some secluded mountain pool and spend hours at a time bathing.

From its perch on a tree or rock, the bird launches itself into the air with a few great flaps of its wings. In flight, the condor is poetry in motion. The bird soars on its outstretched wings for miles in the same motionless position. By riding the up-draft it can travel about 40 miles an hour at altitudes up to three miles.

In historic times, California condors were found from the Columbia River in Oregon, south to northern Baja California, and east to southwest Utah. Here they were to be seen soaring in their hundreds.

The Lewis and Clark expedition reported sightings of the bird along the Columbia River in 1806. The Indians of the southwest revered the condor and called it the "Thunderbird."

California Condor

Hazards to the survival of the California condor include, among other things, careless hunters, diseased carrion, power lines, malicious rock-throwers, and pesticides.

The bird itself is in some ways its worst enemy. The condor does not mate until it is six years old. The female produces only one egg every two years. It's believed that the male takes only one mate in a lifetime.

Compounding the problem is the condor's fear of people. During the crucial five-month nesting period, when the infant condor is gathering strength for its first flight, the parents will abandon their young if human beings come too close.

At present, the status of the California condor is regarded as endangered. Its very small population is slowly declining in numbers. Estimated population would indicate a maximum of between 60 and 80 individual birds.

However, protective measures are already being taken. Two sanctuaries have been established by the U.S. Forest Service, including a 53,000-acre refuge northeast of Santa Barbara. Shooting has been prohibited by California State law, with penalties up to a year in jail or a $1,00 fine (or both). A condor-management plan has also been set up for Los Padros National Forest by a full-time condor biologist, and an annual condor survey is conducted by the California Department of Fish and Game.

The National Audubon Society has also vigorously campaigned to save the condor. This group has given wide distribution to a leaflet carrying the slogan "don't shoot any large dark bird."

Today, the entire California condor population is restricted to the Southern coast ranges from Monterey County south to the Transverse Mountains and north in the Sierra Nevada foothils to Fresno County. It is therefore one of the rarest and most isolated birds on earth.

The only way the condor can be saved is for state and federal agencies to tighten protective measures with regard to the nesting areas. Stricter prohibition of firearms and meaningful restrictions on oil drilling within the condor's range are also needed.

It is certainly worth any cost and effort to ensure the survival of this magnificent and unique species of our native wildlife.

Air Pollution Suspected Of Causing Dermatitis

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—A doctor in a coal mining area in Wales wrote a colleague here that he found the skin of his patients affected by the chemicals in the air. The colleague had already noted the same loss of tone in the skin of those of his patients who lived and worked in New York City.

So, to all the other charges levied against it, air pollution is now suspected in a condition which a dermatologist writing in the magainze, "Clinical Medicine," has suggested might be called "dermatitis Urbis" — city skin.

Dr. Irwin I. Lubowe, Clinical Professor of Dermatology at New York Medical College, who got the letter from Dr. H. Harrop-Griffiths of Newport, Wales, pointed out in the article that the skin is the largest organ of tha body and that its most significant function is providing protecting against heat, dust, wind, sun, cold, radioactive fallout "and other noxious agents."

"Can we not conjecture," he wrote, "that continuous exposure of the skin of urban residents to noxious air pollutants may either cause or precipitate a dermatosis, particularly in the aging female whose sebaceous glands are diminishing in function?

"The visible signs of the aging skin may become more apparent when it is continuously exposed to the air pollutants."

In other words, Dr. Lubowe said, the skin can fight off the present level of air pollution for some time while it is young and healthy but the older the city dweller the more apt he or she is to find it is a losing battle against chemicals loosed by the combustion of coal and oil, automobile fuel, and fats in incinerators not to mention "sootfall, dustfall, fly ash and animals droppings."

Dr. Lubowe quoted statistics that 232 American cities of over 50,000 inhabitants have serious air pollution problems with consequent rise in respiratory conditions.

"It does not seem unwarranted," he wrote, "to conjecture that these many hazardous contaminants may not have an effect only on the pulmonary system but that this combination of noxious agents, with continuous exposure for long periods of time, will affect the epidermis and cutaneous systems as well.

"The disintegrating effect of sulphur dioxide on nylon stockings and its erosion of marble and granite are well known. An adverse effect on the skin is to be expected. In office practice we see an increased incidence of skin and hair conditions.

"The possible relationship of air pollutants and skin health cannot be dismissed lightly."

Dr. Lubowe said, however, that it should be well within the knowledge of dermatological science to formulate a protective cream that would reduce the effect of air contaminants.

Closed Meeting

The San Rafael Fire Commission will hold a closed meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the city hall to discuss appointing a new fire chief.

Moratorium To Be Discussed

A proposed moratorium on apartments and townhouses in Novato will be discussed at a meeting of the San Marin Improvement Association at 8 p.m. tomorrow at San Marin High School library.

Planning director Brian W. Mattson and Evelyn Johnson, secretary of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations, are scheduled to participate.

The federation has proposed a moratorium on apartments and townhouses until the city's general plan is revised.

By CRAIG A. PALMER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —How Ludwig von Beethoven could compose such musical masterpieces when almost stone deaf has been one of the mysteries of the past century and a half. Now comes a new theory on how he got so deaf —and so ugly.

Paget's disease, says Dr. V. S. Naiken of the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia. Paget's is a disease —so-named for 19th Century British surgeon and bone disease expert Sir James Paget who identified it —of unknown cause that is said to affect about 2 per cent of people over 40.

The victims are particularly susceptible to cancer of the bone, producing an enzyme called alkaline phosphatase, and their bodies manufacture bone too quickly. This often results in nervous system complications, crippling deformity, abnormally enlarged head and vertebrae collapse.

Naiken published his theory that Beethogen had Paget's disease in Annals of Internal Medicine, a scientific monthly journal of the American College of Physicians.

Others have diagnosed Beethoven's troubles as otosclerosis (formation of spongy bone in the ear's labyrinth), nerve deafness, labyrinthitis (inflammation of the labyrinth) and syphilis.

The renowned composer began to experience deafness for high tones when he was 26 and suffered earache, ringing and whistling in his ears, facial twitching and violent headaches, leading to near-total deafness at 52. He died five years later, in 1827.

The fact that Beethoven's hearing problem started 14 years before he was 40 throws Naiken a little, he admits in his treatise. "The only argument against Paget's disease, in our opinion, would be the early onset of deafness, at age 26," he wrote.

Drawings On Display

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

IDEA #2 Blot-up spots!
Pick-up liquid spots on carpet with a towel, put another towel atop the spot, and weight it down 8 hours to absorb more moisture.

IDEA #3
Consider colorful sheets for decorating kids' rooms. Use them to skirt tables, curtain windows, create canopies, make headboards (shirr and staple to plywood).

PONTIAC PICKETS CLOSE GM PLANT

School busing foes succeeded today in closing down the General Motors Corp. Fisher Body plant despite threats by the company and the United Auto Workers to discipline employees who observed the picket lines.

Approximately 500 pickets massed in front of three gates and jeered workers who crossed their lines. They also argued with UAW representatives on hand to remind workers of their contractual obligations.

It was apparent that most workers decided not even to show up at the plant and most of those who did came with the intention of going to work.

At first, GM officials thought they could begin operating the production line on schedule thought at 6 a.m.

"I think we've got enough to run it," Charles Wright, a Fisher Body labor relations staffmember said after taking a head count at one of three gates.

However, at 6:20 a.m., the company said it was closing the plant because "less than half" of the 650-man contingent of the first shift showed up.

Another 1,300 were due to begin work at 6:30.

Many of them stood across from the main gate at a bar and watched the anti-busing pickets before either going into the bar or returning home.

A Fisher Body spokesman said officials would try to reopen the plant when the afternoon shift of approximately 2,000 begins reporting at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Irene McCabe, president of the National Action group (NAG) which organized the picketing against the world's largest manufacturing corporation, said the group's success in closing the plant proved the forces opposed to court-ordered pupil busing have more power than people think.

Mrs. McCabe said the group wants to force GM to lobby for legislation prohibiting cross-town busing to achieve school integration.

School busing opponents said they want to close the plant, the smallest of GM's three complexes in Pontiac, to show "we haven't lost our political clout."

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES— Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax today took pity on a Pacific Telephone Co. workman stuck in a manhole at Second and Lincoln streets in San Rafael during the 100-degree plus weather. Asked if he'd like a cold drink, the workman was rewarded in quadruple. The manhole cover made a convenient table for refreshments from a nearby drive-in restaurant.

Searing Heat To Continue: First Bay Smog Alert

Woodacre Registers 111-Degree Reading As Entire Area Suffers

A near-record searing heat wave — accompanied by the Bay Area's first smog alert — continued today as Marin and Southern Sonoma counties sweltered along with other sections of both Northern and Southern California.

The weatherman cautiously predicted that fog may start cooling Southern California tomorrow and gradually begin moving northward, but no immediate end to the hot weather was promised.

The thermometer hit 111 degrees in Woodacre yesterday, but the temperature may have been even higher, according to Stanley Rowan, Marin County assistant fire chief. He said that the mechanism at the fire station used for recording temperatures only goes as high as 111.

Along with the heat, came eye-stinging smog, and the first smog alert in history was called by the Bay Area Air Pollution District, which asked at 11 a.m. yesterday that Bay Area residents stop all but essential auto driving and discontinue outdoor burning, including barbecues. The alert was still in effect today.

Stinson Beach State Park today was closed because of a water shortage in the beach town, according to Col. George H. White, volunteer fire chief.

He said that the hot weather had brought many visitors to the beach in the past few days and that this, combined with a high evaporation rate in the springs and creeks feeding the water system, caused a shortage.

Col. White said he had asked that the state park be closed until further notice.

He also planned to send a fire truck around today, asking Stinson Beach residents not to water their lawns, wash their cars or otherwise use water excessively, he said.

The weatherman said that the heat was being caused by a high pressure front about 500 miles west of Seattle which is preventing cooling fog and breezes from coming into the West Coast.

Today was expected to be about the same as yesterday, where only on the coast were such relatively low temperatures as 86 degrees in Bolinas recorded. (Even normally cool San Francisco had a 99-degree high yesterday.)

Other Marin and Southern Sonoma county high temperatures for yesterday included:

San Francisco Boycott Eases

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Parents in Chinatown and other parts of the city kept thousands of children home again today in a protest against busing, but elementary school principals said the number attending classes had increased slightly.

About 21,000 of the city's 50,000 elementary school students—41 per cent—stayed home Monday as San Francisco became the largest city in the country to carry out court-ordered elementary desegregation at one stroke.

A spot check of schools by UPI today showed that attendance was up slightly, but the boycott was still nearly universally observed in Chinatown, the center of antibusing sentiment.

At Treasure Island naval base, another bastion of antibusing sentiment, 392 out of 925 students attended today —42 per cent. There were 308 students —or 33 per cent—in class Monday.

The boycott remained peaceful. School Superintendent Thomas Shaheen termed the program a success, particularly because of the lack of violence or disruption.

"We are extremely pleased that it has been a safe day," Shaheen told a late afternoon news conference. "Anyone who wanted to come to school was not prevented from doing so ..."

Shaheen said 29,000 of the elementary school students, or 41 per cent, were absent on the first day, but he could not indicate how many of those absent were assigned to ride buses to transport them to schools outside their own neighborhoods.

"It's much too early in the week to tell who rode the buses and who didn't," he said.

Shaheen said the normal ab-

8 Attica Deaths Laid To Gunshots

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—A medical examiner reported today that eight of the 10 hostages killed in the Attica state prison revolt died of gunshot wounds.

Ten hostages and 30 prisoners died in the five-day revolt which was broken up Monday when state troopers, National Guardsmen and sheriffs' deputies stormed the facilities.

It was not immediately known who fired the shots at the hostages—the prisoners or the storming troopers.

A spokesman for the Monroe County Medical Center in Rochester where the autopsies were performed said eight died of gunshot wounds.

Cause of death of a ninth hostage was not known immediately. A 10th died Saturday after he was thrown out of a window.

Prison officials had said previously that some of the hostages had their necks slashed by the convicts.

Earlier today, two more convicts' bodies were found, boosting the toll to 40 in the bloodiest prison revolt in modern U.S. times.

The toll was expected to rise higher.

Prison officials said six missing convicts may be dead in the maze of tunnels beneath the 54 acre facility. Some 100 prisoners were wounded, many seriously, when state troopers, national guardsmen and sheriffs' deputies stormed the prison Monday.

President Nixon told Republican congressional leaders in Washington today the loss of life would have been even greater if New York officials had not moved Monday to end the five day uprising.

Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the President initiated the discussion of Attica at a two-hour conference at the White House.

Three black House members said in Washington the revolt stemmed from dehumanizing conditions which they said existed in prisons throughout the country.

Reps. Shirley Chisholm and Charles B. Rangel, both New York Democrats, and Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., said in a joint statement that the need for prison reform "has been dramatically brought to our attention."

The FBI apparently has sent warnings to a number of prisons and law enforcement agencies around the country to be on the lookout for prison riots. Acting on an FBI warning, sheriffs' deputies conducted a cell-by-cell search Monday of the Wayne County jail in Detroit.

The Attica dead included 10

Fairfax Hits Clause In Leased Housing

With little discussion the council voted to drop its requirement that rental aid be given only to persons who had been living in the city for a year, and instead merely give first priority to the city's residents.

The revised statement was proposed by Gerald J. Hood, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Hood told councilmen that the commission had long felt that the county's housing authority — which has never approached Fairfax on the subject — should take action to get the requirement removed, since it was declared unconstitutional in 1970 by U.S. District Court.

Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet told the council that the residency requirement should be struck down because anybody who could afford to pay rent in Fairfax for a year without help obviously needed no such help as leased housing.

Hood was unprepared for the council's swift action on the matter and had even brought Corte Madera Councilman Edward W. Colthurst to back up his case if necessary.

Federal legislation providing low rent housing by leasing units in existing privately owned structures requires approval of any such program by cities involved and some cities attached residency restrictions to their approval.

Two Marin cities, Larkspur and San Rafael still have a residency requirement.

Fairfax will now grant first preference in subsidized housing to residents of one year, second to persons living in the city when they apply and last to other Marin County residents.

San Rafael Streets To Become One-Way

By C. P. McCARTHY

The San Rafael City Council last night approved a plan to make portions of A, B, C and D streets one-way.

A Street will be northbound and B Street southbound between Second Street and Fifth Avenue, and C Street will be northbound and D Street southbound between First Street and Fifth Avenue.

Ely Caillouette Jr., city engineer, said the new pattern will be in effect by Nov. 15.

Approval came on a unanimous vote by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilmen Fred E. Jensen and Harry A. Barbier. Councilmen John A. Miskimen and Lawrence F. Mulryan were not present.

The move was recommended by the city's traffic committee which met Sept. 8.

In recommending the one-way pattern for the north-south streets, the committee deleted its previous recommendation that Fourth Street be one-way eastbound and Fifth Avenue westbound between Irwin and G streets.

That plan met criticism at a public hearing June 14 by persons who said making Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue one-way would benefit drivers rushing through San Rafael and would not help residents, businessmen and shoppers in the downtown area.

Eighteen persons attending the public hearing last night, and there was no opposition to the traffic committee's revised recommendation.

Caillouette said the reason Fourth and Fifth had been deleted from the proposal was upcoming sewer construction projects on the streets which would make changing the traffic pattern more difficult.

Those streets can still be made one-way at a later time, he said.

Making the north-south streets, as well as Fourth and Fifth, one-way were among recommendations in a 1969 study of downtown San Rafael traffic flow prepared by D. Jackson Faustman, a Sacramento traffic consultant.

The traffic committee is headed by Norris M. Rawles, director of public works. Other members are Caillouette; Herbert G. Hotchner, planning director; Chief of Police Joseph J. Brusatori, and City Mgr. James H. McCown.

Prior to the council's action last night, John R. Wolf, advance planner, reported on the results of a poll of about 400 downtown business operators conducted by the planning department.

Fifty-three per cent of those responding said they generally favored one-way streets for improving traffic, but only 19 per cent said they favored making Fourth Street one-way, Wolf reported.

Thant Says He Will Not Serve

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General U Thant said today he would not serve beyond the end of this year "under any circumstance."

He told a news conference that he did not think the question of a draft to keep him in office will arise.

"I want to make it very clear that I will not serve beyond my present term, whether for two years, one year or three months, under any circumstance."

Thant's statement was the strongest and most specific on the subject since he first announced his decision last Jan. 18.

"My decision is final and categorical," he said.

McGovern Escapes Firebombing Injury In Saigon; New Rioting

SAIGON (UPI)—A firebomb exploded tonight against a Roman Catholic church where Sen. George McGovern, D.-S.D., was meeting with religious and student leaders. McGovern was not hurt in this latest outbreak of anti-American violence.

As McGovern and four aides fled from the church, persons on the outside threw rocks at them and there were "noises like firecrackers going off," an aide said. He said he could not determine whether the noises were shots or firecrackers.

Flames spread over eight motor vehicles parked beside the church. American and South Vietnamese military police and demolition teams rushed to the scene where they found two other unexploded bombs.

McGovern raced from the church escorted by American MPS while a growing crowd of Vietnamese gathered outside the tall iron gates.

"It was very scary," an aide said. "We don't know who was behind it."

McGovern, the only announced candidate for the 1972 Democratic Presidential nomination, returned to Saigon tonight from Cam Ranh Bay where he toured the Army's drug treatment center.

The attack against the church followed widespread anti-American violence in Saigon where firebomb attacks by terrorists riding motorbikes hit at least four other American vehicles today and seriously hurt a U.S. Navy petty officer.

Hue, the ancient imperial capital of Indochina, was declared off limits to Americans today following antiAmerican rioting there Monday. Those riots were sparked when a U.S. soldier shot and killed a Vietnamese youth who the soldier said had stolen a GI's watch.

McGovern had gone to the private meeting tonight in a Vietnamese taxi. An aide said the antiwar senator had just finished speaking when the powerful blast rocked the church.

South Vietnamese police and heavily armed militiamen blocked the closed gates to the churchyard and would not allow U.S. demolition team jeeps inside.

U.S. embassy officials called to the scene refused to talk to newsmen.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was informed of the incident, and American officials went to see McGovern at his suite in the Caravelle Hotel to which he returned after the bomb incident.

Fire In Mendocino Burns 2,000 Acres

CORNING (UPI)—A brush and timber fire burned 2,000 acres in the Mendocino National Forest today as 400 firefighters struggled to control the blaze about 20 miles west of this Tehama County community.

U.S. Forest Service crews, assisted by the state Forestry Service and teams from the state Department of Corrections, were hampered by difficult terrain.

Smog Officials To Eye Reports

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Criticism of annual reports that conclude air quality is improving will be considered by Bay Area smog officials tomorrow — meeting during a spell of severe air pollution.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors recently criticized the annual report by the district's staff, and referred it to the technical committee for its analysis. The committee will meet at 10 a.m. in district offices, 939 Ellis Street.

The ad hoc committee on odor will meet first at 9 a.m., and the ad hoc committee on upset and breakdown procedures by industry will meet at 1:30 p.m.

Status Of Storms

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Weakening tropical storm Heidi skirted Massachusetts' famed Cape Cod today and steered toward chilly Nova Scotia, while sister storm Edith stalled off the Mexican coast some 180 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

Hurricane Ginger, a 100 mile an hour storm, howled northeastward across the New York-to-Europe shipping lanes and was so farout at sea the U. S. Weather Service stopped issuing advisories on it.

In the Caribbean Sea, meanwhile, forecasters said a tropical depression with winds to 35 m.p.h. moved across the Windward Islands and was expected to continue drifting westward about 5 m.p.h. Weatherman said heavy rains in this depression may cause some flash flooding in the Windward Islands from Grenada north to Martinique.

Will Keep Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Miles W. Kirkpatrick, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) chairman whose regulatory crackdown has angered some businessmen, plans to keep his job despite reports that the administration wants to promote him out of it.

Kirkpatrick said yesterday in an interview he would decline either job reportedly to be offered him — a judgeship on the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia or the post of ambassador to Belgium. Kirkpatrick, 53, emphasized that he doubted the reports were true, anyway. He said no one in the administration had criticized his work at the FTC or hinted another job might be in the offing.

He indicated he was publicly responding to the reports because of their adverse effect on FTC personnel.

To Ask Devaluation

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The six European Common market nations will urge the United States tomorrow to devalue the dollar, abolish its 10 per cent surcharge on imports, and join other countries in restoring world monetary order.

"We are really going to sock it to them," one Common Market official said today.

The Common Market's tough stand emerged from a seven-hour meeting Monday of the finance and economics ministers of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The ministers met to draw up a common position on reform of the international monetary system, thrown into confusion by President Nixon's new economic policies.

Ovation For Duke

MOSCOW (UPI) — Duke Ellington's first audience of Russian jazz fans loved him madly, worked him overtime and wore him out.

"How much better an audience can you get?" Ellington said today of his band's opening night in Leningrad yesterday.

"There were thousands of people packed into this tremendous, modern hall — I'd say seven or eight thousand — and not everyone who wanted to get in could get in.

"The program was supposed to last from eight p.m. to 10, but the encores ran till 11. They were still applauding at 11 p.m. — they wanted more. Nobody forced them to do this, they just wanted more," he said.

Mideast Plea Set

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Cairo's semiofficial Al Ahram newspaper said today Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad will appear before the U.N. General Assembly in the first half of November to discuss the Middle East conflict.

The Newspaper said Riad will be in New York Sept. 21 to head Egypt's delegation to the General Assembly, which opens its 26th session that day.

It said Riad will meet with the Big Four foreign ministers, apparently as part of Egypt's announced diplomatic offensive to round up support for its forthcoming U.N. campaign against Israel. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has said Egypt will bring up the Middle East situation "in its entirety" at the United Nations.

Al Ahram said Riad will address the assembly in late September or early October then will return to Cairo. It said he will return to New York in the first half of November "to discuss the Middle East crisis at the General Assembly after some facts of this crisis will have been disclosed."

The newspaper did not say what those facts were.

Snipers At Work

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A sniper shot and wounded a British soldier in Londonderry today in a series of clashes between gunmen, rock-throwing youths and soldiers, an army spokesman said.

In Belfast, a parcel marked "bomb" but containing only a brick, lured troops and police into the White Rock area of the Roman Catholic Springfield Road area where snipers opened fire, security forces spokesmen said.

Later, six shots smashed into an army post in the Creggan area near the Roman Catholic Bogside area of Londonderry and troops fired back at a gunman carrying a pistol, the spokesman said.

250,000 Rock Fans

AVANDARO, Mexico (UPI) — The first rock festival ever held in Latin America attracted 250,000 persons and resulted in the death of five persons, including two persons who police said drowned while swimming under the influence of marijuana.

Atty. Gen. Pedro Ojeda said last night the government would open an investigation of the festival, which brought a widespread indignation.

"It is obvious crimes were committed while state police failed to act," said Ojeda. He said he was referring to the widespread smoking of marijuana and other drugs last weekend.

8 Feared Drowned

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — Eight persons, including two volunteer firemen, were missing and feared drowned by heavy flooding of creeks and streams here and in the Norristown area 30 miles northeast of this community.

The two firemen and three other persons were last seen shortly before a 12-foot retaining wall along Chester Creek, in the heart of the business district, collapsed and sent a wall of water pouring into the streets.

Flooding occurred on many creeks and streams in Southeastern Pennsylvania following four days of rain. The weather bureau said nearly five inches had fallen.

Disposal Of Mercury Is Blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Michigan State University professor told the American Chemical Society today that "improper disposal" of mercury-containing products may be primarily responsible for mercuric poisoning of the environment.

The professor, Dr. Frank M. D'Itri, gave the society an account of the historic causes of mercury poisoning of human beings.

"It is becoming more evident," he said, "that the mercury discharges by the many companies that use mercury in their manufacturing operations, while significant, are only minor contributions of the total mercury lost to the world's environment."

"Rather," he said, "the largest sources of mercury discharged into the environment each year may result from the improper disposal od hundreds of manufactured products which contain mercury."

D'Itri also indic ted the growing combusion of coal and other fossil fuels which has poured more and more mercury poisoning into the environment since the birth of the industrial revolution in the 18th Century.

He cited increased amounts of mercury found in museum-preserved fish caught in the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, Lake Erie, and Lake St. Clair between 1920 and 1965.

He attributed the increase in mercury in Lake Erie fish to fallout from burning mercury-containing coal.

Other sources of mercury contamination, D'Itri said, include combustion of wastes, smelting of ores, and introduction of mercury into sewer systems by hospitals, laboratories, and the general populace through use of commonplace products containing mercurials.

D'Itri said the most ancient literature of Western civilization contains references to "mercury contamination capable of harming human beings." When the use of coal in the industrial revolution came along mercury pollution rose abruptly and has been increasing ever since.

Shooting Spree Over License

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—A laborer enraged because his nephew's wife wanted a driver's license shot three persons Monday night while screaming he would kill the woman, police said.

"Women who drive betray their husbands," authorities said Gennaro dell'Omo, 47, repeatedly told Teresa Puca Chiariello, 29. She ignored him and continued with driving lessons both from a school and from her husband, 31, a licensed chauffeur.

Police said Monday night dell'Omo encountered the couple in the Naples suburb of sant'Antimo where all three live, quarreled with them again, and shouted, "if you insist on getting a license, I'll kill you." His pistol shots missed the Chiariellos but wounded three passers-by in the leg, none seriously.

NADER HITS TAX RELIEF PROGRAM

Consumer Advocate Calls For Passage Of $4 Billion Temporary Tax Refund

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ralph Nader asked Congress today to reject the tax reduction package in President Nixon's new economic program and instead pass a $4 billion temporary tax refund for all consumers.

The consumer advocate told the House Ways and Means Committee that Nixon's proposals for tab relief for business would lead to "expensive and permanently inequitable tax cuts."

Nader said Nixon's proposed 10 per cent tax credit for industrial equipment this year and a permanent 5 per cent credit next year, coupled with his other tax proposals, amounted to $9.3 billion to "make 1971 the year of the greatest business tax cut in our history."

Instead, Nader said, there should be a $50 individual tax refund. He said the $50 refund would amount to a $4 billion temporary refund for all consumers, while the $2.2 billion personal tax cut advocated by the President would benefit higher income taxpayers more than average and low income persons.

"The personal tax cuts are a poor mask for the administration's attempt to permanently cut corporate taxes by 20 per cent," Nader said.

Nixon today scheduled a meeting with leaders of farm organizations to discuss his economic program. He met last week with labor leaders and Monday sat down with representatives of big business. Thursday he will confer with the Executive Committee of the National Governors' Conference and Friday with congressional leaders, as the administration attempts to work out the details of "phase two" of the economic plan, which will follow the current 90-day wage-price freeze.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said Nixon also will schedule a session with consumer groups, probably this week.

Spokesmen for industrial groups told the House committee today the investment tax credit should be increased. They said new plants and equipment the credit would make possible would help lift the sluggish economy.

Nader said his proposed $50 consumer tax refund should let consumers spend money where they wanted. He said Nixon's proposed repeal of the 7 per cent auto tax to stimulate auto sales was a "poor choice" because it would merely add to air pollution and traffic Congestion

Business representatives who met with Nixon Monday said they advocated direct federal enforcement of long-term wage-price controls. Earlier, AFLCIO president George Meany had called for a board made up of labor, business and the general public to oversee voluntary controls after the freeze ends in mid-November.

James M. Roche, chairman of General Motors, rejected this.

"I think the tripartite board would be very difficult to work out under these conditions," he asaid. "Policy decisions should be in the hands of the government."

Meany responded that government controls would amount to fascism. He said, "if you have wage controls by government, you're going to have everything controlled by government."

Death Of Man Is Under Probe

ELKO, Nev. (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies are investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of an unidentified man whose body was found in a gravel pit east of here.

District Attorney Mark Scott said the victim's hands and feet were bound and the body was wrapped in a blanket. He said the victim had apparently been strangled.

The man was a white male adult. An autopsy was ordered by County Coroner E. P. Lunsford.

A-Brandy Developed By Soviets

The 15 scientists, from the Soviet Food, Fish and Atomic Energy ministries, gave details of their brandy-making process to the United Nations "Atoms for Peace" conference.

"The use of ionizing radiations for the acceleration of ripening of cognac alcohol is very promising," their joint paper said.

"Ripening of cognac alcohol infused in oak shavings irradiated with 200 rads is completed in 10 to 15 days instead of three years required by the routine method."

The scientists, whose presentation was titled "The Use of Ionizing Radiation in Food Technology," did not say whether their brandy would be puf on the market.

Drugs Everywhere, McGovern Is Told

McGovern, the only announced candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, toured the army's drug treatment center at Cam Ranh Bay 85 miles northeast of Saigon on the second day of his three-day visit to the war zone.

During the course of military briefings, McGovern asked if the South Vietnamese government has been cooperating in a drug availability crackdown as has been reported.

Maj. Gen. J.B. Adamson, the army's chief of personnel, replied: "Yes sir, we think they are cooperating. They realize the seriousness of the situation and so far they have been outstanding."

Brig. Gen. Harold A Kissinger, commanding general of the U.S. Army Support Command at Cam Ranh, told McGovern, however, "drugs are so available in this country, it would be almost impossible to say you couldn't get it here."

McGovern expressed shock that in a random conversation he apparently had conducted with GIs on a Saigon street the soldiers told him, they could obtain unlimited drugs "within 15 minutes."

"It is widely available," Adamson replied.

The senator toured the main detoxification center where GIs leaving Vietnam are checked for possible drug addiction, visited the urinalysis laboratory where tests are conducted and later stopped at an amnesty center.

Unreachable Bonanza On Bottom Of The Red Sea

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A $2.5 billion bonanza at the bottom of the Red Sea awaits anybody who can think up some way of exploiting it, an ocean engineer said today.

Joseph B. Lassiter III of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology told the American Chemical Society's annual meeting that the mud contains silver, copper, lead, and zinc.

With current techniques, mining of this sea floor lode would earn little if any profit. The slurry, about 80 per cent water, would have to be removed to land for processing because seagoing methods are not yet adequate for the job.

So, said Lassiter, it is up to chemists and metallurgists to come up with some "innovative techology."

Whence came the metal-rich slurry and the puzzling hot brine pools known to exist about it in the Red Sea?

Richard Price was named as alternate delegate.

Timber And Heavy Brush Fire Contained

JACKSON (UPI) —A fire that broke out in timber and heavy brush about 10 miles south of here has been contained by state Division of Forestry firefighters after consuming about 90 acres.

A spokesman at the San Andreas office of the Forestry Division said the blackened area is near California 26 at the point where the highway is intersected by the Mokelumne River.

Japanese Police In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two policemen from Osaka, Japan, are in San Francisco for a 13-week study of how traffic and other police problems are handled.

Introduced Monday at Chief Alfred Nelder's office were Lt. Shinnosuke Mune, 30, in charge of Osaka's traffic, and Sgt. Toshiski Kurahachi, 28, of the city's Izumi District.

Opposition Blocks Tax Increase Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Last-minute opposition by oil companies and other industries has stalled a bill permanently hiking the maximum property tax rate of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The bill, AB 517 by Assemblyman John T. Knox D--Richmond, would hike the rate, from 1.3 to 2 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The assemblyman last year won passage of a bill providing the increase for only two years.

Industry's objections, Knox said, were to his bill's provision that would authorize the district to charge fees for registration of equipment that was or might be a source of pollution.

The bill is awaiting a final vote on the Senate floor, having already cleared the Assembly. Knox conceded it was "in trouble" because of the heavy opposition from industry. The belated opposition came only after industry "woke up" to the fact the bill set no limit on registration fees, Knox said.

He told the Independent-Journal he had not worked out a compromise, but suggested it could involve limiting the fees.

New Bay Area Sewerage Agency Appears Certain

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Creation of a regional sewerage agency in the Bay Area appears certain under legislation awaiting final action in the Legislature.

The bill, AB 2867 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will create a new agency to plan and build regional sewerage facilities, financing them through revenue bonds backed by service charges.

The agency could finance the bonds with a property tax up to one-half cent on each county's property tax rate if the service charges failed to finance the bonds.

The agency also would have veto power over all proposed wastewater facilities, but would not affect the Regional Water Quality Control Board's duties to set and police standards.

The bill won Senate approval, but has been held up temporarily in a motion by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, to reconsider the approval. He reportedly was concerned that sewerage agencies in Sonoma County opposed the bill, but Knox's office said the senator had agreed to drop his motion.

Dock Strike Talks Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Negotiators trying to settle the West Coast dock strike met for 2 1-2 hours Monday and again made no public statement of the talks.

Another meeting is taking place today.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union struck the Pacific Maritime Association on July 1, in a labor contract dispute.

Arguments On Ballot Said Illegal

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation empowering Marin Municipal Water District to join the Sonoma County Water Agency in building a new aqueduct, subject to voter approval, has run into a claim that ballot arguments on the issue would be illegal as the bill is written.

Nathan Rowley, bond counsel for the district, has advised the county elections office that no arguments for and against the referendum would be permitted on the ballot. He said any money spent for printing and mailing such arguments would be an illegal expenditure of district funds.

A solution to the problem, however, will be sought through an amendment to the legislation when it comes up before the Senate. Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, said he will seek to amend the measure to require ballot arguments.

The measure, AB 2423 by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, is on the upper house floor awaiting a vote that will send it back to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments. Once signed into law, it would become effective immediately.

The issue will be on the district ballot on Nov. 2.

Behr said that the problem was brought to him by Thomas H. Thorner of Kentfield, an attorney and chairman of Marin Alternative. The organization is opposed to the joint project with the Sonoma agency, arguing the new water supply it would bring would encourage excessive population growth.

Water district financial consultants have recommended it finance its share of the aqueduct with water rates or property taxes instead of from more costly revenue bonds. The district's share of the project is $43 million.

Sleeping Couple Held For Pot

AVALON (UPI) —A sheriff's deputy noticed two heads sticking from the same sleeping bag Monday near Bird Park Golf Course on Catalina Island and stopped to investigate.

The heads belong to Donovan K. Busby, 26, Long Beach, a county public services welfare employ, and Ruth A. Jordan, 23, a welfare recipient from Long Beach, who were arrested for possession of marijuana.

Authorities said a small bag containing marijuana was found near the sleeping bag the couple was sharing.

BART'S Entry Into Marin Very Unlikely

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bay Area Rapid Transit District trains may never reach Marin, a Senate committee agreed yesterday.

Endorsing legislation requiring the Golden Gate Bridge District to complete a long-range transit plan by mid-1973, the public utilities and corporation committee amended the bill to make it clear that any future system need not depend on extension into Marin of the BART system.

Committee members questioned the desirability of population growth such a system would bring, and noted that a North Bay loop of BART could damage ecologically valuable marshland.

Even Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, long an advocate of rail transit, acknowledge it was "quite likely" that Marin will not generate enough traffic to justify a BART extension. He previously had been highly critical of the bridge district, saying it had not given adequate attention to rail transit in its preliminary transit planning.

The measure before the committee, AB 919 by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, also was amended to empower the district to buy surplus railroad rights-of-way and whatever land it needs for its interim bus and ferry system.

The district's interim plan called for a start on a $300 million system of buses running entirely on their own right-of-way. This plan, however, also called for a second deck on the bridge for transit, while Foran's bill bars a second deck until the long-range plans are submitted to the 1973 Legislature.

His bill also bars the district from incurring long-range debts except as necessary for the interim bus and ferry system.

Foran's bill, as it came before the committee, said any rail system planned by the district must have rolling stock "compatible" with BART. But as amended, the bill requires only that the district system be "coordinated" with BART.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, chairing the committee, said the original language would have "put the future in a straight jacket."

Another bill affecting the district, AB 3094 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will be heard next Monday by the Senate Transportation Committee. As written now, it prohibits the district from operating any charter or sightseeing services on either its bus or ferry systems.

Knox has had amendments drafted, however, to delete buses from the bill, thus it will apply only to district ferries.

A third bill, one by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, similar to Foran's, has been dropped because of progress on Foran's bill. Yesterday's committee action on Foran's bill sent it to the Senate floor. It will need Assembly concurrence in Senate amendments.

Safe Is Looted

Jessel Wins On Child Support

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A petition filed by actress Joan Tyler to place the assets of entertainer George Jessel in receivership because he allegedly has failed to pay her child support was denied Monday in superior court.

Judge William P. Hogoboom denied the motion but delayed a ruling on another petition to apply a levy on Jessel's home in Reseda to collect the money.

A paternity suit filed by Miss Tyler, 37, against Jessel, 73, was settled eight years ago when he acknowledged the child, Charris Carla, now 9, was his and agreed to pay $500 a month support.

Funds For Angela Case Predicted

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, confidently predicted yesterday that the state will pungle up its share of the costs to Marin for the trials of Angela Y. Davis and Ruchell Magee.

The assemblyman, noting he was carrying a bill raising some $20 million in new taxes that the Reagan administration "wants and needs," said he expected the administration to provide Marin with as much as $800,000 as his "finder's fee" for carrying the tax bill.

Bagley also is carrying a bill to require the state to pay part of the costs for the trials, but that bill only would authorize the Department of Corrections to draw from a dry well. The fund it depends on to share trial costs has too little in it to help Marin, thus Bagley also needs to find new money for the special fund.

His bill to authorize the sharing, AB 644, is pending action in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The bill adds conspiracy to escape from prison to those offenses for which the state must reimburse trial costs.

The two defendants are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in the August, 1970, shootout at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others died.

Tape Deck, Tapes Taken From Auto

A tape deck and tapes, valued at a total of $243, were taken from the car of a Chicago man while it was parked near 842 Greenberry Lane, Marinwood, last Friday, Marin County Sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Deputies said the car was owned by Jay M. Smyser.

BUTTER BALL—AU JUS

So delightfully rich when broiled or barbecued to a crusty brown on the outside and pink inside. Use a 3 to 3½-lb. butter ball. Have butter ball at room temperature before starting. Cook at high heat 3 to 4 inches from heat source. Brown well on first side before turning. Total cooking time approximately 35 to 40 minutes for medium. Serve on a pre-heated platter, carve in diagonal slices ¼ inch thick. Let natural juice run down to one end of pre-heated platter. Into juices, add ½ cube melted butter, 2 tsp. Worcestershire, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 tsp. accent, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and pour over sliced butter ball before serving.

Serves four to six people.

County Needs Policy On Appointments

In the "Remember When" column on this page is a little item that perhaps deserves further notice. It chronicles the appointment 10 years ago of Billy D. Dobbs to succeed Mary Summers as Marin County planning director.

Mary Robinson Gilkey Summers had been the county's planning director for 20 years. She submitted her resignation together with recommendation that Dobbs, No. 2 on a four-planner staff in the department, be appointed to replace her. The planning commission concurred the day the resignation was received. The board of supervisors appointed Dobbs the next day, although Mrs. Summers's resignation was not even to take effect for six months.

TWO PLANNING commissioners, Worth Fenner and Felix M. Warburg, objected to the quickie appointment.

Dobbs served until July, 1965, when he resigned under some pressure. This time, the supervisors recruited nationwide for the job that had been filled so hastily four years earlier. Six months were spent in sifting candidates. Then, passing over local and California applicants, the board hired Paul C. Zucker from the East.

Zucker, who found little to applaud in the way things are done in Marin, served four and one-half tumultuous years and was fired.

Then the supervisors made another in-house appointment, choosing Werner von Gundell, one of seven planners under Zucker, to succeed his boss. This was not done with quite so much haste as the Dobbs appointment. Five weeks elapsed between Zucker's firing and von Gundell's appointment.

THE REASON for reciting this is that history recently repeated itself.

The appointment of John F. Barrows one of two assistants in the county administrator's office, to succeed his boss differed from that 10 years ago of Dobbs as planning director only in that the supervisors this time started a recruitment program, then abruptly called it off.

This is, of course, "water under the bridge." But because succeeding boards of supervisors seem unable to make up their minds on how to go about appointments to administrative positions, we suggest they adopt a policy and embody it in a county ordinance.

WE SUGGEST that this ordinance call for recruitment and careful screening whenever an administrative position at or above department head level is to be filled.

We suggest that it provide for preference for those already in county employ — if their qualifications place them among the finalists in the selection process; and that it give second preference to other Marin residents, with the same proviso.

And we suggest that it specify a minimum period for such recruiting and screening before a permanent appointment can be made.

Such an ordinance should save future supervisors a lot of headaches, and be beneficial to the county.

A Son In Kindergarten Starts Thoughts On Busing

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — Our Adam went last week.

We watched him walk down the lane and stand there by the mailbox in the morning sun. Striped jeans, Winnie-the-Pooh shirt, tousled hair. A piece of the future wrapped up in a 5-year-old.

We watched him climb aboard that big yellow bus. Watched it rumble down the road to his first day in kindergarten.

Adam is our youngest, and our last. After him there were no more. It is no easier to watch the last one skip out of your life than it was the first. They come back. But from here on the skips grow longer.

ONE THING, THOUGH. For the first time in almost 25 years years the morning hours in this house are quiet. Utterly quiet. And, there is time for reflection.

Time to wonder when it was that the state grabbed so much power over the lives of our offspring. When was it someone decided that if education is a good thing (and it is) then every individual must go to school . . . or else?

Did our forefathers really think this thing through? Did they truly know what they were doing when they gave the state the power to compel our youngsters to go to school? To bend our twigs, shape our arrows?

I want my kids to learn. Want them to develop their minds and their faculties. And school seems to be the best place for learning, of a sort. But, it's the compulsion I object to — the overpowering, faceless, careless compulsion that manhandles the free spirit and manipulates the days. By the numbers. Out of the house into the computer. Hup-two-three-four!

ALL OF THIS might seem rather rhetorical. The meaningless musings of a libertarian on the down-hill side of 49. Except that right now we are seeing the fruits of compulsion in a way our forefathers probably never imagined.

Busing. Forced, compulsory, dammit-you-do-it-or-else busing of school kids. Shunting kids around like checkers on a board.

It's not the bus that bothers me. Hell, as a farm schoolboy I was brought up on the bumps and grinds and gas fumes of oversized Fords and Chevvys. It's not the bus. It's the compulsion. The coercion. That really bugs me.

Busing doesn't bug Wilson Riles, superintendent of public instruction and high mucky-muck of education in our state. He pooh-poohs the passions surrounding forced busing. Trots out fatuous statistics to fuzz things up.

LISTEN, FRIEND WILSON. Those 800,000 kids are like our Adam — bused because that's the best way to get them to the nearest schoolhouse. Not to cart them around town, past neighborhood learneries, to some distant sociological laboratory.

Where do we get off telling the Chinese-Americans in San Francisco, or the Mexican-Americans in Los Angeles, or the Negro-Americans of Oakland, or even the WASPS of Woodside that their kids will get part of their schooling on a wayward bus — or else?

It has nothing to do with racism. Let me tell you, buster. I express the sentiments of thousands and thousands of parents who come in all sizes and shapes and colors and ethnic backgrounds.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL busing may be the law of the land (a law to be challenged) but it is a violation of a natural law. The law that holds that parents, not the state, know what's best for their kids.

We Occidentals always did have a lot to learn from the wisdom of the East. The sagacity of Mohandas Gandhi's passive resistance, for example. Gandhi, in his quiet way, refused to fuel the machinery of the oppressive state. He refused to use himself as a vehicle for those dogmas which violated his conscience.

Perhaps the time has come to be willing to damn the politicians and to face the jailer — if that is what it takes to reaffirm man's right to free choice and freedom of conscience.

State Seizes Authority From The Parents

Thanks for your editorial of Aug. 31 regarding new laws requiring health officers to offer family planning and birth control services to all over 15 who ask, a law which promotes the state to act as an authority to those under legal age in place of the parents who are responsible legally for their minor children. If the wisdom of the state is to replace parental control in this instance, how soon will the state, like Russia, rule that all mothers work and place children from a few weeks old in state-controlled nurseries? Then how soon will the elite-c-control rule that the bulk of the people be treated like cattle (read "Time Machine")? All of this, of course, is "for their own good." It seems "1984" is nearer than we think, in ct, it's here and Big Brother's name is State Control while Big Daddy is Federal Control.

Kindly print how our senator and representative voted on this new state welfare legislation which requires counties to provide this (dis) service.

Meadowsweet Plans Found Acceptable

After attending the meeting last week on the proposed Meadowsweet Station development, I wish to make my feeling known on the subject.

We live on Sonora Way, directly above the meadow of the land in question. My husband and I were of course saddened when we first heard of this development, because no project, no matter how nice, could compare with our now natural setting. However, after seeing the plans I feel that his development is well thought out and has potential for enhancing Corte Madera. I share the opinion that we should make every effort to work with Mr. (Warner) Odenthal, not against him.

Concerning the closing off of the end of El Camino should the plan develop. I feel that it would be foolish to do so. Not only for the convenience of the school children, should they attend (and I assume they will) the Granada School, but I hope that we all will befriend the occupants of the development and should I have occasion to go into Meadowsweet Station by car, I certainly wouldn't want to have to go all the way down to Paradise Drive and then double back down the new road just to get to the bottom of this hill.

Horses, Bicycles Can Easily Co-exist

I read with interest a report of the Belvedere City Council meeting of Sept. 7 and their concern that an equestrian trail parallel to a bicycle-pedestrian path shared by the cities of Tiburon and Belvedere might create both a tremendous safety hazard and an ecological disaster.

The complete lack of provision for bridle paths in the incorporated areas of the County of Marin is a complete disgrace and a sure indicator of the fact that very few of our elected representatives, if any, are aware of the fact that bicycles, pedestrians and equestrians can and do co-exist quite peacefully. However, we repeatedly hear the cry of the "nervous Nellies" on the various city councils who fail to recognize the fact that the horse is a thoroughly domesticated animal. The tragic consequence of their ignorance is clearly manifest to the many horsemen residing in Marin County who are concerned at the total lack of provision for bridle paths in and around the cities. The people who really suffer most are the children, many of whom own horses but are not yet old enough to drive an automobile in order to pull a horse trailer to convey their animal to the state parks and water district lands where facilities exist. For these young people, it is high time that our various city councilmen woke up to the fact that responsibility is to make provision for ALL recreational interests, and not just those of the bicyclers and pedestrians.

As to the "ecological disaster" of horses' droppings being washed into the Belvedere Lagoon, I would like to point out that horse manure is an extremely rich source of nitrogen, and when plowed into the soil will produce the most amazing results in any flower or vegetable garden. Try it, Belvedere, and give the horsemen a break and withdraw your resolution condemning the use of the equestrian trail.

Gnoss Field Hazards Ignored By County

Having read the report of the airport commission meeting, we would like to make the following comments:

Having been a member of the Aviation Improvement Committee of Marin County for the last year and a half, we feel that the citizens of the county of Marin should be appraised of the true facts as to the conditions of Gnoss Field, otherwise known as Marin County Airport. For a year and a half, the pilots who based their airplanes and pay taxes at Gnoss Field have tried to impress upon the aviatioc commission and the board of supervisors as to the hazardous conditions that exist at Gnoss Field. We feel that if reports were made known to the public of the numerous accidents (there have been 187 accidents to date, including a Piper Commanche that was completely demolished on Sept. 6, fortunately the pilot and his family escaped alive) and person injuries that have occurred, that it would show the complete lack of concern and co-operation on the part of the board of supervisors to establish a first rate, safe, airport for County of Marin.

As has been previously published by the I-J, Gnoss Field is the only self-supporting project in the county, which I am sure that the pilots who own and base their aircraft at the field, are not getting value received. Gnoss Field is the highest accident-rated airport in the nation. In other words, as to the drop in the number of airplanes based at Gnoss Field, it is our opinion that it is a combination of high taxes, lack of responsiveness on the part of the board of supervisors and the aviation commission of Marin, as well as the hazardous conditions that exist because of a lack of a cross-wind runway, lack of adequate security as well as closed hanger facilities. We hope that it will not be necessary to have people killed because of the lack of concern of the County of Marin. . . .

WASHINGTON — This capital has just been through a kulturkampf that left behind bruised egos and rancorous feelings, and yet with all the uproar there was a sense of moving into a new age. The occasion was the formal opening of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts with three dedicatory performances.

Both with the huge marble center and with the premier presentation, Leonard Bernstein's Mass, it was not hard to find fault, and the professionals in this department were quick to rush into the breach. The miracle seemed, however, that with all the pulling and hauling from so many different directions, the center had actually come into being.

AS FIRST SIGNED into law by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958, the National Cultural Center was to be built with voluntary contributions. This didn't work. Following the assassination of John F. Kennedy, his successor, Lyndon Johnson, rushed through bi-partisan legislation calling for dedication of the center as a memorial to the murdered President and providing $15.5 million in federal money to be matched by private giving.

Two years ago President Nixon got through legislation providing an additional $7.5 million. The site on the Potomac River had been an initial contribution by Congress.

From the beginning the going has been tough. In a survival of the Puritan ethic, many members of Congress have felt it was immoral to spend the taxpayers' money on the arts. If people wanted to hear opera and orchestral concerts, let them pay for it.

This makes evident the serious problem ahead for the huge $76 million center. If it is to fulfill its function and make music and theater available, not just to a few rich opera lovers, but to a broader public, there must be a generous annual subsidy which can come only from Congress. While without such a subsidy the concert halls may be filled, the vision of a center that would encourage the experimental, the new, and the untried will not come to life.

EVERY OTHER Western nation has a long established tradition of public support for the arts. Without government subsidies such costly entertainment as opera could scarcely survive with any hope of a high standard of excellence and particularly in light of worldwide inflation. The contrast with the United States, rated the richest nation, is striking.

Austria has a state budget for music and theater equivalent to $3 per capita. In addition, provincial governments contribute to the arts. Granted that this is in part a practical matter, the superb Vienna State Opera and the Salzburg music festivals being conspicuous tourism attractions, nevertheless it is a national tradition that makes available to all income levels the best in theater and music.

Finland, with a population of 4,700,000, has a national opera and several subsidized theatrical companies with a remarkable standard of excellence. State and local community aid to the performing arts is about $1 per capita.

AFTER THE CLOUD of controversy subsides the important fact remains — the center is in being with facilities for opera and ballet long needed in this cultural desert. This is bound to mean a cross-fertilization of the arts on both the national and international level.

Among the guests coming from abroad for the opening of the center was Austria's Minister of Education and Arts, Leopold Graz. With him was the new director of the Vienna State Opera, Rudolph Sarusjeger. One objective was to negotiate an appearance of the Vienna Opera for the season of 1973. This has hitherto been considered all but impossible because of the union demands to pay an orchestra and singers who do not perform.

By including a variety of expenditures, many of them hardly relevant, the federal government in 1970 spent on the arts at the rate of 19 cents per capita. This was up from 1969 when the rate was 10 cents. The total spending figure of $39,505,000 includes $9,150,000 for the National Endowment for the Arts and $15 million for the public broadcasting corporation.

That is a miniscule sum for an affluent people approaching the 200th year of nationhood. The Kennedy Center provides an excellent opportunity to make up for long indifference and neglect.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Primary Campaigns Certain To Move Onto Campuses

By BENJAMIN SHORE

WASHINGTON — One of the most popular activities on many California college campuses this fall will be the effort to register an estimated 1,200,000 persons between 18 and 20 years old who will be eligible to vote in next June's presidential primary elections.

Thanks to the brand new 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, and to the Aug. 27 decision of the state Supreme Court, the majority of students qualified by age and citizenship may register to vote in federal, state and local elections in their college communities.

It is not known what impact these new voters will have on local politics. City councils and school boards have been warned by doomsayers to expect a takeover by enfranchised radicals, but students active in the 18-year-old vote movement discount the scare stories as not reflective of student political interest.

WHAT STUDENTS want primarily is the opportunity to register and vote in the communities where they live nine months out of 12, not because they necessarily want to take over the city council, but because it is a right afforded persons over 21.

As the California Supreme Court noted in knocking down Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger's advisory opinion that students must register in their parents' home town, "Only the most dedicated partisan would travel from Oakland to San Diego (or Tuscon) in order to exercise effectively his First Amendment rights of political association and expression."

Nevertheless, California's two Democratic senators, Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney, report that many over-21 citizens in college towns are angered and frightened by the senators' legislative efforts to make registering and voting even easier for the newly enfranchised under-21 citizens.

WHEN CRANSTON introduced legislation in July to permit young persons away from home to register and vote in their college towns, he said, "I believe it is wise and fair that we make it yasier for these young people to participate in the democratic process."

Tunney is concerned about not only the college student but also the single person aged 18, 19 or 20 who is working and supporting himself but is living away from his parents' home. Many registrars across the country have turned away this category of away-from-home voters unless they were married. The argument was that persons under 21 are minors, and minors must use their parents' adress as their legal — and voting — address.

However, the 26th Amendment intends that persons aged 18, 19 and 20 shall be treated as adults for the purposes of voting. Challenges to contrary registrars' rulings are underway in federal courts in New York, Kentucky and Connecticut, and it is hoped one of these cases will be settled in time to affect all states for next year's elections.

Tunney wants to get congressional action this year on his bill to lower the minimum residency requirement in all states to 30 days for congressional and presidential elections. His bill also would allow registration by mail, which would help the out-of-state student, worker or soldier who cannot get home to register.

WHILE MANY over 21 fear that students may take over their city halls, some Republicans worry about losing the White House.

Since California's new voters are registering Democratic at a 3-to-1 margin over Republicans (and the trend is similarly lopsided elsewhere in the country), the impact of these young voters on Nixon's re-election could be significant. Nixon carried California by 123,000 votes in 1968.

Petaluma Becomes Paradise For Sidewalk Superintendents

Petaluma has become a veritable paradise for "sidewalk superintendents" lately with a flurry of demolition activity and road work in progress.

The major projects catching the interest of avid watchers are the widening of East Washington Street and work along Hopper and Wilson Streets. In the wake of the widening project many homes and businesses have fallen. Most of the structures will not be missed. In fact, many residents were pleased to see the dilapidated buildings go.

FOR OTHERS, especially the historic Cavanagh Lumber Co. on East Washington Street, there was considerable mourning. Architecturally, the building was not particularly remarkable. But there was something about the stone work that made the structure one of Petaluma's favorite landmarks.

Old timers stood beside Jack Cavanagh Sr. as the building was leveled. He had virtually spent his entire working life in the building, but professed no sadness at its demise.

Several persons discussed relocating the building or at least saving its stone work to house a Petaluma museum. Unfortunately, that idea never got beyond the talking stage and the stones, bricks and wood were unceremoniously hauled away.

The destruction of the Tivoli Hotel also drew a large body of onlookers. Most were elderly Italian men who reminisced about evening hours spent in the restaurant-bar and lazy Sunday afternoons on the bocce ball courts beneath the grape arbor in the rear.

FOR THOSE who prefer to watch the erection rather than destruction of buildings, the place to be is at the Petaluma City Hall, where work is moving swiftly on the new wing for county and city offices.

While that work is of a more positive nature, it has also had its fatalities. Some trees were intentionally removed for parking lots, but a row of healthy and tall sycamore trees which had been marked to save also fell victim. Construction work had damaged their roots so badly that they had to be removed.

Sometimes when residents are caught in construction-caused traffic jams and they see trees and interesting landmarks destroyed, it's hard to keep from making snide remarks about the "virtues" of progress.

Assembly Passes Collier Bill On Plans For Rivers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly today overwhelmingly voted final passage for a bill requiring the state to prepare detailed masterplans for preservation and development of 19 rivers on the North Coast.

Environmentalists beat back attempts on the Assembly floor last Thursday to amend the bill to permit engineers to prepare plans for damming the rivers while the masterplan studies were being conducted.

The floor sponsor, Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, said it was decided to drop the amendment and "avoid confusion."

Environmentalists supported the bill without the amendment.

The bill appropriates $50,000 for the state Resources Agency to prepare detailed waterway management plans for flood control, water conservation, recreation and wildlife preservation on these streams:

The Klamath, Trinity, Salmon, Shasta, Scott, Smith, Bear, Mattole, Van Duzen, Eel, Big, Garcia, Navarro, Noyo, Ten-Mile, Russian and Gualala rivers and Redwood and Alder creeks.

The bill is regarded as an alternative to another measure strongly backed by conservationists and carried by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael. It would immediately declare the Eel, Trinity and Klamath as official wild rivers and prohibit water projects from being built on them.

The Behr bill, staunchly opposed by Collier who represents the district, has been rejected by the Senate but is awaiting reconsideration on the upper house floor.

"This (Collier) bill is better than nothing, but it's sure a hell of a long ways less than the Behr bill," said Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, one of the legislature's leading conservationist spokesmen.

ART BUCHWALD

Saigon Dispatches Provide Buchwald Dream Of Glory

WASHINGTON — Recent stories out of Saigon indicate that the United States offered huge sums of money — through Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker —to Vice President Ky and Gen. "Big" Minh if they would run against President Thieu in the October elections. The United States, which has a big stake in "free" elections, was worried that if no one ran against Thieu some people might suspect the elections were rigged.

I am constantly searching for new dreams of glory and thanks to the press dispatches from Saigon, here is my latest one:

IT IS MIDNIGHT in the summer of 1972 and suddenly there is a knock on the door of my house in Washington. Putting on a bathrobe I stumble to the door. "Who is it?" I ask.

I unlatch the door.

"'Ambassador, what the devil are you doing here at this hour?"

"I didn't want anyone to see me. I have to talk to you on some urgent business."

BUNKER COMES IN with a satchel in his hand, the size of a medicine bag.

"I don't have much time," he says, "so I'll get to the point. As you know, the Democrats could not agree on a candidate to run for president at their convention in Miami last month."

"I am well aware of it," Isay. "It ended in a dead heat and everyone went home mad. They decided not to run anyone. It was all in my column."

"Yes, well, nevertheless, President Nixon is very upset about not having any opposition during an election year."

"I also wrote that. I said if he had no one to run against but himself, it could turn into one of the dirtiest campaigns in political history."

"Well, be that as it may, the president is very concerned that if he has no opponent this fall, many people around the world will think the election was rigged."

"That's certainly the impression the Democrats would like to give," I say.

"THEREFORE," says Bunker, "I have been asked by Mr. Nixon himself to urge you to run against him for the presidency of the Uited States."

"But why me?" I protest.

"Because, sir, the president feels you would be the ideal opponent. You have the qualities of Jefferson, Lincoln and Eisenhower. You put principle before power, the country's good before personal gain. It's all in your FBI folder."

"Heck," I say blushing. "Is nothing sacred?"

Bunker picks up the medicine bag and opens it. "The president has authorized me to give you $25 million in nontaxable unaccountable funds if you will run against him in the fall."

I STARE AT the money and whistle. "That's a lot of money, just for running for president."

"We will direct your campaign for you, provide you with speechwriters, buy television time for you, put up billboards, and lend you Lawrence Welk to warm up the crowds."

"All right," I say, putting the money back in the bag. "But the day after the election I want to go back to being just plain John Q. Citizen."

"Have no fear," says Bunker, putting on his homburg and walking toward the door.

As he gets into his limousine a thought suddenly occurs to me and I yell, "Hey, suppose I win?"

But Bunker drives off. Apparently he doesn't hear me.

Council To Eye Joint Director

The San Anselmo City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today at city hall, will consider a recommendation that it authorize hiring of a joint director for parks and recreation.

The joint directorship was split last year at the request of former director Frank L. Quinn, who complained the job was too great a work load for one man to handle.

City officials and the park and recreation commission now feel the positions should be reconsolidated prior to recruiting a new man.

Students' Air Tickets Held Bogus

LONDON (UPI)—U.S. Embassy officials said Monday American charter companies and related groups sold more than $1 million worth of invalid roundtrip tickets to students traveling abroad.

"From the hundreds of students we have interviewed and the numbers reported to us by national airlines and our embassies abroad we have estimated that the companies and clubs selling these worthless tickets must have made well over one million bucks out of it," the spokesman said.

"This is dishonesty on a huge scale and we are only just beginning to feel the extent of it," he said.

"We expect at least another 300 stranded students in our offices by the end of this week —and I don't think they will stop coming until the end of October.

New York State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz and the State Department is investigating nine charter companies named by the Embassy.

The organizations identified by the embassy were: The American Union of Students, The University Students Association, Charter Flights International, The North American Students Association, Transatlantic Flight Services, Associated Culture Clubs Inc., The Anglo-American Association, The International University Association Ltd., and Donaldson's International Airways.

Emperor Going To Europe On Just $35,000 A Day

By FREDERICK H. MARKS.

TOKYO (UPI)—When Emperor Hirohito returns from his 17-day trip to Europe next month, he'll be able to write a travel book entitled "Europe on $35,000 a Day."

But then Hirohito, who departs Japan for Europe Sept. 26, isn't about to travel halfway around the world on an economy class ticket. He is, after all, the symbol of Japan which is the third richest nation in the world.

Accordingly, the Japanese cabinet recently appropriated $595,000 to pay for the emperor and empress' trip, the first journey on foreign soil ever made by a Japanese emperor.

Needless to say, the government is pulling out all the stops to insure that the arrangements for the emperor's trip are up to imperial standards.

For instance, although a complete breakdown of the trip's budget has not yet been released, the government has alloted $71,000 to the emperor so he can invite his hosts out to dinner. Presumably, it would be in bad taste if the emperor does not reciprocate the various formal dinners he attends along the way.

A regal form of keeping up with the Joneses, so to speak.

Another allotment in the overall budget totals $90,000 to be used by the emperor to make donations to charitable organizations and to bestow gifts to worthy recipients.

The 70-year-old emperor and his wife, Empress Nagako, will fly to Europe, via Alaska, on a Japan Air Lines DC-8 jet liner, fitted oat especially for the occasion with a suite.

Even though Japan Air Lines is half-owned by the government, there apparently won't be any discount in the fee for chartering the airliner. Out of the total budget, $184,000 is allotted for the charter of the aircraft.

The imperial couple will be accompanied by 14 personal servants and 20 government officials, including Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda. The servants include an aide de camp for the emperor and a lady in waiting for the empress. The empress will also have a hair dresser and a maid accompanying her.

Their majesties' party will include two accountants who apparently are being sent along to make sure that the hotel bills are paid promptly without any snafus.

The budget for hotels and meals is $77,000, and plans now are for the emperor to occupy only the best suites throughout the continent.

The budget figure announced Friday, large though it may be, is only a fraction of the overall cost of the trip, sources here say. They point out that Japanese embassies in the countries where the emperor will visit are being completely refurbished, and there are numerous other indirect costs.

"The figure approved by the cabinet is the public cost of the trip," one source said. "The total cost is apt to be much larger."

TRUCK FIREBOMBED — A U.S. Navy truck burns today after terrorists hurled a firebomb into it, destroying the vehicle and seriously injuring a sailor. Later, Sen. hostages, one of whom died Saturday after he was thrown out of a window, and 30 prisoners.

State officials believe the riot was planned weeks in advance by black militants and Puerto Ricans. About 55 per cent of the prison's 2,200 inmates is black. There are no black guards among the prison's 380-man security forces, and only one Puerto Rican.

When police began firing, bullets ripped into some prisoners even as the knives they wielded flashed up toward their captives' throats.

"The knife was pressed against my neck," said Capt. Frank Wald. "And he said "when the first shot is fired I'm going to cut your throat.' But I was lucky. Someone picked off the man apparently just as he was about to do it."

"The tragedy was brought on by the highly organized, revolutionary tactics of militants who rejected all efforts at a peaceful settlement," said Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The attack started when a sharpshooter looking through the telescopic sight of his high-powered .270 magnum rifle saw a convict slash the throat of a hostage, officials said. A National Guard helicopter hovered over one corner of the courtyard to divert the prisoners while two other choppers dumped tear gas into the midst of the convicts.

Then the attack force surged in. Each hostage had been assigned an "executioner" to kill him when the attack came, said the hostages who escaped.

The convicts had issued 30 demands during the siege. State Corrections Commissioner Russel G. Oswald had acceded to all but two of them: Amnesty for acts committed during the rioting and passage to a "non-imperialist country."

Whitcomb Asks Study Of Merger

A Sausalito School District trustee has expressed doubt that Sausalito can continue to exist as a separate district in the face of sharply declining enrollment and has asked the school board to study the possibility of a merger with another district.

Trustee Jerry L. Whitcomb, who made the suggestion at last night's school board meeting, told the Independent-Journal today he did not see how the district could "continue to provide our children with an education equal to that offered by other districts."

On the first day of school yesterday, Whitcomb noted that 451 students were enrolled in Sausalito schools, 67 less than the 518 the administration had anticipated for this year. Enrollment has dropped about 25 per cent from September of last year, he said, when 598 students attended classes on opening day.

As enrollment decreases, so do the funds the district has available for educational purposes, the trustee added. Whitcomb asked Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg to study the feasibility of a merger with another district and to report back at the board's Sept. 27 meeting.

OBITUARIES

Cornelia S. Wyatt Dies At 65

Cornelia S. Wyatt, a public school teacher for 24 years, died yesterday in Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Wyatt, 65, was the first kindergarten teacher in Fairfax and remained in the city until her retirement in 1968. Her last assignment was Manor School.

She was born in Texas. She taught in the public schools of Phoenix, Ariz. until her marriage to Lamar Wyatt.

She was a member of the National Retired Teachers Association.

Mrs. Wyatt is survived by her husband, living in Santa Rosa and two brothers, Don and Robert Seeds of Arizona.

Funeral and private cremation were held today in Santa Rosa.

FRED WEBBER

Funeral for Fred John Webber, 63, of Novato, a retired carpenter, will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Redwoods Chapel Funeral Home.

Webber, discovered dead in the street near his home at 731 Orange Avenue at 8:20 a.m. Saturday, apparently died of natural causes, according to Deputy Coroner Donald Cornish.

Webber retired as a carpenter because he had been in poor health for several years. He had been a resident of the Novato area for 40 years.

Surviving are two sons, Donald Conklin of Petaluma, and Fred J. Webber Jr., with the Air Force in Wisconsin, and a daughter, Nancy Ochenden of Petaluma.

Inurnment will be private.

ROBERT RENNIE

Private service and cremation were held yesterday in San Anselmo for Robert Rosburgh Rennie who died Saturday in Larkspur.

Rennie was born in Kinross, Scotland, 85 years ago and came to America when he was 7, settling in New York City. He and his wife moved to California in 1937 and to Marin County six years ago.

Rennie in his early career on the East coast was in banking. After he moved to California, he became west coast regional manager for Home Owners Loan Corporation, a loan executive with the Bank of America in San Francisco and financial advisor of Flotill Products, Stockton.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Society, San Francisco, and had been director of the Stockton Golf and Country Club.

Rennie is survived by his wife, Maude D. Rennie, living at the family home at 965 Magnolia Avenue; a daughter, Maude Rennie Lindner of Kentfield, and a son, William Roxburgh Rennie of Milwaukee; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The family has requested that memorial contributions be made to a favorite charity.

JOHN ZAMBERLIN

A Mass of the Resurrection for 16-year-old John Anthony Zamberlin Jr. of Santa Venetia, who died Sunday after a motorcycle accident in Lake County, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia.

According to the California Highway Patrol, the youth was riding a motorcycle in a dry creek bed near Upper Lake and was jumping small rises when he hit one which caused him to be thrown to the ground, officers said. They added he was not wearing a helmet.

Young Zamberlin was taken to Lakeside Hospital near Lakeport where he died a short time later, officers said.

The youth, a native of San Francisco, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Zamberlin, at 79 Vendola Drive.

He would have been a junior at Terra Linda High School this semester. He had attended Blessed Sacrament School before entering the high school.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three sisters, Rosanne, Mary Jo and Carol; a brother, Daniel, all of Santa Venetia; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurley and Mr. and Mrs. George Zamberlin, all of Seattle, Wash.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Blessed Sacrament Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

In another anti-American incident a group of 15 to 20 laborers demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy this morning demanding greater compensation payment for civilians killed or injured in accidents involving Americans. Police dispersed the crowd. On Sunday demonstrators smeared paint on the Embassy.

The Saigon outbreaks stemmed in part from past American support of President Nguyen Van Thieu and his decision to run unopposed in the Oct. 3 presidential elections. Disabled war veterans have demonstrated against Thieu, the United States and the war itself.

The Hue violence came after an American soldier shot and killed a youth who had stolen a watch from another GI. A mob of Vietnamese youths hurled firebombs into American vehicles before they were dispersed by police. The city was declared off limits and U.S. vehicles forbidden to enter it.

Little fighting was reported on the war fronts but in Laos government troops entered the town of Pakson today in a major victory over North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops who overran the Bolovens Plateau last May. The plateau controls large parts of the Ho Chi Minh Trail infiltration routes to South Vietnam.

With American troops steadily withdrawing from the northern areas of South Vietnam military sources said today the South Vietnamese army is establishing its first new division since 1965 to replace the departing Americans just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

Townhouse Zoning Will Be Sought

The commission will meet at 7:30 o'clock in city hall.

The commission has approved preliminary plans for the townhouses to be built on 27 hillside acres above Butternut Drive. The area now is unzoned and would have to be changed to a planned unit development residential zoning.

Planning director Herbert G. Hotchner said the developer, Gonzalez and Oberkamper, will move the road 20 feet over from the back property line of the Butternut Drive residents, a requirement made by the city at an earlier meeting.

The commission will also hear a continuation of preliminary plans for a 292-unit development on a 54-acre site off San Pablo Avenue near North San Pedro Road. At the commission's last meeting, residents in the area protested the density of the development the planning staff said it favored.

The commission will consider a zoning change to permit the city's first mobile home park. The park proposed for 400 mobile homes is located off Smith Ranch Road by the railroad tracks.

Pay Curb Petitions Are Filed

Approximately 3,000 signatures were filed yesterday with the county elections office on petitions for a state constitutional amendment prohibiting elected officials from raising their own salaries.

Yesterday was the deadline to file the initial petitions, but the campaign has another 40 days to circulate supplemental petitions. The final deadline to file them with the county will depend on when the county files the initial petitions with the state, but in any event will be no later than Nov. 15.

Backers of the amendment, calling themselves the Initiative Petition Group, have to gather 520,286 signatures statewide to qualify it for next June's primary election ballot. This would put Marin's share of the needed signatures at about 5,200.

Two Sheriff Aides Fired In Sonoma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County Sheriff Donald Striepeke has fired two subordinates — one of them Sgt. Winfield Thibodeau, his opponent in the election last June — for bad conduct.

After meeting in closed session with the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday, Striepeke announced the dismissals of Thibodeau and Deputy John McCall. Both had been stationed at the Guerneville substation, but Striepeke said the firings were not connected to the current grand jury investigation of a prostitution ring in the Russian River area.

Striepeke charged the men with conduct unbecoming an officer, disorderly or immoral conduct, neglect of duty and failure to meet reasonable work performance standards and requirements.

Striepeke defeated Thibodeau in a close election last June. The firings came on the heels of the Sept. 10 dismissals of Sgt. Leslie Manley and Deputy George Barr from their posts at the county honor farm. They were charged with the same conduct violations.

The officers have five days in which to appeal the dismissal and seek a hearing on the charges.

Striepeke said that although the grand jury prostitution investigation was not directly responsible for the firing, the Russian River investigation has uncovered evidence that both Thibodeau and McCall have "accepted favors from and consorted with persons engaged in criminal activities, and induced and encouraged fellow officers to engage in like conduct. . ."

WEATHER

(Novato's temperature was the highest recorded since the fire department there started keeping records 14 years ago.)

The weather was termed the "most extreme we could have for starting fires," by firemen.

As for smog, the highest level of oxidant reading recorded in San Rafael yesterday was .18 of a part per million, well over the figure (.10) that triggers alerts at monitoring stations but also below the .31 registered in Oakland.

The North Bay's combined pollutant reading was 98, setting a record. (Readings of 75 to 100 are considered moderate pollution and over 100, severe.)

The reading in the Central Bay was 147, also setting a record, and 102 in the South Bay, well below the October 1968 record there of 118. All three readings were records for this year.

The hot and dry weather compounded by a prevailing north wind caused the suspension of all burning permits on forest and watershed lands in Marin and Sonoma counties, according to State Forest Ranger Gordon Lowell.

No Reaction By Quentin Inmates

San Quentin convicts, although aware of the violence in New York, did not react outwardly to the news, officials said.

"They are reacting more to the tight controls we still have here and the hot weather," Information Officer Joseph R. O'Brien said today.

Many men have been confined to cells since the Aug. 21 bloodbath at San Quentin and normal routines have not been resumed yet.

Chairman Of Ad-Hoc Parade Panel Named

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday named Sheriff Donald Striepeke as chairman of an ad-hoc committee to draft an ordinance regulating parades and demonstrations.

Striepeke said the ordinance would not be designed to discourage demonstrations, but would assure that all gatherings are orderly and lawful.

He said recent demonstrations against the Sonoma County wine industry posed no problems, but that the ordinance should be drawn to clearly establish the responsibilities of groups involved.

Board chairman Ignazio A. Vella asked Striepeke to include representatives of various governmental offices on his committee as well as representatives of groups that might have to abide by the ordinance later.

Pileup Hurts Two Marinites

Two Marin residents were injured yesterday in a three-car pileup on Highway 680 near Walnut Creek, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the accident occurred yesterday morning when a car driven by Lindquist plowed into two others which had stopped because the traffic had slowed. No one else was injured, according to the patrol.

SCHOOLS

sentee rate for the first day of school is 10 per cent.

"But we are optimistic that enrollment will increase through the week," he said.

Bob Jacobs, cochairman of an antibusing group called We All Love Kids (WALK) said the boycott would "get bigger" during the week.

Jacobs claimed that "65 per cent of the kids stayed out of school" Monday and the boycott "exceeded our expectations."

California's black superintendent of public instruction, Wilson Riles, toured several schools on the first day and said San Francisco had "set an example" for the rest of the nation.

"The beauty of what I saw today is that there was no hostility," Riles said. "The children were together and they worked together."

The citywide school integration was ordered by U.S. District Judge Stanley Weigel earlier in the year after a suit was filed by the regional NAACP office.

Mayor Joseph Alioto, an opponent of busing who has said the court ruling will be overturned on appeal, said he was confident that "dissent in this community will be kept within the framework of the law."

Dixie Trustees To Eye Camp

Dixie School District trustees will review an outdoor education proposal at its regular meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the administration office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

The proposal, by Supt. Clifford B. Campbell, concerns participation in a one-week camp by the district's 500 sixth graders, during which they would be instructed in biology, botany and other nature sciences in the outdoor setting.

The trustees will also consider formalizing a policy on handling students involved in demonstrations and protests.

Hearing Is Set On Burglary Charges

I-J Special Report

A preliminary hearing on burglary charges has been set for Edwin Tucker, 31, of Novato.

Tucker is to appear Oct. 15 in San Mateo County Municipal Court, Northern Judicial District, South San Francisco, court officials said. He was arrested last August after he allegedly tripped a burglar alarm at a Holiday Inn near San Francisco Airport.

Boy, 4, Struck, By Novato Car

A 4-year-old Novato boy suffered a fractured skull yesterday when he was struck by a car on Midway Drive after he reportedly ran into the street.

Injured was James Scott Woodall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Woodall of 525 Midway Boulevard. He was reported in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Novato police said the boy apparently ran into the path of a car driven by Junanita Easton Trask, 73, of 1205 Ridgeview Heights at 3:15 p.m.

He was being cared for by an aunt and attempts were being made to notify his parents vacationing in the Mount Shasta area, police said.

Intimate Look At Makeup Queen

By GAY PAULEY
Intermediate Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Any woman who nears a cosmetics counter knows the name of Helena Rubinstein.

But few persons ever were close to the Polish-born woman who parlayed 12 jars of family face cream into an international cosmetics empire and became one of the world's richest women.

Undoubtedly Patrick O'Higgins was the one who knew "Madame" best, even more closely than most members of her family. For O'Higgins spent 14 years as personal secretary assistant and traveling companion of this dynamic businesswoman who, as one observer noted, "changed the face of every woman in America. Not to forget: the faces of women around the world.

NOW, O'HIGGINS has chronicled the vicissitudes of those 14 years in a revealing, often irreverent biography, "Madame" (Viking Press) just published.

In an interview, O'Higgins talked of why he became entwined in the Rubinstein demanding way of life, why he didn't flee the whirlwind and use his talents in languages, writing and organization for greater returns elsewhere. He recalled that when he would ask Madame Rubinstein for a raise, she would answer—"What do you need a raise for? You have rich friends."

Madame Rubinstein died April 1, 1965. Her age was given as 94 although "some claim she was 99," said O'Higgins. She left a fortune estimated at more than 100 million dollars in real estate, cosmetics, stocks and bonds, jewelry, art and antiques. O'Higgins said her will provided him with $5,000 cash outright and $2,000 a year for life.

He sees his biography as "a tribute—I like to think it is." Yet also in the interview he calls it an "exorcising the spirit."

WHAT KEPT him working for her through many trying times?

"I was an apprentice . . . learning, he said. "Part of it was fascination. And my own insecurity. I'm a Pisces. I need propping up."

O'Higgins found Madame Rubinstein a courageous woman—"she had to be to do what she did, migrate to Australia in 1900..."

She had an uncle living near Melbourne. Helena Rubinstein wrote in her own memoirs of her early struggle to set up shop and market face creams in Melbourne and to expand the business. O'Higgins dipped into the memoirs briefly but said that over the years "Madame built her own history—and believed it."

THE AUTHOR, a tall, sandy-haired man of Anglo-Irish ancestry, was born in Paris, and educated in England and Switzerland. He served six years with the Irish Guards during the World War II period and said the military taught him the "patience" he needed to get along with Rubinstein.

"I was for three years an aide-de-camp to a general just as bad as Madame," he said.

The O'Higgins book is packed with vignettes in the Rubinstein life that encompassed business, the arts, artists and high fashion. She feuded with her competitors — Charles Revson (of Revlon) was called "The nail man." Elizabeth Arden was "the other one, she's more interested in horses."

"SHE ADMIRED CHANEL (the French fashion designer) because Chanel had more style, said O'Higgins. "It was as if Madame was the empress who has siezed power.

Her collection of, and love for, jewelry was legendary. O'Higgins remembered an incident a friend recalled.

The two women were standing in front of the windows of Cartier's. Her companion was impatient to move on but Madame Rubinstein stood on, admiring the jewels—"It rests my eyes to look at them," she said.

Meditation Is Key To Peace, Novato Psychic, Healer Says

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"Meditation is listening — prayer is talking," says Mrs. Betty Bethards of Novato as she tells of her communication with God, the power or force she has found which helps her heal and "turn people on."

A young grandmother of one, and the mother of four, Mrs. Bethards says every age is crying out, the hippie and the square.

"Turn on with meditation, not with drugs," she says. "There is no communication gap when one meditates," she adds.

MRS. BETHARDS represents the Inner Light Foundation, and she says those who come to her meetings at the Church in Ignacio the first and third Mondays of each month are from all walks of life, and from ages 9 to 90.

"Healing is my big love," says Betty.

The entire body must be cured, she says, including mental, physical and spiritual. She feels that doctors, psychiatrists and chiropractors must all work together to heal the entire patient.

Betty, a Baptist fundamentalist, was 21 years old when she found she was psychic. She says it frightened her when she awoke during the night and found herself floating three feet above her body.

Her oldest son, Wayne, 20 years old, was killed earlier this year in Vietnam. She says he didn't believe in the war and neigher does she. She feels that "he didn't want to live that life and God took him home."

"THERE IS nothing to death but stepping out of the body," says Mrs. Bethards.

She uses contemporary slang when speaking.

"You get an inner peace and calm sitting at the feet of Jesus," she says."you get 'high or hi' when coming to a four-way stop sign and letting the other person go first."

The Inner Light Foundation, a non-denominational organization, was started three years ago by Dr. Hal Basham of San Rafael.

The principal objective of the foundation is to develop between all people a conscious awareness of God through a knowledge of and use of the extrasensory faculties possessed by each person and to thereby achieve a greater understanding between all persons, according to a printed brochure.

Persons from all walks of life are donating their time to the foundation, Betty says. Serving on the board of directors are Barry Brown, formerly with station KQED, Dr. Basham, Lloyd Dunlap, Novato; George Tuttle, San Rafael; Mrs. Bethards and her husband, Chris; and Ken Hugh H. Sandoval.

THERE ARE 24 groups in Marin County and the foundation hopes to eventually establish a hospital here.

"Many people come to the foundation for the psychic phenomena," Betty says, "but we try to channel them into meditation. Nobody walks through life alone," she explains. "Everyone has a spirit guide."

Betty, who believes in reincarnation, says, "What we sow we shall reap. We chose our own race and chose our own environment."

She says she believes that if in this life a person is prejudiced against one segment of civilization, he will return to suffer the prejudice.

Mrs. Bethards is appearing this month on a television program, "Middleclass Meditation," at 8:30 p.m., Mondays on Channel 9 KQED.

MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE VANNUCCI
Married in Sausalito church rite

Lawrence Vannucci Wed To Jan Kristine Swenson

Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito was the setting for the wedding of Jan Kristine Swenson and Lawrence F. Vannucci on Sept. 5.

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Swenson of Novato.

Mrs. Donald Bushman of Petaluma was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Sandra Swanson of Portland, Ore., and Carol Corden of San Bruno.

Serving as best man for his brother was Sgt. Dennis J. Vannucci of Louisiana. Lawrence Kinsella of San Francisco and Edmund Mori of Oakland ushered guests to their seats.

A garden reception was held at the home of ghe bride's parents. The couple will live in Alameda.

The bride was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed at Bechtel Corporation in San Francisco. Mrs. Clifford M. Boyles of Bellflower is the bride's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Frey of Oakland are her grandparents.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Vannucci of Hayward and the grandson of Mrs. Eda Vannucci of Oakland, Mrs. Marie Matarrese of Hayward and Mrs. Simonne Kinsella of San Francisco. He is employed at Western Electric Company in San Leandro.

'Miss Ireland' Candidates

Single women between the ages of 17 and 23 of Irish birth or descent are eligible to compete for the title of Miss Ireland, who will reign over the Irish Festival celebration activities slated in San Francisco, Oct. 16 to 23.

Miss Ireland will also be given the title "Rose of Tralee" and "Miss Shamrock" and will receive a trip to Ireland to compete in the International Rose of Tralee Finals in Kerry.

Deadline for the contest is Oct. 15, and those interested may contact the Irish Center at 2123 Market Street in San Francisco. The winner will be announced at the Festival Ball planned at the Jack Tar Hotel on Oct. 23.

Dry Elbows

Problems of dry elbows, knees and heels can be solved by rubbing in body lotion after shower or bath, according to beauty experts for a New York perfume corporation. The skin is warm and ready to soak up the lubrication best then, and if the lotion is scented the fragrance stays longer when applied while the skin is warm from the water.

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN D. CARSTENSEN
Wedding in Fairfax church

Steven Carstensen, Sharon Gomez Married

Sharon Ann Gomez was wed to Steven Dale Carstensen Sept. 4 in a ceremony at St. Rita's Catholic Church in Fairfax. A reception followed at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of Fairfax.

Maid of honor was Gay Holliday, and Michael Hoagland of Visalia was best man. The bride's brothers, Gery and Duane Gomez, ushered.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe the couple will live in San Diego, where both are students at San Diego State College.

Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Douglas Carstensen. He is a graduate of the College of the Sequoias.

ON THE AGENDA

University Women Schedule Six Membership Gatherings

A series of six area membership get-togethers, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Franklin Collins, will start Thursday for the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women. Current and prospective members are invited to the gatherings in their areas.

For the Corte Madera-Larkspur area, a coffee will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Boyer, 369 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera.

For the Mill Valley golf course, park and Goheen area, a coffee will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Eugene Benton, 15 Glen Drive, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Michael Praszker will host a tea for the Middle Ridge and Canyons area in Mill Valley on Monday at 2 p.m. at her home, 110 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley.

Hostess for a coffee next Tuesday at 10 a.m. for the Sausalito, Tamalpais Valley, Homestead Valley and Marin City areas will be Mrs. George Olson, 423 Maple Avenue, Mill Valley.

The coffee for the Scott Valley, Alto and Enchanted Knolls areas will be held Sept. 22 at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Burns, 49 Millay Place, Mill Valley.

Concluding the series on Sept. 23 will be a coffee at 8 o'clock for the Strawberry, Belvedere, Tiburon areas at the home of Mrs. John Hess, 15 Old Landing Road, Tiburon.

MAGANA BAPTISTE is giving a public demonstration of the Yoga way of life, sponsored by the Marin Mill College Alumnae Club, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Benton Bostick Jr. in Tiburon.

THE FEMINEERS are having a luncheon at Chumleys Restaurant in Ghiradelli Square in San Francisco tomorrow at 11:30 a.m.

Following lunch, members and guests will view "The San Francisco Experience" in the Electrovision Theatre in the Old Mustard Building at Ghiradelli Square.

LEAGUE OF Women Voters of Central Marin is having a membership coffee Thursday at 10 a.m. at the San Geronimo Golf Club.

Werner von Gundell, director of the Marin County Planning Department, will review the Marin County Master Plan.

Mrs. Leo A. Wagner of Novato is membership chairman.

THE SAUSALITO Woman's Club will hear a talk, "A New Slant on Horoscopes," at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the clubhouse by local author Steven Schmidt.

Schmidt, an astrology researcher, technical writer and editor, is the author of a new book, "14 Signs of the Zodiac."

Mrs. Frank Rossman is chairman.

Artist To Mold Ross Classes

Classes, for all media with emphasis on landscapes, will be held on Wednesdays starting Sept. 22 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Art and Garden Center.

Linseed Oil Use

After applying linseed oil to raw wood, all excess should be wiped off after a few minutes. Vigorous rubbing is then necessary to work the oil into the wood. Failure to take these steps may result in a tacky surface difficult to correct.

SCENE

Princess Will Be Honored

By MOLLY MARIN

Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra and her husband, the Hon. Angus Ogilvy of England, will be guests of honor at a dinner Oct. 1 in the Garden Court of the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

Hosting the black tie dinner, which will launch British Week in San Francisco, is the English-Speaking Union.

AN OLD-FASHIONED picnic was hosted Saturday evening my Mr. and Gordon F. Parr of San Rafael on a greensward in Forest Meadows, prior to the Marin Shakespeare Festival's production of "As You Like It."

Attending the picnic and play were Dr. Joel J. Kudler and Mr. and Mrs. S. Robert Politzer of Sausalito, The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Davisson of San Anselmo and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dwyer of the Napa Valley.

Mr. Parr is president of the Marin Shakespeare Festival board of directors.

MRS. PAUL Duggan of Belvedere is a new provisional member of the Little Jim Club of Children's Hospital and was welcomed by president, Mrs. Richard T. Conlon, at a luncheon held today at the hospital in San Francisco.

Kaufman's

DISCOVERIES
Jack Shelton

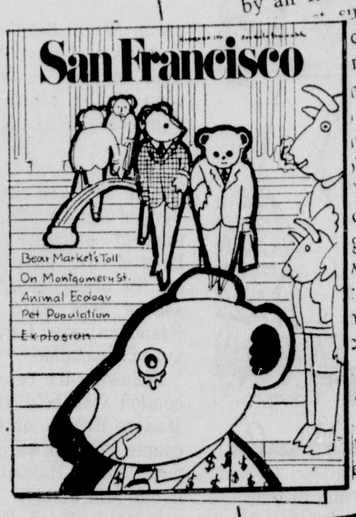
Cheese Preservers make the ideal gift for any cheese lover. A gift should be something the recipient would really use, not exclaim over and then tuck away in a closet. Equally important, it should be just enough of a luxury item, one which people hesitate to buy for themselves. When you come right down to it, you can make your own cheese preserver at very little cost. But you know you never get around to it. Thus, the outstanding and attractive one available at Kaufman's in San Anselmo deserves your consideration.

Fine imported cheeses can be costly, especially to westerners, as most arrive by air from Europe. It makes no sense ... such sizeable sums and then ... cheese in your refrigerator. ...res you to remember to re- ...n long enough in advance of ... insure their return to room ...re. (A person who would serve ...ld brie would poison his own ...) In addition, fine cheeses take ...odors of other foodstuffs sur- ...g them. A Cheese Preserver is ...ver. The technique is very simple. ...ge earthenware crock has ridges ...to the bottom. This enables you ...e 2/3 cup of vinegar, plus 1 table- ... of salt first diluted in a little ... The combined liquids and salt re- ...within the ridges so as not to actu- ...touch the bottom piece of cheese ...ed atop the ridges.

When the lid is placed on the preserver, your cheese will keep a maximum length of time without deterioration and, best of all, it will always be at room temperature—ready for instant use. Of course, you should keep it in a relatively cool place but never, never in the refrigerator.

Mozart Kaufman, owner of the very fine Kaufman's establishment, points out that a very soft cheese placed directly on the ridges may be pushed out of shape, so a small plate may be placed atop the ridges to avoid this. I suggest this procedure only when absolutely necessary and then be certain you do not use a large plate; otherwise, you stop the flow of the vinegar-salt mixture which, after all, is the secret of cheese preservation. When keeping a combination of soft and harder cheeses, simply be sure to place the softest on top.

Incidentally, if you give one of these Cheese Preservers as a holiday gift, don't bother writing down the basic instructions; they are conveniently provided with each Cheese Preserver. You will find these preservers at Kaufman's, 540 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, California 94960. Better phone the gourmet section first (456-7890) if you are journeying a distance, as this is an imported item and sometimes there is a delay in replenishing the stock. Naturally, you can order them by phone or mail at $12 each plus tax. The ones I saw were bold blue and white striped and should fit quite comfortably into any kitchen color scheme. □



Jack Shelton has said it all. The columnist, whose "Discoveries" enrich San Francisco magazine, discovered our cheese preserver and has, since then, sent us a steady stream of cheese lovers. Happily, we have a new supply of these much-in-demand earthenware crocks designed to save fine cheeses and, therefore, money. Handsome in off-white with blue 12.00

by Helen and Sue Bottel

DEAR SUE AND HELEN:

Maybe the two of you can give me a new look at myself — sort of from both sides of the fence.

My problem is I've been a big put-on all my life. I try to be friends with everyone, and it looks (to others) that I'm successful, but instead, I'm getting lonelier and farther away every day.

Last year I wanted to be a long-hair, so I smoked grass, but didn't like it, and quit. Those guys still consider me a friend.

Next, I went to the straight kids, ran for student council president and won. That's because people think I'm "popular." You see, I'm into sports and was football captain last year.

I finally woke up to find I have no true friends and am not as great as I thought. I just go from one group to another, "bulling" it through like a con artist. Life has always come too easy for me. I get what I want but it isn't honest, and someday I'll be found out. For the first time I'm realizing what a phony I am and I'm sick of myself.

I'd like to start over again, but how can you when you've acted so long you don't know if there is a real person under all that "scenery"? — DON

SUE'S VIEWS

DEAR DON:

Welcome to the group! You aren't as unusual as you think.

It's hard not to try making a different impression on different kinds of people because most humans are part chameleon too: We change the "color" of our personalities to suit the persons we're with at the time. So you're "longhair" with the longhairs, and "straight" with the straights because you want to be liked — and who doesn't?

How to start over? Figure out where you really stand and don't be afraid to speak your mind. Sure, you'll lose a few acquaintances, but you'll gain true friends — kids who have their heads straight (both longhair and not) — and they'll help you away from being a politician. — Sue.

HELEN SAYS:

DEAR DON:

Perhaps you're putting yourself down too much: When things have always come so easily, we tend to feel guilty.

As Sue says, "We're all part chameleon." But the wise ones recognize this weakness early. Now that you've asked, "Who am I?" I think you'll soon uncover the basic Don — the boy who'd rather stand up for what he believes than be "everybody's pal," but nobody's friend.

The longhairs made you probe more deeply than usual, right? So you swung over to the safer straights, and some of their standards didn't jibe either. Possibly you thought that making council president would put you right with both groups, but it only confused you more, for a leader is often loneliest of all. People don't get close because they're either scared or envious. He must work doubly hard to show he's human: truly interested in others and not just in pushing himself out front.

I doubt you'll have much trouble finding "the real person behind all that scenery." You've hit the honest button early. Congratulations! — HELEN

DEAR SUE:

All this Women's Lib talk leaves us high school girls cold. How about you? — STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Ditto! In high school, girls are trying to get the guy, not fight him! After we marry, it's time enough to think of Liberation. — SUE

NOTE FROM HELEN: Gloria Steinem will hate you, Susie, but according to my mail, you speak for most high school girls. — H.

Vows Said In Ceremony On Hilltop

Deborah J. Cruson and Robert L. Peugh Jr., both of San Rafael, were married Sept. 5 in San Rafael in a hill-top ceremony.

Attending the couple were Gerry Arrowood of San Rafael, matron of honor, and Wally Seskin of San Diego, best man.

A reception at the couple's home followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Cruson of Ontario, Ore., are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Peugh of Phoenix, Ariz.

Robert was graduated from the University of Arizona and is employed by Holiday Magic, Inc., in San Rafael.

Too Soon

Starting a baby too soon on solid foods may head him toward a lifetime weight problem, according to a report from Washington State Heart Association-sponsored research team. The group also suggests that curtailing excessive weight gain during infancy and early childhood might help to prevent later weight problems.

Plastics Are Fluid, Modern, Beautiful

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

It may be a plastic world to the under-30 set, who put an unattractive interpretation on the word plastic. But to me and some contemporary designers, plastics are beautiful.

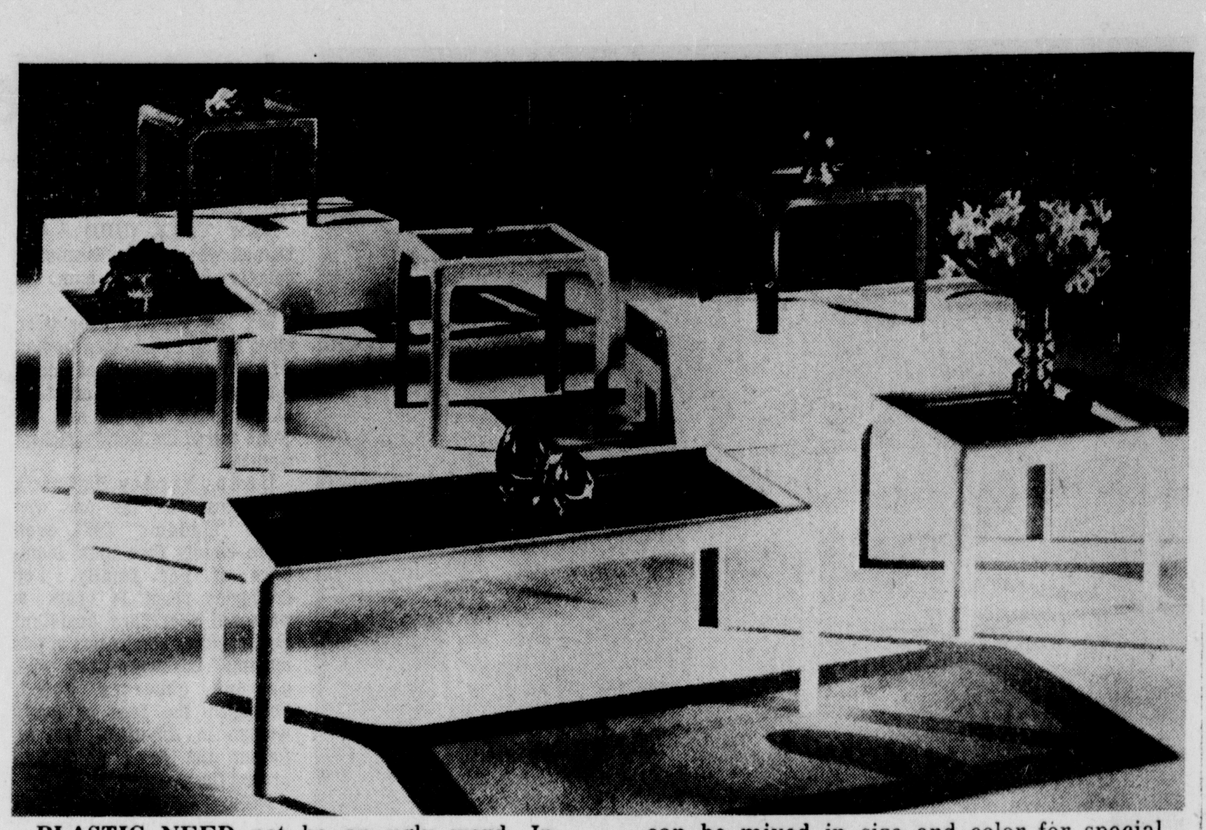
The very word conjures up a flowing, fluid motion. Think of the plasticity of the great poured concrete bridges and structures around the world. Yes, concrete is a plastic material. It can be shaped and sculptured and designed to carry a great deal of stress.

So the plastic product need not be a reproduction of any other classic material. It has a world of its own and an appropriateness for today and tomorrow.

PLASTICS, AS a generic group, have been badly used. But when you take a look around the house, you'll realize how the manufacturers of small utilitarian objects have made almost the best use of plastics. Take for example, the plastic bowl. It was the first great concept in plastic for home use. You could hold it in your hand, squeeze it, pour from it, refrigerate it. In fact, that bowl was chosen as a museum quality object in the first good design show at the Museum of Modern Art in 1948.

Today's housewares continue to give you a bargain in plastics. But there are more significant products on the horizon. The line of tables illustrated today is just part of the revolution occurring in the home furnishings industry. What better material could you find for the simple role of the pullup table? It's a perfect role for the scar-and-stain-resistant materials. And the touch of bright color can be an asset in any kind of room.

The line shown is part of Bassett's Concept 80 group. The series includes bunching tables, lamp tables and cocktail tables in colors described as lobster red, avocado, yellow and white. The plastic is a high-impact, color-integrated ABS. It's tough, rigid and sturdy. Tops are quarter-inch glass in a muted gray tone, a nice balance to the brilliantly colored frames.



PLASTIC NEED not be an ugly word. In contemporary designs for the home plastics take on a fluid look with clean lines, such as shown in this array of handy tables. They can be mixed in size and color for special effects. The tops are quarter-inch glass in a muted gray tone.

Couple Wed, Will Live In Petaluma

Maxine Boucher of Novato was the maid of honor and Valerie Wells of Novato, the bridegroom's sister, and Cara Siler of Novato, the bride's sister, were the bridesmaids.

Roderick Wells of Novato was his brother's best man. The ushers were the bride's brother, Kenneth Siler of Novato, and Lynn Swenson, also of Novato.

They plan to live in Petaluma.

Christine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Siler of Novato and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Siler of Napa and Mrs. Orvin B. Gaston of Vallejo.

She was graduated from Novato High School and attended the College of Marin.

Randall also is a graduate of Novato High School and attended the College of Marin. He is employed by the Marin Municipal Water District.

He is the son of Mrs. Robert Wells of Novato and the late Mr. Wells. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stroeh of Novato and Mrs. Ruth Wells of Martinez.

PEEL O MATIQUE
REMOVES THE DRY DEAD SKIN
(revealing the soft young under-layer)

Come in and meet the Peel O Matique Consultant at our Cosmetics counter.

Why does your body remain years younger looking than your face? Because daily bathing or showering, plus the gentle friction of clothing causes the tiny dead skin tissues to continually be removed, letting fresh skin take its rightful place—while face and hands are exposed to the harsh elements (sun, wind, dust, etc.) and the dead, dried-out skin tissue does not shed as fast. This dry layer of skin forms a congesting film that locks-in telltale aging lines and skin blemishes!

It is no longer necessary to suffer the so-called ravages of time. The gentle assist from PEEL O MATIQUE will challenge crows feet, lines above the lips, blemishes, deeply etched wrinkles and crepey skin in three steps used in the privacy of your boudoir. PEEL O MATIQUE will gently remove the dead, dry layer and allow the skin that renews itself daily to come through.

Just as a waxed floor builds up a screen so thick it discolors and hides the true value of the surface—so does the dead, dry layer of your skin prevent the loveliness of your complexion from coming through. Even the most potent of lotions can't penetrate this shield to work their magic. PEEL O MATIQUE will enable you to derive the potential benefits of cosmetics and creams.

Look at the smoothness of your man's face. He may have laugh lines around his eyes, or creases on the forehead, but the lower part of his face is wrinkle free. Why? Because daily shaving removes that outer layer of useless cuticle skin that locks in wrinkles, blemishes and lines.

The three steps of PEEL O MATIQUE are gentle to even the most sensitive skin. Phase I is massaged into the skin. You continue massaging until you feel the shedding take place (like rubbing off skin tissue following a sunburn). Phase II is a firming protective lotion applied to your 'new' skin. Phase III supplements your skin with the natural nutrients of pure protein. It takes but minutes to apply . . . and in a matter of weeks the results will be obvious to everyone.

Non-allergic PEEL O MATIQUE is for the back of the hands too. Prominent veins recede when the skin is permitted to 'plump out'. Surface spots and blemishes vanish along with that crepey texture. You are going to love looking more beautiful, younger!

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 14, the 257th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

On this day in history:

In 1847 the United States Army occupied Mexico City.

In 1901 President William McKinley died from wounds inflicted by an assassin eight days earlier.

In 1963 the first quintuplets in U.S. history to survive were born in Aberdeen, South Dakota, to Mrs. Andrew Fischer.

In 1969 the tanker S.S. Manhattan became the first commercial ship to navigate the northwest passage.

A thought for today: from the constitution of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization: "Since wars begin in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed."

The Enemy Can Be Great Boost In Making This Six-Heart Slam

If you don't like the slam contract in today's hand, any number of pessimists will agree with you. You need quite a bit of luck to avoid the loss of two spade tricks, but suppose you have just seen the happily revived musical "Candide," and you're convinced that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds. So you optimistically bid the slam. Now all you have to do is make it.

FIVE SPADES?

West opens the king of spades, and you are entitled to assume that West has bid on a five-card suit. This means that East starts with only one spade. I have to tell you this because none of my readers would dream of sneaking a look at the East-West hands. From here on, however, you're on your own.

You take the ace of spades at once, draw a round of trumps with the king and then clear the ace of diamonds out of the way. You continue with a trump to dummy's nine, ruff a low diamond, lead a club to the ace and ruff the ten of diamonds.

You were hoping to ruff out the king of diamonds since that would enable you to discard a spade on the queen of diamonds.

DIG DEEPER

The plan doesn't work, so you must dig deeper to cultivate your garden. Cash the king of clubs, ruff a club in dummy and lead the queen of diamonds. East covers with the king of diamonds, and you get ready to ruff with your next-to-last trump.

If the roof happened to fall in on you just then, you would be able to announce that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds since the accident prevents you from making a bad play. Put that trump back in your hand.

DISCARD SPADE

Instead of ruffing the king of diamonds, you must discard a spade. East wins the trick but must return a diamond or a club (for lack of anything else). You discard your last spade while dummy ruffs — thus making the slam.

I bet you never thought Voltaire and Leonard Bernstein would help you make a slam!

ANSWER: Pass if vulnerable since a vulnerable overcall should promise very nearly the strength of an opening bid.

ART REVIEW

Broad Range In Faculty Show

By ADA GARFINKEL

The moment one enters the Fine Arts Gallery at College of Marin to see the new Art Faculty Show (which continues through Oct. 8), one becomes instantly aware of the broad range of talent and expression ... so much so, in fact, as to belie the old adage: "those who can, do; those who can't teach."

Most dramatic are the technologically enhanced sculptures. Glen Miller, for example, fabricates a delicious red torso out of vacuum-formed glass fiber, sprays its glossy body a brilliant red, and lashes it to one of the gallery's sculpture platforms with black thongs.

Farhad Moezzi's new sculptures are of tubular black chrome and of textured steel pipe with organic accents of polished metal. They are only about three feet in height ... but they really make one think of somber things, for they are monumental in concept, and are reminiscent of steles. And Barry McDowell's oversized helmet of Germanic origin, and made of cast steel is both beautifully conceived and mind-grabbing to contemplate.

The weavers, too, are having a field day as they extend their scope. Carol Beadle, for instance, calls her work crocket sculpture, and so it is ... a chair of woven leather and rope!

But novelty is not the theme, and there are many rewarding viewings throughout the handsome gallery. A stroll into the inner court of enclosing panels reveals prints by Eleanore Bender in Mexican and American-Indian geometric format; Kent Rupp's "Old Master" paintings, and Tom Meisenheimer's biting and lyrical — yes, his range is broad — pop-art photos.

Elsewhere, the two glass cases on either side of the Gallery as one enters house Dale Roush's huge ceramic covered jar, and fetishes (also crocheted — by Carol Beadle) in the left hand case, and look for Thano Johnson's miniature porcelain bottles in the right one, also his sparkling watercolors from his Sierra Sketchbook which are also there.

For a breathtaking view of the origin of life, Martin Stoelzel's tour-de-force paintings of seven scenes from GENESIS leave one ready for a light touch, so one must visit Alton Raible's hilarious birds on the back wall and try to identify in them the features of three of his fellow-faculty-exhibitors in the show!

A worthy pause is due Susan Thompson's hanging weaving titled: "Rhode Island Perplexity;" Ida Grae's alternately fringed-and-banded textured rug, and Ross Curtis' ethnic mother and child ceramic sculpture.

For photography buffs, there is the solarized work by Gene Martz; street markings and patterns by Edward Douglas, and people and pets by Thos. C. Johnson.

The Fine Arts Gallery at College of Marin is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 10 p.m.

Police Panel Suggests Trial Period

The projected new Tiburon police department should undergo at least a one-year shakedown period before it considers selling service to the City of Belvedere.

This was the consensus of a joint police study committee from Tiburon and Belvedere which has completed its review of the recent report by Edward S. Kreins, former Sausalito police chief and now chief in Pleasant Hill, who made the proposal.

The committee's recommendation, however, would appear to lack force, since the Belvedere City Council last week declared its intention of retaining its own separate police force. The council did say it would consider joint participation with Tiburon in some specialized services, but these were not spelled out.

Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood last night outlined the committee's recommendations to the council, which is faced with establishing and putting into operation a police force by July 1. The city currently contracts with the Marin County Sheriff's Department for police protection.

Although representatives from Belvedere said the two cities' should not consolidate police departments physically at this time, several joint services were suggested, Miss Ellinwood reported.

Included were 24-hour communication lines; possible police boat; sharing police records; a juvenile officer to serve both cities and possible joint ambulance service.

The group's recommendation that Tiburon proceed with selecting and hiring a chief of police, to begin duties Jan. 1, was curtailed by Tiburon City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

Balmer suggested the council wait until the outcome of the Oct. 19 annexation election before advertising for a chief in order to be able to tell him the actual size of the city.

The council concurred with Balmer's suggestion.

Tiburon City Council also:

PARKING — Approved position of parking controller be established at a monthly salary of between $712 and $867 to replace a deputy sheriff leaving the force.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE — Heard first reading of amendments to traffic ordinance that extend limited parking requirements to include Sundays and holidays, and until 7 p.m. rather than the previous 5 p.m. restriction Monday through Friday.

OPEN SPACE — Continued until next Monday action on a proposal to spend $16,090 to hire a consultant to plan open space on Tiburon Peninsula.

ADJOURNED — To 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss open space proposal, alignment of Tiburon Boulevard and possible purchase of Strawberry Cove.

State Cancels Burn Permits

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Citing the possibility of "disastrous wild fires," the state has suspended all state burning permits.

The suspension, which took effect at Midnight Monday, was ordered by James Stearns, director of the Department of Conservation and State Forester Lewis Moran.

The burning ban applies to all areas where the state is responsible for fire protection.

A spokesman for the forestry department said the permits were suspended because of continued hot weather and strong, dry north winds.

DRAMA REVIEW

Bedford Delightful In Moliere Comedy

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Brian Bedford, the toast of Broadway last season as Arnolphe in Moliere's "School for Wives," recreated that role last night at the Geary Theater.

And it has to be one of the most delightful single performances this reviewer has yet to see. In short, it is a tour de force in the grandest manner.

Moliere, who had a special genius to laugh at the human condition, is brought back to life brilliantly through Richard Wilbur's hilariously funny translation. And what Wilbur has transcribed, Bedford brings to life in sparkling fashion.

Arnolphe is Moliere's definitive portrait of a man possessed by jealousy and living in fear of becoming a cuckold, so driven by this feat that he spends years carefully preparing his intended wife for marriage. All he wants is a wife who will "say her prayers, love me, spin and sew." And he asks "is a man so simple that he wants a simple wife?"

Bedford in molding the character that Moliere has sketched leaves not a theatrical nuance untouched. A fluff of his feathered hat is a study of flowing motion. And Bedford's forced laughs when he finds his love plot collapsing are pure joy to hear.

Joining Bedford in creating the high comedy are Joan Van Ark as the charming and beautiful Agnes, and David Dukes, who got his theatrical start on stages in Marin County and later with the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco, as her young lover Horace. Both are most convincing and needless to say have learned much from Bedford's sterling portrayal.

David Hooks as Chrysalde and James Green as Alain and Peggy Cooper as Georgette lend to the hilarity of the evening.

The feeling of the 17th Century is captured by James Tilton in the small setting in which the closed courtyard opens up and in costumes by Jancy Potts which are rich in texture.

The Moliere comedy, an offering by the Phoenix Theater of New York under the artful direction of Stephen Porter in association with ACT, will be at the Geary through Sept. 25. The Phoenix troupe is also responsible for the just closed "Harvey" with Gig Young and Shirley Booth.

Despite last night's sweltering heat, which at times seemed almost to engulf the stage, the company never lost its sparkle and Bedford earned a rightful standing ovation from the coatless crowd.

For any student of the theater Bedford's performance is a must.

The schedule calls for performances at 8:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays, and at 2:30 p.m., Wednesdays and Saturdays.

"SCHOOL FOR WIVES" — A two-act comedy by Moliere. Translated by Richard Wilbur. A New York Phoenix Theater production in association with American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco. Directed by Stephen Porter. Scenery and lighting, James Tilton; costumes, Nancy Potts, and music, Conrad Susa. The cast: Chrysalde, David Hooks; Arnolphe, Brian Bedford; Alain, James Greene; Georgette, Peggy Cooper; Agnes, Joan Van Ark; Horace, David Dukes; Notary, Tony Manionis; Enrique, Mario Siletti, and Oronte, Peter Harris.

Safety On Boulevard Key Concern

Tiburon City Council would like the state Highway Division to take immediate steps to make highly-congested, winding Tiburon Boulevard safe while it studies possible expansion of the roadway.

The council last night directed its staff to draw up a resolution to that effect after debating the merits of the state's proposal to construct a four-lane highway the length of the Peninsula by widening Tiburon Boulevard.

The directive will advise the highway division that the council finds the proposal for a four-lane road unacceptable; that it is undertaking a study to determine if any expansion of Tiburon Boulevard is desirable and asks the department to assign the highest priority to improving safety on the road, Route 131.

Four specific suggestions were included in the request for a safer highway: adequate realignment of Trestle Glen; appropriate stacking lanes; resurfacing the road and safe crossing by signals, tunneling or bridging.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning called "ludicrous" the state's proposal, later modified by the Joint Belvedere-Tiburon Balanced Transportation Committee in February, that the boulevard be widened by filling in the bay.

He said the proposal is no longer feasible and certainly would be vetoed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission which must approve such plans. Fanning is a member of the commission.

Councilman Albert H. Sennett urged the council to concern itself first with obtaining immediate safety conditions on the roadway before making up its mind on whether or not Tiburon Boulevard should be widened.

The council approved Sennett's proposed resolution 4-1 with Fanning dissenting.

Homeowners Step In To Abate Odor

A Tiburon homeowners association which has been suffering the brunt of offensive odor from the Trestle Glen sewage treatment plant has stepped in to clean up the odor.

James D. McArthur, president of the Little Reed Heights-Tiburon Knolls Homeowners' Association, last night told the city council the group has reached an agreement with the Richardson Bay Sanitary District to abate the odor problem.

McArthur said the homeowners will request $5,800 at the district's meeting next Tuesday to cover the cost of a gas burner ($4,800) and consultant's fee ($1,000).

The association hired two professors from the University of California at Berkeley, Drs. Jerome Thomas and David Jenkins, who studied the source of odors at the sewage treatment plant and made recommendations, McArthur said.

When the solution was presented to the district last month, the board asked the association to reach an agreement with the Nute Company of San Rafael, its engineering consultant and to request funding for the corrective work at the next meeting.

McArthur did not explain what was causing the odor problem or how much the association paid to hire the two professors.

The council which had called a public hearing on the odor problem last night postponed action on the matter for an indefinite length of time until the homeowners' solution is tried.

Two years ago, the same residents complained to the city council about similar odors.

At that time, the council drew up abatement proceedings against the district, but retracted them when the engineers promised complete elimination of the odors.

In November, 1969, a study was made which cited the source of odors as "associated with the processes of handling raw sewage and sewage sludge."

Borgnine's Wife Seeks Divorce

Mrs. Borgnine asked for division of community property and support for their two children, Christopher, 5, and Sharon, 6.

HERE COMES THE JUDGE — BOWWOW

Getting 22-year-old Doug Broyles ready for his role as the Old English Sheepdog, Judge, in "Wind in the Willows" is a two-and-a-half-hour task, starting with the raw material (left), applying white face makeup, a goatee and moustache, a bulbous, black nose, and finally spectacles and a furry hood to transform him into the shaggy dog (right) for the children's play. Broyles, of Berkeley, is a member of the Marin Shakespeare Festival cast which is presenting "Wind in the Willows" at 2 p.m. each Saturday in September in the Forest Meadows amphitheater at Dominican College in San Rafael. Festival member Jim Mairs wrote the music for A. A. Milne's stage adaptation of the children's story by Kenneth Grahame.

Prison Told To Release Possessions

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday ordered San Quentin prison officials to turn over the personal property of slain inmate George Jackson to his mother or appear in court Sept. 24 to explain why they have not done so.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson's order was sought by Jackson's mother, Georgia B. Jackson of Pasadena.

Jackson was killed during an alleged escape attempt at the prison Aug. 21.

Mrs. Jackson's attorney, Edward C. Bell of San Francisco, said some of Jackson's property was given to him by San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson on Sept. 7.

Other property, however, was turned over to Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Bell said Nelson told him.

Bales declined to state today what property of Jackson's he had, but Bell said it included a manuscript of a book Jackson was working on, various correspondence dating from 1960 and legal documents pertaining to the defense of the Soledad Brothers.

Bell said among the items given to him by Nelson were a watch, keys and key chain, ring, Social Security card, a check and some legal forms.

Six-Month Sentence For Sale Of Drugs

An "incredible" and "outrageous" story yesterday helped keep a Petaluma man from being sentenced to state prison for selling LSD.

Instead, Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court sentenced Vaughn Deb Viator, 27, to six months in Marin County Jail.

Judge Wilson also placed Viator on probation for two years and ordered that he be released from the jail every third weekend to visit with his family.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony had recommended that Viator be sent to prison.

Viator pleaded guilty to the charge in July, and his version of the events leading up to his arrest were contained in a probation report prepared by deputy probation officer Patricia Schuman.

Mrs. Schuman termed the story "incredible" Judge Wilson and Viator's attorney, Berwyn Rice, agreed that it was "outrageous," but all agreed an investigation had uncovered no evidence to disprove it nor evidence to indicate any prior connection of Viator with drugs.

He was arrested Sept. 4, 1970, at a Mill Valley service station where he worked after he sold 6,000 LSD tablets to a state narcotics agent for $2,000.

Viator admitted the sale in July, but told Mrs. Schuman he did it because his family had been threatened by the man who supplied the LSD to him — a man Viator said he knew only as "Larry."

Viator said that Larry had once helped him push a car into a service station.

Last year, Viator said, Larry came to the Mill Valley service station and asked that Viator return the favor. He wanted him to sell some LSD.

When Viator hesitated, he said, Larry pulled out a gun and threatened to harm Viator's family if he did not sell the drug.

Viator said he went to the first person he could, a female customer at the station, and asked if she knew anyone who wanted to buy LSD.

The woman told a friend, who happened to be a deputy sheriff, and the sale was arranged between Viator and a state agent.

Viator told Mrs. Schuman he thinks Larry avoided arrest by watching the sale, and Viator's arrest, through binoculars from a distance.

Mrs. Schuman had recommended Viator be sentenced to four months in jail.

Opening Day Count Is Down

Opening day public school enrollment in Marin County yesterday was down 210 from opening day of last year.

Opening day enrollments, as reported to the county schools office and the Independent-Journal, totaled 51,392 for yesterday, compared to 51,603 on the first day of last school year.

College of Marin's enrollment, however, jumped from 5,728 last year to 6,662 this year. Kindergarten through 12th grade schools in the county declined in enrollment by 1,144, dropping from 45,875 last year to 44,731 this year.

Declines were reported in 13 school districts, and in the preschool program conducted by the county schools office.

Bolinas-Stinson Elementary, 196 and 196; Dixie Elementary, 4,354 and 4,509; Fairfax Elementary, 1,042 and 1,022; Kentfield Elementary, 1,303 and 1,368; Laguna Elementary 17 and 13; Lagunitas Elementary, 470 and 474; Larkspur Elementary, 1,555 and 1,595; Lincoln Elementary, 15 and 17; Mill Valley Elementary, 5,454 and 3,464; Nicasio Elementary, 48 and 47; Reed Elementary, 1,876 and 1,908; Ross Elementary, 462 and 489; San Anselmo Elementary, 2,023 and 2,050; San Rafael Elementary, 4,444 and 4,758; Sausalito Elementary, 451 and 598; Union Elementary, 17 and 15.

Novato Unified, 11,472 and 11,723; Shoreline Unified, 926 and 902; San Rafael High, 4,062 and 4,210; Tamalpais High, 6,114 and 6,062; College of Marin, 6,662 and 5,728; preschool program, 33 and 105; county schools' special education (exclusive of San Quentin Prison and juvenile hall, which operates on different schedules), 397 and 350.

Teachers' Union Charges Violation In Firing Case

A Tamalpais High School District teachers' union last night charged the district board and one of its principals with violating due process of law in refusing to assign classes to a teacher appealing his firing.

According to Marion Higgins, board secretary, the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers maintained that trustees and Raymond J. Bell, principal of Tamalpais High School "prejudged" teacher Kenneth Anderson.

Anderson, fired earlier this year on 11 charges including failure to follow district policies and encouraging or condoning antisocial attitudes among students, is appealing his firing in Marin Superior Court.

The board said teacher assignment is the purview of each school principal and since Anderson is still being paid his salary no violation exists.

During the brief encounter with union representatives last night, the board also refused a union request to discuss the matter behind closed doors, Mrs. Higgins said.

She said the board noted such a closed session with union representatives would be in violation of the state's anti-secret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Anderson, 30, who has taught English at Tam for four years, is a tenured teacher and therefore entitled to an appeal for the board's action.

He has complained that his firing is based on his political beliefs and activities with the teachers union.

In papers filed with the court, the district maintains Anderson is unfit for service and has refused to obey school laws.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

LAWSUIT — Designated Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino as the district's attorney in a $400,000 damage lawsuit brought by parents of mentally retarded children. The parents, members of a group called Citizens Association for Special Education, are also seeking a court order directing the district to reorganize its program for their children.

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT — Agreed that a special advisory committee of parents and taxpayers should be established to oversee the district's controversial decentralization program. The matter was carried over to the next meeting for discussion of the make-up of such a committee.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE — Adopted a negotiated grievance procedure for teachers. It outlines steps for teachers and administrators to follow in grievance matters.

Chase Heads Off Stolen Vehicle

Thomas Brennan noticed a company truck leaving the parking lot at 65 Jacoby Street at 8 a.m. Sunday and gave chase, according to California Highway Patrol officers.

Brennan followed the stolen truck south on Highway 101 until it passed the last exit in Marin County. Then he passed the truck and warned a toll booth operator at the south end of the Golden Gate Bridge that the truck was approaching.

Police were waiting and arrested John Edward Wallace, 21, of Garden Grove and John Allen Thompson, 26, of Whittier, on suspicion of auto theft. The two were booked into San Francisco City Prison.

Marinite To Appear On Pot Charge

I-J Special Report

PACIFICA — A Marin County social worker is to appear in San Mateo County Municipal Court Sept. 20 on a felony charge of possession of marijuana, Pacifica police reported today.

Elaine Goldman, 36, of 9 Hazel Court, San Rafael, was one of 10 persons — including a former San Francisco State College official — arrested Friday at a party. She was released on her own recognizance from San Mateo County Jail.

Nesbit Crutchfield, former black studies administrator at San Francisco State, was freed Sunday night on $1,000 bail, police reported. Pacifica officers said they went to a Sharps Park home to serve a traffic warrant, and found the marijuana party in progress.

Mrs. Goldman is a Marin County employee, according to Betty L. Presley, director of the department of public social services. She said Mrs. Goldman was at work today.

Deer Sends Cyclist Officer To Hospital

A Mill Valley police officer was treated for multiple leg scrapes at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a run-in with a deer on the Corte Madera Grade.

Police said Officer Martin Nielsen, 24, was traveling northbound on his motorcycle about 8:40 a.m. when a deer jumped from the bank above him, struck the officer and the cycle and knocked both to the ground.

Board Finally Approves Sale Of Eastwood Land

Mill Valley School District trustees last night after months of negotiation approved the sale of its 5.13-acre Eastwood property to the Tamalpais Community Services District for $66,500.

The land at Eastwood Way and Glenwood Avenue will be used for public recreation, according to a clause in the contract, Supt. James A. Collins said.

A more restrictive clause, previously the source of conflict between the two groups, had limited the use of the land to parks and recreation.

The new wording, Collins said, indicates only the intent of both groups to keep the land as open space.

The Tamalpais Community Services District which meets tonight is expected to approve the purchase, according to Collins.

The services district has applied to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for a $37,000 grant to purchase the property.

If HUD approves the grant, a restricting clause limiting use of the land to parks and recreation will be mandatory.

In other business, the school district board adopted minimum study requirements set by the county and established a minimum 240-minute day for primary grades and a 300-minute minimum for higher levels.

The board met in closed session at the end of the meeting to discuss current negotiations with the Mill Valley Teachers Association, Collins said. The two groups still have not reached agreement on a new contract.

Meeting Schedule

The Terra Linda Recreation-Park District has announced its November meeting will be Nov. 10 because the regular meeting day, Nov. 11, is Veteran's Day. Next month's meeting will be Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. at the recreation center.

Robbery Of Boat Captain Is Foiled

A gunman attempted to rob a fishing boat captain on the Sausalito waterfront today and may have been wounded while fleeing after the try was foiled.

Sausalito police said the would-be robber jumped into the auto of fishing boat captain Hank Schramm of Novato, at 4:15 a.m. today when Schramm stopped for a traffic light at Bridgeway and Harbor Drive.

The intruder held a gun to Schramm's head and ordered him to drive to the Clipper Yacht Harbor area at the foot of Harbor Drive.

Schramm obeyed, then leaped from the car when he reached the harbor. The gunman fired a single shot, which missed, and then ran toward downtown Sausalito. Schramm told police he pulled his own gun, fired two shots, and saw the man stumble, then continue running.

Fish and Chips Social Saturday

The Marin chapter of the British-American Club of Northern California will sponsor a fish and chips social night and dancing at the Log Cabin in San Anselmo Saturday.

Orders for fish and chips will be taken at 7:45 p.m. and at 8:15 p.m. The Prince Charles Bagpipe Band and the Mill Valley Scottish Country Dancers will perform.

Nancy Peppitt of Terra Linda, secretary of the club, said non members are welcome.

Man Arraigned On Assault, Battery

Edward H. Voss, 31, of Sonoma, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court on two counts of battery and assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $2,500 and scheduled Voss to enter a plea next Monday at 1:30 p.m. He was arrested Friday after a youngster said Voss kicked him with baseball cleats at McNear Park. Officer William Lane said Voss struck him during booking at the jail.

Cooling For New Cars Eliminated

The council members approved the bid specifications prepared by City Adm. Robert E. Crowe — except that they deleted proposals for air conditioning in the three passenger autos to be purchased.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

BRIDGE — Rejected Rolin-Tee Co. design proposals for the Bridge Court bridge and instructed its city engineer to proceed with his design for the structure which will be presented at the council's next meeting.

INTERSECTION — Held up action regarding intersection modifications at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Claus and Bank streets until the city attorney and city engineer can determine whether action would affect a suit pending against the city by a citizen injured at the intersection.

AUDITORS — Accepted auditors report on the 1970-71 fiscal year which set the city's revenues at $597,799, expenditures at $529,929, and balance at $556,376 as of June 30.

NOISE — Accepted city administrator's conclusion on noise abatement that the city have sufficient laws to control noise problems.

PAY — Tabled a proposed amendment to the town code regarding pay increases for employees. The new amendment would remove automatic pay advances and base raises on the quality of an employee's performance. The measure would also reduce pay for performances assessed inferior by the department head and city administrator.

ALCOHOL — Adopted an amendment to the town code prohibiting drinking of alcoholic beverages on public streets, sidewalks, passageways, playgrounds, and rights-ofway.

CLOSED SESSION — Adjourned into closed session to consider the possible disciplining of a city employee.

MEETING — Adjourned to its next regular meeting Oct. 1.

HOW TO BUY MORE HOUSE THAN YOU CAN AFFORD

Pick a price out of thin air. Then go out and buy it by yourself, and pay more than you'd planned, because you couldn't find what you wanted at the price you had in mind.

A better idea is to let us help. We're Realtors. Experts who know how to help you find what you can afford. And even help you find mortgage money.

Whatever we do, we'll do in your best interest, because we're pledged to a strict code of ethics.

So, doesn't it make sense to see us first?

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things, whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, a Realtor can be invaluable in judging prices and values of homes. He can tell you what the market is (he knows it well) — what homes are worth, and what they are selling for; he can evaluate properties properly, and he can tell you if a price is realistic.

An Estate With A Gate

Leads into this country setting on 7.70 acres, located on Bennet Valley Road. This large California ranch home has a heavy shake roof and large over-sized garage and is in a magnificent setting amongst numerous oak trees and natural rock out croppings. It was built in 1970 by one of Marin county's finest builders. Double hand-carved doors lead into an imported Mexican tile entry. The living room has beamed ceilings and beautiful carpeting. The kitchen is a gourmet's dream. The family room has a wall to wall fireplace of Sonoma stone with a wet bar & refrigerator plus a Franciscan Forge Barbecue, which is smokeless and odorless. There are 4 bedrooms. The master bedroom suite has a sumptuous, sunken bath and "his & her" walk-in closets in the dressing room. There is also another large bath with twin dressing tables and a separate powder room. A large patio is enhanced with olympic-size pool which is heated and filtered. For horse-minded people, there is a new barn with loft and tack room. Other amenities too numerous to mention. May we show you, by appointment. Asking $125,000. Exclusive. Evenings 897-1574.

STOP!

Please don't read this ad unless you believe in the American free enterprise system.
But if you do; if you believe America still offers unlimited opportunity to anyone with a little horse-sense who is willing to roll up his sleeves and go to work. If you believe it strongly enough to invest in your own and America's future; then, perhaps, you're the person we're looking for to operate a new concept vending business in this area.
But let's not kid each other; it takes more than wishful thinking to achieve the financial independence you want. To qualify for our distributorship; you must make a cash performance deposit of $975 to $4,000; you must have some spare time to devote to service; but most of all, you must have a sincere desired to make your business grow.
If you think you qualify, write us a note telling us about your background, and then we'll tell you all about us. And say, please include your phone number.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE
Case Number 61138

Superior Court of California - County of Marin.

Re: Petition of PATRICIA KATHLEEN ALLEN SARABALE for Change of Name.

WHEREAS PATRICIA KATHLEEN ALLEN SARABALE, petitioner, has filed a petition with the clerk of this court for an order changing petitioner's name from PATRICIA KATHLEEN ALLEN SARABALE to PATRICIA KATHLEEN ALLEN;

IT IS ORDERED that all persons interested in the above-entitled matter appear before this court at 9:00 A.M., on Oct. 1, 1971, in the courtroom of Presiding Judge Dept. No. 4, at the courthouse in San Rafael, Marin County, California, and show cause, if any, why the petition for change of name should not be granted.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order to show cause be published in THE INDEPENDENT JOURNAL, a newspaper of general circulation printed in the County of Marin, California, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing on the petition.

Manson Burns Cell Bedding

LOS ANGELES. (UPI) — Charles Manson's jail privileges were revoked for 10 days Monday because he set fire to the bedding in his cell at the Hall of Justice.

Manson, under death sentence for the Tate-Labianca murders, currently is on trial for the slayings of musician Gary Hinman and stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea.

A sheriff's department spokesman said Manson set fire to blankets and a towel before going to court in the morning.

Democrats Doubt Withholding Date

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Key Democratic legislators agreed today that Gov. Ronald Reagan's deadline for enacting income tax withholding won't be met.

As Democrats prepared for face-to-face negotiations with the Republican chief executive, they showed no sign of relaxing their insistence that withholding must be included in an overall tax reform and property tax relief package.

Reagan one week ago gave the legislature two weeks to enact withholding so the state general fund's cash flow squeeze could be eased.

The governor has maintained that tax reform and property tax relief can be handled as issues separate from withholding.

But Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, and Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, Monday doused cold water on Reagan's appeal for enacting withholding separately.

Hitchhiker Is Discovered Dead

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A New York man who had been hitchhiking cross-country for nearly two months was found robbed and beaten to death Monday in the Baldwin Hills district.

The nude body of Kenneth S. Jackson, 27, of Long Island, was found on a knoll in the hilly neighborhood after residents reported hearing moans from that direction.

Jackson, who was dead when police found him, had been killed with a blunt instrument. Detectives said identity papers offered the telephone number of Jackson's mother in New York. She said her son had left home July 26 to travel.

Principals' Reports To Larkspur Board

The Larkspur School District board, meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the district office, will hear school reports from its four principals.

The reports will deal with school maintenance and student enrollment, according to a district spokesman.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Sharp Decline In Sausalito's Student Count

The Sausalito School District experienced a sharp decline in enrollment on the first day of school yesterday, as only 451 youngsters attended classes at Bayside and Martin Luther King schools.

The total was 67 fewer than anticipated enrollment of 518 students and 147 fewer than on the opening day last year when 598 students were in Sausalito schools.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the opening of school in the district went "very smoothly," even though the district is operating two schools instead of four. Central and Manzanita schools will not be used for classes this year.

Because of the enrollment drop, Lindberg said some cuts may have to be made in the district's $1,173,675 budget for 1971-72 which was predicated on 518 students. He could not say what items will be cut, but said he will review the budget this week.

NBC WEEK IS...

THE FUNNY SIDE
A new kind of laugh-filled hour, with five boy-girl duos and Gene Kelly. It's Tuesday night's only comedy series.

TONIGHT LOOK 4 (YOU'LL NEVER LOOK BETTER)

UN Probe Asked By Mrs. Jackson

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Georgia Jackson, mother of slain Soledad Brother George Jackson, said yesterday she will petition the United Nations to investigate the death of her son as well as what she called "the barbarous penal institutions of the state of California."

Mrs. Jackson made the remarks at Glide Memorial Church, from which many newsmen were barred because the Jackson family said they have given "bogus coverage" to Jackson's death.

The convict died in what was apparently an abortive escape attempt which set off violence leaving five others dead at San Quentin on Aug. 21.

Mrs. Jackson yesterday repeated earlier statements that her son was murdered and said that she expected charges to be filed against some of the remaining family.

"Now that they have murdered the body of George L. Jackson, which they are attempting to conceal with the Hitlerian technique of the big lie, they will attempt to eliminate the rest of the family through phony indictments and charges," she said.

Asked what the charges were, Mrs. Jackson said she had read about them in a newspaper clipping which she did not identify. "Nobody has ever bothered to say anything to us," she added.

Her petition for a UN investigation, which she asked that others throughout the country and world sign, said that "neigher the state of California nor the United States of America will conduct an unbiased investigation of the killing."

Asked whether she had faith in the United Nations, Mrs. Jackson replied that she did. She said that she plans to go to New York to make a personal plea for an investigation.

Penny Jackson, George's sister, read a statement saying that Gov. Ronald Reagan, the California judiciary, state prison officials and personnel at San Quentin did "with malice aforethought perpetrate the cowardly murder of one George L. Jackson . . ."

Drive Begins For Tomales Bay Study

The Marin Audubon Society and the Marin Conservation League have joined forces in an effort to raise $10,000 toward an environmental study of Tomales Bay, according to the presidents of the two groups.

Dudley S. Hubbard, president of the Audubon Society, and Harold Gregg, league president, said that "Tomales Bay is in the same critical situation that Bolinas Lagoon was 10 years ago."

In a letter asking contributions, the two presidents said that the bay is "the victim of inadequate planning and insufferable zoning" and that it is threatened by "exploitive development, pollution and overpopulation. . ."

Gregg and Hubbard said that a study will be undertaken by the Conservation Foundation which will cost a minimum of $25,000 but they hope to raise enough money for a more complete $29,500 study.

Half the cost will be paid by the foundation, and various governmental agencies may be interested in paying part of the study if private citizens contribute the rest, the two men said.

Commission Denies New Creekside Lot

A new building lot should not be created along Papermill Creek near Point Reyes Station where the property is subject to inundation almost every other year, the Marin County Planning Commissioners decided yesterday.

A request for a new lot came from Victoria Dwyer, who owns more than an acre of land between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Papermill Creek, just south of Point Reyes Station. She already has two building sites but asked that one of the lots be split so that she could have a total of three lots.

Her attorney, Bryan R. McCarthy, said that the property is subject to periodic flooding, but the owner is willing to notify purchasers of the flooding problem.

Acting Chairman John F. West said the area is under five to eight feet of water during winter floods, and he could not deliberately create another building lot in such a flood area.

On a motion by Margaret B. Azevedo, the planning commissioners denied a third lot to Mrs. Dwyer but agreed that she could realign the boundary between her two lots so that both would be more equal in size.

Marin County Planning Commissioners also:

VIEW ACRES — Approved a tentative map for View Acres subdivision, a seven-lot subdivision on 20 acres at the corner of Laguna Vista Drive and Cerro Crest in east Novato. The subdivider is Alfred Bellucci of Novato.

REZAIAN — Denied Taghi Rezaian's request for design approval of about eight buildings at Dolan's Corner in Tamalpais Valley which he wants to use for various shops.

Tahoe Plan Is Attacked

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— A group of professional engineers assert the proposed plan to save Lake Tahoe will not preserve its environment.

"The Tahoe Regional Planning Agency is steamrolling towards the establishment of a regional plan, which will load the basin with hundreds of thousands of permanent residents and leave little to enjoy or opportunity for visitors to enjoy it," the Professional Engineers Tahoe Regional Committee said Monday.

The engineers say there should be limitations on land coverage and population density based on an analysis of land capability; less emphasis on permanent residents and greater provisions for visitors; more emphasis on public transportation to reduce dependence on private cars and allocation of development rights as a device to make possible the implementation of the plan without dependence on federal funds.

About one-third of the U.S. population lives in rural areas.

Planners Delay Decision On Sand Removal Plans

Should contractors be allowed to remove tons of sand from dune areas near Dillon's Beach?

This question came up twice yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission, and in both instances the commissioners put off a decision until Sept. 27 and asked the planning staff to see if the excavations come under a new quarrying ordinance that just went into effect last Friday.

The first request came from James Hazen of Marin Landscaping Co., Novato, which wants to continue excavating for sand from the Richard Hicks property northeast of Tom's Point on the east side of Tomales Bay. Hicks' 259-acre ranch is located southeasterly of Dillon's Beach.

Attorney James A. Duckworth of Novato, representing Hazen, said Hazen has been quarrying for sand on the same property for four years under a previous landowner. Hicks, the new owner, does not want the excavation to continue.

Duckworth said Hazen has an easement on the land until March of next year, and wants a permit to take between 10,000 and 40,000 cubic yards of sand within the next six months. He will not ask for an extension beyond next March.

The other applicant for sand excavation was Merle Lawson of Dillon's Beach. Lawson wants to take sand from an open sand dune between the town of Dillon's Beach and Lawson's Landing trailer camp. Planner Raymond Smith said the area has no vegetation, and removal of sand would not be detrimental.

Quadruplets Die Soon After Birth

SYDNEY (UPI)—Quadruplets born 14 weeks prematurely to an unidentified migrant woman all died within hours of the multiple birth, Crown Street hospital authorities announced today.

The one boy and three girls were born to a woman who had been taking the fertility drug cornadotrophin.

Shapiro Asks New Trial On $106,500 Judgment

San Anselmo attorney Carl B. Shapiro yesterday moved for a new trial of a case in which a Marin Superior Court jury awarded a $106,500 judgment against him and two other attorneys Aug. 27.

Shapiro said he was basing his motion on irregularities in the first trial, abuse of discretion by the trial judge, newly discovered evidence, excessive damages, errors in law during the trial and insufficient evidence to justify the verdict.

The jury found that Shapiro and Vincent Hallinan and his son, Patrick, both of San Francisco, had committed constructive fraud — meaning fraud without intent to defraud — and breach of contract in their dealings with John S. Krysiak, a former San Mateo building contractor whom the attorneys represented in a 1965 civil case in San Mateo.

The jury awarded $46,500 actual damages — a judgment against all three attorneys — and $12,500 punitive damages against Vincent Hallinan.

No court date has been set for hearing of Shapiro's motion.

13-Gun Salute For New Presidio Boss

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A 13-gun salute and an honor guard ceremony greeted Maj. Gen. Albert E. Milloy on Monday when he arrived at the Presidio of San Francisco as the U.S. Sixth Army's new chief of staff.

Ecologists Hit Consolidation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A plan by Gov. Ronald Reagan to put all state anti-pollution agencies under a proposed department of Environmental Protection has run into stiff opposition from conservation groups.

Reagan's plan calls for the state Water Resources Control Board and the Air Resources Board to fall under the new department. His reorganization would abolish the Water Quality Advisory Committee and the Environmental Study Council.

During hearings by a joint legislative subcommittee on executive reorganization, the plan came under heavy fire from the conservationist Sierra Club and several other conservation groups.

Jacob Miller, representing the Sierra Club, said the plan "will delay vital action" in the fight against pollution.

When Smoke Clears Giants Ahead By Only Two

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If you want to see all there is possible to ee in a baseball game, and then some, take in the next game the Giants and Dodgers play.

Monday night the two old antagonists squared off at Candlestick Park and when their battle was over, 2 hours and 42 minutes after it had started, the Dodgers had won, 5-4, and stood poised today only two games behind San Francisco in the red-hot National League West race.

Winning the game was a big thing, but there was enough sideline play in this struggle to fill a book.

Four players —Juan Marichal and Jerry Johnson of the Giants and Bill Buckner and Maury Wills of the Dodgers — were tossed out for various sins, at least a couple of dozen fans from among the near capacity crowd of 31,081 spent the night in jail for fighting, on the field and off, and at least a dozen players were about as mad as they could be.

All that doesn't take in the fact Dave Kingman, who only 12 days ago had his appendix removed, played first base for San Francisco and had a triple and double; Willie McCovey pinch-hit (unsuccessfully) a week after taking eight stitches in his left hand; the Dodgers extended their latest winning streak to seven with their seventh consecutive victory over the Giants; Jim Brewer gained his 20th save of the year, and Bill Singer was splashed in the face with a can of beer and needed an escort to the clubhouse when he was removed in favor of Brewer.

The Dodgers, hottest team in baseball at the moment, meet the Giants again tonight with Al Downing, the little lefthander picked off a garabage heap last spring, pitching for Los Angeles and Gaylord Perry hurling for the Giants.

Home runs by Richie Allen, Willie Crawford and Willie Davis accounted for all the Dodger scoring in Monday night's battle. The Giants got a big lift from Kingman and some help by Allen and Tom Haller, whose loose play helped San Francisco to a pair of unearned runs in the seventh and almost sent manager Walter Alston to a psychiatric ward.

Marichal was behind 3-1 in the fifth when he sent two fastballs at Singer's head leading off the inning. Plate umpire Shag Crawford warned Juan and two outs later Marichal, smarting because Singer had hit Willie Mays and Chris Speier with pitches and apparently had gotten away with it, clipped Buckner.

According to the rules, Marichal was automatically out. But Buckner wanted to make a fight of it and took off after Juan with bat in hand. Giants catcher Russ Gibson restrained him but he, too, was automatically out of the game. But a big fight ensued in the middle of the diamond with players from both benches and bullpens in the action.

While some fists flew and various players shoved each other around Johnson made a choke gesture at Crawford and Shag told him to take a shower.

"I didn't do anything anyone else was doing," said Johnson in his own way, meaning he didn't think he should have been thrown out, while Buckner said he had no intention of hitting Marichal with his bat and that he was holding it in self defense.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants said that the umpire seemed to be leaning in one direction.

"Their guy (Singer) hits two of our guys and nothing happens," said Fox "My man (Marichal) hits one of their guys and he's out right now. That's hard to understand."

Singer said the pitch that hit Mays simply got away from him and insisted that he never hit Speier.

The ball was barely inside on Speier," said Singer, "and it hit his bat. He made a big thing of it and I think he swayed the umpire."

After Crawford told Johnson to take off for his choke gesture Jerry charged the umpire but was restrained by half a dozen of his teammates.

"I'd have broken him in half," said Crawford later.

Wills was tossed out for arguing over a call at first by Stan Landes. With Tito Fuentes on second and Jim Howarth on first and two out, Bobby Bonds struck out on a low pitch that got away from Haller for a passed ball. When Haller threw wild to first Fuentes scored. Wills charged that Bonds, in running to first, interfered with first baseman Wes Parker.

"He (Wills) didn't have a good view of the game," said the umpire, "so I gave him a chance to watch the end of it on television."

Singer was still working in the seventh when the Giants cut the Dodger lead to one with three runs and had the tieing run on third and the lead run on second. Brewer came on to get Al Gallagher and then stopped the Giants the rest of the way without a hit.

"I'm too much of a coward for that kind of stuff," he said.

JIM GILMARTIN

Boosters Hoping For Better Times

Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, who led the Giants Boosters Club on an athletically disastrous but artistically successful trip to Los Angeles last week, is putting together the club's final 1971 tour to Houston and Cincinnati starting next Monday.

With the pennant race suddenly a race, he expects the final road trip of the season to take on monumental proportions. To help ease the tension for his travelling Boosters in Houston, where the Giants appear jinxed, Murray has scheduled a side trip to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters. The Boosters should really get a boost out of that; maybe they'd better take the Giants along for a lift.

Asked about last week's southland jaunt, Murray frowned: "Well, we had a lot of fun during daylight hours, including a tour of the Queen Mary at Long Beach, but our after-dark schedule was a nightmare." Guess who lost three straight nocturnal tilts to the hated Dodgers?

SHARON WALSH, San Rafael's contribution to big time tennis who has been idled several months by a shoulder ailment, won't return to the tournament trail until December or possibly January, according to her father, photographer Les Walsh.

This squelches the report that appeared in another paper yesterday, listing Miss Walsh as second seeded woman in this week's Central California Open Championships at Sacramento.

The story reported: "This tournament will mark the return to competition of Miss Walsh, the San Rafael teen-ager who twice (1969-70) won the National Girls' 18 championship."

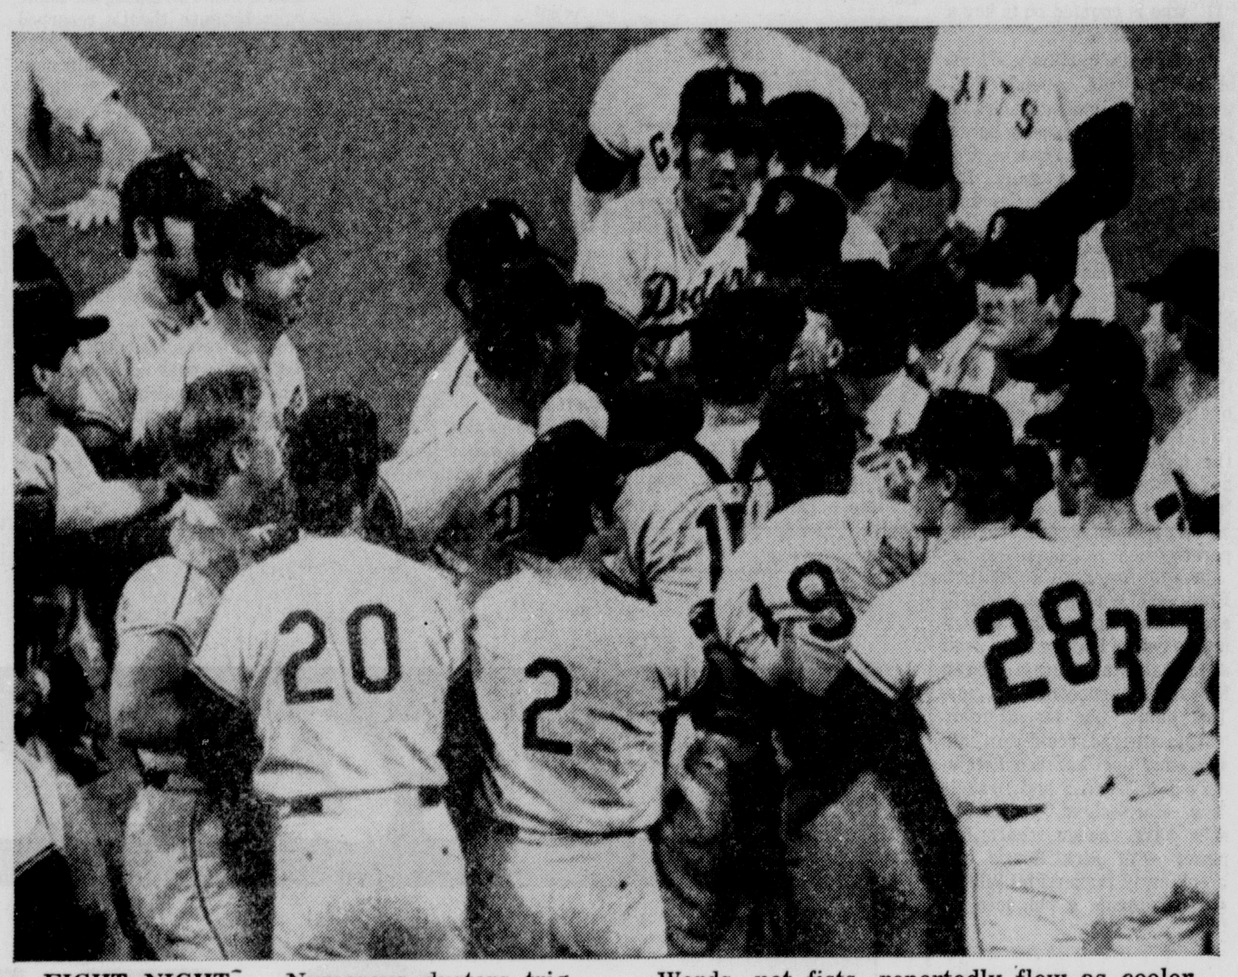
"Don't you believe it," said her proud pop yesterday. "Sharon needs a lot more rest and won't be competing ahty top level until the end of the year at the earliest."

DAVE JUDNICK, the football-baseball star from Novato High, will pursue his athletic and academic ambitions at University of Santa Clara starting this month and the Broncos are happy to land this prize athlete.

Bringing to mind, reports J. B. Arbios of Mill Valley, the Santa Clara Alumni Association's annual stag venison bash will be held Thursday night at the Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

I believe they started this deer feast back in the days when Buck Shaw was the coach, but I'm not sure.

SAN ANSELMO'S Don Alvarado had a hand in on Stanford's 19-0 rout of Missouri in the collegiate football opener Saturday. The former Drake High Flash, second string flanker for the Injuns, caught one pass for 22 yards in his brief appearance.



FIGHT NIGHT— Numerous dusters triggered a near riot in the fifth inning last evening at Candlestick Park as San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers engulfed each other in anger after Giants pitcher Juan Marichal hit Dodger batter Bill Buckner. Words, not fists, reportedly flew as cooler heads ultimately prevailed. Marichal, Buckner and San Francisco reliever Jerry Johnson were ousted from the brawlgame won by the Dodgers, 5-4. IN KANSAS CITY

Their controversial owner, Charles O. Finley, was in San Francisco Tuesday night watching the Giants-Dodgers game. But Finley was armed with a radio. When he heard the A's defeat the Kansas City Royals, 2-1, in 11 innings, Finley made a beeline for a telephone booth.

A telephone call awaited Manager Dick Williams in the Oakland clubhouse. Williams called Jim (Catfish) Hunter, who had just won his 20th game, to the phone and Finley told Hunter he was the owner of a new Cadillac—as soon as the wage-price freeze is lifted.

The victory reduced the A's magic number to two. They can clinch the American League's Western Division title tonight with another victory over the second-place Royals.

"If we win tomorrow (Tuesday) night, the fellows will raise all kinds of hell on the plane to Chicago and probably be up all night," Williams said. "I'll probably use a makeshift lineup for awhile.

"But we've got to keep our noses to the grindstone and win the playoffs, which we're going to do. Winning the playoffs, that's the main thing."

Hunter, understandably, was elated at joining the 20-victory circle.

"This means more than that perfect game will ever mean," said the 25-year-old North Carolinan. "This means that everybody will remember you. And that means everything to me.

"Twenty games comes first for any pitcher. You might win 15 or 16 games and win a World Series game and they'd remember you for that. But 20 victories ... that's the main thing."

Hunter (20-11) scored the winning run Monday night in the 11th on Rick Monday's two-out single. Roland Fingers finished up after Hunter walked the leadoff hitter in the bottom of the inning.

Champagne will not be on the menu tonight if the A's do clinch the division title. But, after Wednesday's doubleheader in Chicago, the team has a day off Thursday and has been invited to Finley's farm in LaPorte, Ind.

Surprise In Tennis Opener

But a bigger surprise probably is yet to come.

Tournament officials are keeping one eye on the weather in New York and the other on the local tournament. Stan Smith and Czechoslovakia's Jan Kodes, the two top seeds here in men's singles, have been sidelined by rain for three days in a row at Forest Hills in the U.S. Open.

Unless Smith and Kodes and five other players are able to make it to Sacramento by Thursday they will be scratched from active competition and eligible only for exhibitions.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., the fourth seed, defeated 48-year-old Tom Brown, a San Francisco attorney, 6-1, 6-3.

Finals are scheduled for Sunday.

49ERS TRADE TUCKER

A New Running Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Some new wrinkles are being introduced by the San Francisco 49ers to give the offense a bit more of a running attack.

Last year the offensive line lined up shoulder to shoulder to afford quarterback John Brodie maximum protection. As a result, he was dumped only eight times for a National Football League record.

"If we expect to complement our passing with our running, the line has to be split," said new line coach Rich Stanfel. "I've never seen a club consistently move on the ground where the line played shoulder to shoulder."

"We're now averaging 4.2 yards a carry where last year we averaged 3.4," he said. "When you have a guy like Brodie, you're going to throw a lot. But if you have established a running game before the season, you know you have it there it it's needed."

Nolan gave his troops the day off Monday so he and his staff could study films of San Diego's 28-17 exhibition victory over Atlanta. The 49ers open the season at Atlanta Sunday.

The day off was welcome to the 49ers because the mercury climber to more than 100 degrees at their training camp at Redwood City.

The 49ers traded fullback Bill Tucker to the Chicago Bears for an undisclosed 1973 draft choice to reduce their roster to 43. Tucker, a 6-2, 220-pound product of Tennessee State, had the misfortune of playing four seasons behind Ken Willard.

"I've been happy in San Francisco," said Tucker, "but a man wants to play, and I think I'll get more of a chance in Chicago. I talked to coach (Jim) Dooley of the Bears and he said "I had a chance to be the starting fullback."

Healthy Raiders Trade Koy

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) —The Oakland Raiders have opened drills at Upsala College minus running back Ted Koy and three other unidentified players.

In order to get down to today's deadline of 40 players, the Raiders traded Koy, a 225-pound, second-year player from Texas, to the Buffalo Bills for undisclosed future draft choices. Three other playets were also either cut or waived but their names were not immediately released.

Koy was the Raiders' second-round draft choice in 1970. He played both tight end and running back and apparently will do the same for the Bills.

Oakland coach John Madden announced that his club would be in fairly decent shape physically for its opener Sunday at Foxboro, Mass., against Jim Plunkett and the New England Patriots.

"We're getting back Charlie Smith, Bob Brown and Ron Mix. They're healthy again," said Madden. Smith is a running back while Brown and Mix are offensive tackles.

That means the Raiders will be missing only running back Hewritt Dixon and linebacker Greg Slough for the opener.

"Greg has stretched ligaments in his right knee," said Madden. "We don't really know now long he'll be out. But no surgery is required so that is good news."

More Rain Threatens U.S. Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —Wet grounds and possibly more rain threatened the finals rounds of the U.S. Open tennis championships Tuesday for the fourth straight day.

The men's singles semi-finals were washed out again Monday and rescheduled for today with third-seeded Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., slated to meet Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia.

N.Y. Giants Trade For Two Starters

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

After finishing the pre-season schedule with a shocking 0-6 record, coach Alex Webster decided that two birds in hand are worth more than one in the bush.

The New York Giants, winding up the pre-season with the worst record in their history, traded their No. 1 draft choice for 1972 to the Chicago Bears in exchange for two starters—center Bob Hyland and cornerback Bennie McRae.

In other transactions the Green Bay Packers asked irrevocable waivers on two veterans and two rookies— including starting tight end John Hilton.

The Philadelphia Eagles reduced their roster to the 40-man minimum by trading running back Cyril Pinder to the Bears, placing four men on the waiver list, and assigning guard Dick Hart to the injured reserve list.

The Minnesota Vikings reached the 40-man limit by trading second year quarterback Bill Cappleman to the Eagles for a future draft choice. Players out were defensive back Ted Provost, linebacker Jerry Hillebrand, and guard Mike Lahoud.

The Baltimore Colts put wide receiver Cotton Speyrer on the injured reserve list and waived injured rookie Gordon Bowdell, another wide receiver, to cut their roster to 42 players.

The Cincinnati Bengals placed star quarterback Greg Cook on the unable to perform list and waived rookie defensive tackle Arthur May, rookie wide receiver Irv Mallory and defensive back Joe Johnson.

Buchanan Retains Title With Unanimous Decision

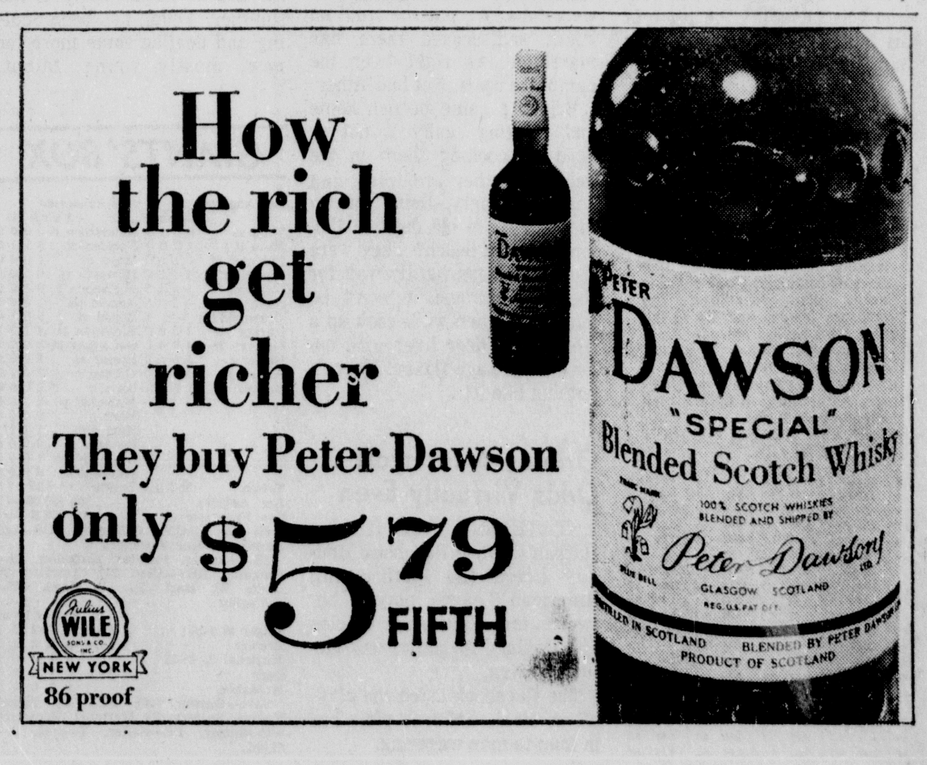
The 26-year-old lad has repaid a debt, and with typical Scottish guile, came up $100,000 richer and still clinging to his world lightweight title by taking a unanimous 15-round decision over Ismael Laguna Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

When Laguna lost the title to Buchanan last year, the Panamanian thought it was only a loan. For the past year, the 28-year-old Laguna has railed against what he considered the injustice of the decision and demanded a rematch so he could reclaim the title.



Full Schedule Of Football For Marin's High Schools

A full schedule is on tap this weekend with eight Marin County high school football teams prepared to participate in the pigskin parade.

On Friday, Redwood High hosts Sacred Heart of San Francisco at 3:30 p.m. in Larkspur, Novato High travels to Riordan of San Francisco to battle the Crusaders at 8 p.m. on Kezar Stadium turf, Terra Linda entertains Santa Rosa High at 8 p.m. at San Rafael High, while Drake visits Petaluma High also at 8 p.m.

On Saturday, San Rafael invades Lincoln in San Francisco at 11 a.m., Tamalpais collides with visiting Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland at 1 p.m. in Mill Valley, Encinal of Alameda invades San Marin at Novato High at 1 p.m., while Marin Catholic goes to Petaluma to face Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park at 8 p.m.

Of the eight, six teams are making their 1971 debuts; Marin Catholic and San Marin registered losses Saturday in their inaugurals.

The two seem optimistic in evening their marks Saturday, particularly the ever-hopeful Bruno Banducci, Marin Catholic's mentor. The affable coach, apparently over his disappointment from the 14-12 heartbreaking defeat by Salesian of Richmond, had his troops thinking victory for Saturday.

His small Wildcats are working on offensive consistency this week and containing Cougar quarterback Steve Wlodarczyk and running back Mike Cooper. Rancho Cotate coach Clyde Brock considers Wlodarczyk an excellent passer and Cooper "a real clutch performer." Both were instrumental in the Cougars' 46-22 win last year over the Wildcats. The winners intercepted 11 passes.

While the Wildcats seek to cut down turnovers, San Marin will try to generate more offense against Encinal of Alameda. The East Bay delegation is an attack-minded aggregate with ability to connect on deep passes; San Marin surrendered four touchdown passes to Gunn High Saturday.

The remaining half-dozen go into their games unbeaten, untied and unplayed. Of this group, San Rafael probably faces the stiffest test, taking on perennial San Francisco power Lincoln.

However, the Bulldogs have power of their own, notably All-League halfback Scot Duncan. The quick back maneuvered for 823 yards on 93 tries and 13 touchdowns last fall, only 317 yards more than teammate Mark Farrar, a hard-charging fullback, according toBulldog coach Bob Muster.

Both this and the Novato-Riordan clash are expected to be free-scoring affairs. The latter tilt pits All-League quarterback Marty Moroski of Novato against the Crusaders' Mike Carey, a junior. Last week, Carey threw a pair of six-pointers to wide receiver Dave Castiglioni covering 26 and 8-yards, respectively in a 32-6 route of Watsonville High.

Tamalpais, without benefit of a scrimmage last week, comes into Saturday's battle with Bishop O'Dowd well rested. The time off should benefit Tam All-League back Cliff Hall, afflicted with a badly chipped left ankle, although he may miss Saturday's encounter. Otherwise, Coach Mike Davlin's Indians should be in good health.

Defending champion Terra Linda's debut against Santa Rosa will feature the debut of heralded transfer quarterback Kevin Donohoe for the host "11" who is counted on to key a rebuilt Trojan attack.

Another Marin County Athletic League title hopeful, Redwood, will attempt to uncork its new-found potent passing punch at Sacred Heart's expense. Unlike the Larkspur gang, the Irish already have a victory chalked up, a 17-8 conquest of Moreau in Hayward last Saturday, thus making it a successful debut for new Irish coach Steve Ellison. They have aspirations of making the Giants victim number two, but first the visitors will have to stop pre-season running sensation Bill Edralin. In scrimmages, the hard-running sophomore has shown fine potential at the fullback slot to unseat incumbent Jay Lehman, at least temporarily.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Baltimore's Frank Robinson is now a card-carrying member of the "500 Club" but doubts strongly whether the ticket alone is good enough for entry into the Hall of Fame.

Robinson became the 11th man in baseball history to hit 500 career home runs when he smashed Nos. 499 and 500 Monday night. But why is the only player ever to have been selected as the most valuable player in both the National and American Leagues doubtful of his entry into the Hall of Fame?

"My ticket to the Hall of Fame won't be hitting 500 home runs because theat's reserved for guys like Willie Mays or Hank Aaron," the Baltimore star said, adding, "My ticket will be playing on championship clubs."

No. 500 was a two-run shot that came with two outs in the ninth inning of a doubleheader nightcap with Detroit but was of no avail as the Tigers rolled to a 10-5 victory.

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Monday they would not permit the National Broadcasting Co. to televise locally any of their home playoff games if the Pirates win the National League East title.

It would be the first time since the playoffs were inaugurated in 1969 there would be a television blackout.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

It's that time of the year for the salmon to show up off California City between Raccoon Strait and Paradise Cove. This past week, some big fish were taken there. One was reported to weigh 60 pounds. There were 86 boats out there Sunday morning. On Saturday, 41, 28, and 22 pounders were logged through the Loch Lomond launching ramp in San Rafael. Frank Spencer, the Marin Rod and Gun Pier keeper, said the Buck Bailey brought in a 25-pounder.

Some stripers have been caught also while trolling for salmon. Last Tuesday and Wednesday, a large school of anchovies was noted all around the MRGC pier. Then the bass came! A couple of the anglers each caught one from the pier, but a fly fisherman or a surface plug caster would have had a field day.

BASS FISHING at the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge is gocd in the mornings and the evenings. Si Testa and two friends took nine at The Brothers Islands, releasing about fifteen, looking for big ones. The fish caught were between two and five pounds. About 15 stripers were logged into Loch Lomond Saturday. All or most of the fishing is done trolling a pet spoon with a pork rind on a spreader leader with a bugeye as the second lure.

MOST OF you know that the inland deer season opens Sept. 25 thisyear. The wild pig season also opens in Monterey County on that day, running through March 27, 1972. The limit is one pig per day, and one pig in possession. Elsewhere in the state wild pigs may be taken any time of the year, and there is no bag or possession limit. Permission to hunt on private property must be obtained from he landowners.

I HAD a few calls and comments on my column about the Leach fellow from Sacrameno who was including the price of his liquors in the campout food bill. One little old lady called to say that she was happy to see that we had caught the culprit because whiskey and guns don't mix! I gave her Howard's address; he should be getting her letter any day now. Most of the comments were, "We've got a guy that always does the same thing! Now we're going to tell him off!"

ANYWAY, TO finish up that trip, we arrived at Webber Lake in the afternoon. Every camp and cabin was taken. For the first time in 30 years, I had to sleep on the ground there! From now on, I'm keeping my hot spots quiet! We saw the DeVines of Woodacre up there. They were having trout for the group for dinner. They were most successful, using a small grey gnat fly trolling without a sinker. Tommie (aged 6) and Laurie (aged 8) supplied the dinner one night for their group. Papa ran the motor.

We didn't take a boat and there are no rentals at Webber, so we took a jeep road to a back county lake. We caught one fish there, so we sent the boys on a creek fishing expedition. They came back with 11. In camp that evening, we cooked two sage grouse (cut up like frying chicken). Rolled them in flour, browned them in oil in a Dutch oven, added two cups chicken stock, then let them simmer for an hour. Then we added a couple of packages of rice-a-roni. In about 20 minutes, they were ready. They were tops. We put the trout on sticks and cooked them like marshmallows right over the camp fire coals. Not bad either.

Bringing game or fish home and freezing really is not as good as cooking them in the field when they are fresh, and you are hungry. Don't you remember those old days of abalones on the beach? They were the best! I can hardly wait for the evening, and it won't be long now, when we'll cook up a fresh mule deer liver with onions. That sage flavor! There's nothing like it!

Seals Open Camp With New Faces

OSHAWA, Ont. (UPI)—A lot of new faces were in camp during the weekend when the California Golden Seals opened their training camp prior to the 1971-72 season.

Fred Glover, who turned down an executive position with the team to remain as coach, welcomed a healthy, happy group of candidates in the hometown of the Seals new general manager, Garry Young.

Ever since being hired from the Boston Bruins early in the summer, Young has been dealing and dealing some more for new, mostly young, talent.

Orioles-A's Playoff Odds Virtually Even

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Harrah's Tahoe Racebook Monday listed the forthcoming American League playoff between the Baltimore Orioles and Oakland Athletics as "virtually" even.

The Racebook listed the playoff as 10-11, which is pick 'em in man-to-man wagering.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Canadian Firm's Sales Promising

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What is your opinion of investing in Canadian stocks in view of President Nixon's new import tax and "floating dollar" proposals? What issue would you suggest? — I.D.

A. Since the Canadian dollar has already been "allowed" to float freely for some time vis-a-vis the U.S. dollar, the new measures have had only a minimal effect between the two currencies. However, Canadian stocks such as Dome Mines which derives the bulk of its revenues from its gold mining interests, would be temporarily affected by the cutting of the U.S. dollar from gold. Longer term, though, this monetary development would prove beneficial.

The U.S. import tax would penalize certain Canadian industrial companies, but it does not apply to oil or gas and to imports that are presently under a treaty umbrella. An example of the latter is the 1965 U.S./Canadian Auto Pact. A specific case in point is Van Der Hout Associates, a fast growing Canadian company, which I've mentioned here before.

Van Der Hout, in a joint operation with Maremont Corp., manufactures shock absorbers, the bulk of which are exported to the rapidly-expanding U.S. market. The auto pact exempts these exports. In fact, higher U.S. auto sales, which are now expected because of the recision of the 7 per cent excise tax, should actually benefit Van Der Hout's future operations. A further boost to sales could result if Congress enacts proposed legislation requiring shock absorbing bumpers on all new cars.

On a consolidated basis, Van Der Hout should report earnings of around $0.85 per share this year, up from 1970's $0.70. The uptrend is expected to continue over the next several years. Finances are sound. Van Der Hout, currently selling at a modest multiple of 10X, is a Canadian company that continues to have excellent long-term appreciation potentialities. Shares are traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Stocks Are Lower For Fourth Day

NEW YORK (UPI) —Traders and investors, awaiting the economic program to follow the wage-price-rent freeze, pushed the stock market lower for the fourth day in a row today. Turnover was light.

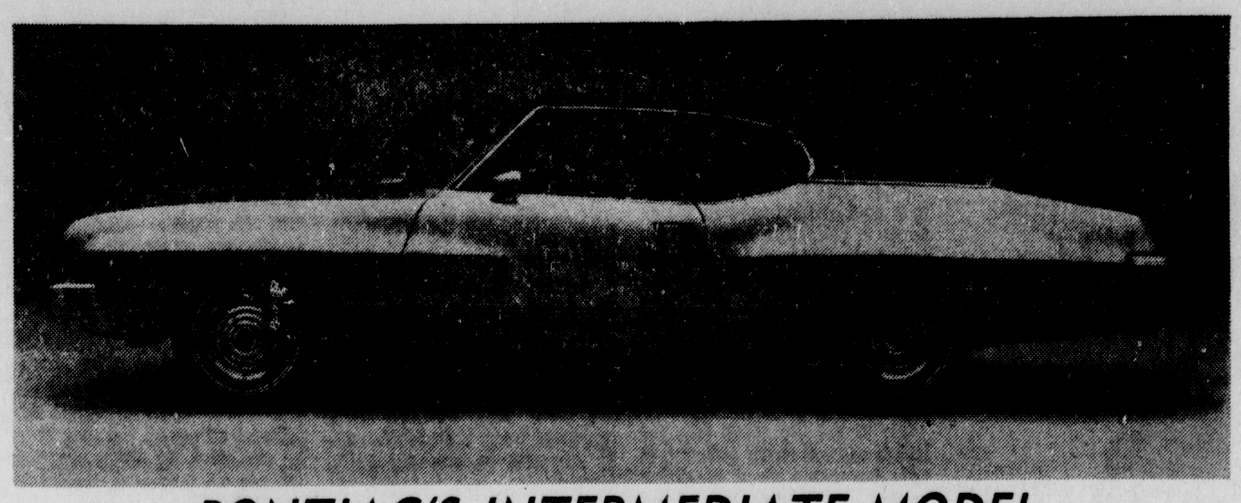
President Nixon met last week with labor leaders and with representatives of big business Monday to discuss what approach to take. He met with leaders of farm organizations and congressional leaders to work out the details of phase two when the freeze expires Nov. 13.

StandardStandard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.24 at 99.83, while declines topped advances, 657 to 412, among the 1,443 issues crossing the tape.

Prices also eased in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were House of Fabrics down a point on 30,000 shares, Leisure Technology Corp. up about a point on 23,000 shares, and Instrument Systems fractionally higher on 20,000 shares.

On the Big Board steel surrendered fractions. Oils and chemicals were mostly lower. Airlines were steady to easy.



PONTIAC'S INTERMEDIATE MODEL

The LeMans will offer a wide choice of two-door coupes, two and four-door hardtops, sport convertibles, four-door sedans and two and three-seat station wagons with dual hinged tailgates. Four-door models are built on a 116-inch wheelbase and two-door models have 112 inches. They will be offered Sept. 23 at Marin Automobile Co., San Rafael.

BUICK'S NEW SUN MODEL

A folding vinyl sun roof is offered for the first time this year on the Buick 350 sport coupe. It is also available on special order for other Buick intermediate hardtop coupes and a power-operated steel sun roof is available on the 1972 Riviera. Buicks will be sold in Marin at Don Collins Buick, San Rafael.

Sign Companies Acquired By Building Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — American Building Maintenance Industries has announced the acquisition of Sign Maintenance Inc. of Los Angeles and its affiliated corporations — Sign Maintenance of San Diego Inc. and Apex Sign Corp. — for an undisclosed amount of cash.

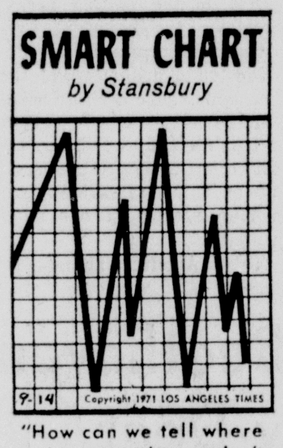
The companies are engaged in the business of display sign maintenance and building lighting maintenance throughout California under the name S M I Industries.

The sign maintenance side of the business serves nearly 15,000 customer locations under contracts with major petroleum companies, banks, supermarket chains and department stores.

Ralph C. Townsend, the founder of the company, will remain as president under a long-term agreement and no other personnel changes are contemplated.

Distribution Pact

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (BW) — Renault Motors of France and Aeroceanic Corp. have entered into an international distribution agreement. Under terms of the agreement, Renault will distribute Aeroceanic's gray marine engines and aero-marine jet-paks throughout France and parts of Africa. Aeroceanic will distribute Renault marine engines in the United States, according to C. R. Salmon, president of Aeroceanic.



"How can we tell where we're going when we don't know where we've been?"

California Condor Faces Rugged, Hazardous Life

By DARRYL STEWART

California Condor

Toward the end of the Pleistocene epoch some 10,000 years ago, a huge ancestor of the California condor flourished throughout the southern United States as far as Florida.

Fossil remains indicate that it was a gigantic bird and must have sported a wingspread of about 19 feet, but in all other respects it very loosely resembled our present-day bird.

The California condor is one of the largest-flying birds in the world — certainly the largest found in North America. It weighs 20 to 25 pounds and has a wingspread of 9½ to 10 feet.

Adult condors are all dark-brown or black, except for a triangle of white feathers on the underside of the wings. The head is a bare orange. Together with its beady eyes, the bird conveys a sinister appearance which does nothing to improve its general image. As a matter of fact, the condor is a harmless and timid bird and its benefit as a scavenger cannot be overestimated. Also, the condor is a much cleaner bird than is generally accredited; one of its favorite habits is to assemble on the bank of some secluded mountain pool and spend hours at a time bathing.

From its perch on a tree or rock, the bird launches itself into the air with a few great flaps of its wings. In flight, the condor is poetry in motion. The bird soars on its outstretched wings for miles in the same motionless position. By riding the up-draft it can travel about 40 miles an hour at altitudes up to three miles.

In historic times, California condors were found from the Columbia River in Oregon, south to northern Baja California, and east to southwest Utah. Here they were to be seen soaring in their hundreds.

The Lewis and Clark expedition reported sightings of the bird along the Columbia River in 1806. The Indians of the southwest revered the condor and called it the "Thunderbird."

Hazards to the survival of the California condor include, among other things, careless hunters, diseased carrion, power lines, malicious rock-throwers, and pesticides.

The bird itself is in some ways its worst enemy. The condor does not mate until it is six years old. The female produces only one egg every two years. It's believed that the male takes only one mate in a lifetime.

Compounding the problem is the condor's fear of people. During the crucial five-month nesting period, when the infant condor is gathering strength for its first flight, the parents will abandon their young if human beings come too close.

At present, the status of the California condor is regarded as endangered. Its very small population is slowly declining in numbers. Estimated population would indicate a maximum of between 60 and 80 individual birds.

However, protective measures are already being taken. Two sanctuaries have been established by the U.S. Forest Service, including a 53,000-acre refuge northeast of Santa Barbara. Shooting has been prohibited by California State law, with penalties up to a year in jail or a $1,00 fine (or both). A condor-management plan has also been set up for Los Padros National Forest by a full-time condor biologist, and an annual condor survey is conducted by the California Department of Fish and Game.

The National Audubon Society has also vigorously campaigned to save the condor. This group has given wide distribution to a leaflet carrying the slogan "don't shoot any large dark bird."

Today, the entire California condor population is restricted to the Southern coast ranges from Monterey County south to the Transverse Mountains and north in the Sierra Nevada foothils to Fresno County. It is therefore one of the rarest and most isolated birds on earth.

The only way the condor can be saved is for state and federal agencies to tighten protective measures with regard to the nesting areas. Stricter prohibition of firearms and meaningful restrictions on oil drilling within the condor's range are also needed.

It is certainly worth any cost and effort to ensure the survival of this magnificent and unique species of our native wildlife.

Air Pollution Suspected Of Causing Dermatitis

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—A doctor in a coal mining area in Wales wrote a colleague here that he found the skin of his patients affected by the chemicals in the air. The colleague had already noted the same loss of tone in the skin of those of his patients who lived and worked in New York City.

So, to all the other charges levied against it, air pollution is now suspected in a condition which a dermatologist writing in the magainze, "Clinical Medicine," has suggested might be called "dermatitis Urbis" — city skin.

Dr. Irwin I. Lubowe, Clinical Professor of Dermatology at New York Medical College, who got the letter from Dr. H. Harrop-Griffiths of Newport, Wales, pointed out in the article that the skin is the largest organ of tha body and that its most significant function is providing protecting against heat, dust, wind, sun, cold, radioactive fallout "and other noxious agents."

"Can we not conjecture," he wrote, "that continuous exposure of the skin of urban residents to noxious air pollutants may either cause or precipitate a dermatosis, particularly in the aging female whose sebaceous glands are diminishing in function?

"The visible signs of the aging skin may become more apparent when it is continuously exposed to the air pollutants."

In other words, Dr. Lubowe said, the skin can fight off the present level of air pollution for some time while it is young and healthy but the older the city dweller the more apt he or she is to find it is a losing battle against chemicals loosed by the combustion of coal and oil, automobile fuel, and fats in incinerators not to mention "sootfall, dustfall, fly ash and animals droppings."

Dr. Lubowe quoted statistics that 232 American cities of over 50,000 inhabitants have serious air pollution problems with consequent rise in respiratory conditions.

"It does not seem unwarranted," he wrote, "to conjecture that these many hazardous contaminants may not have an effect only on the pulmonary system but that this combination of noxious agents, with continuous exposure for long periods of time, will affect the epidermis and cutaneous systems as well.

"The disintegrating effect of sulphur dioxide on nylon stockings and its erosion of marble and granite are well known. An adverse effect on the skin is to be expected. In office practice we see an increased incidence of skin and hair conditions.

"The possible relationship of air pollutants and skin health cannot be dismissed lightly."

Dr. Lubowe said, however, that it should be well within the knowledge of dermatological science to formulate a protective cream that would reduce the effect of air contaminants.

Closed Meeting

The San Rafael Fire Commission will hold a closed meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the city hall to discuss appointing a new fire chief.

Moratorium To Be Discussed

A proposed moratorium on apartments and townhouses in Novato will be discussed at a meeting of the San Marin Improvement Association at 8 p.m. tomorrow at San Marin High School library.

Planning director Brian W. Mattson and Evelyn Johnson, secretary of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations, are scheduled to participate.

The federation has proposed a moratorium on apartments and townhouses until the city's general plan is revised.

By CRAIG A. PALMER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —How Ludwig von Beethoven could compose such musical masterpieces when almost stone deaf has been one of the mysteries of the past century and a half. Now comes a new theory on how he got so deaf —and so ugly.

Paget's disease, says Dr. V. S. Naiken of the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia. Paget's is a disease —so-named for 19th Century British surgeon and bone disease expert Sir James Paget who identified it —of unknown cause that is said to affect about 2 per cent of people over 40.

The victims are particularly susceptible to cancer of the bone, producing an enzyme called alkaline phosphatase, and their bodies manufacture bone too quickly. This often results in nervous system complications, crippling deformity, abnormally enlarged head and vertebrae collapse.

Naiken published his theory that Beethogen had Paget's disease in Annals of Internal Medicine, a scientific monthly journal of the American College of Physicians.

Others have diagnosed Beethoven's troubles as otosclerosis (formation of spongy bone in the ear's labyrinth), nerve deafness, labyrinthitis (inflammation of the labyrinth) and syphilis.

The renowned composer began to experience deafness for high tones when he was 26 and suffered earache, ringing and whistling in his ears, facial twitching and violent headaches, leading to near-total deafness at 52. He died five years later, in 1827.

The fact that Beethoven's hearing problem started 14 years before he was 40 throws Naiken a little, he admits in his treatise. "The only argument against Paget's disease, in our opinion, would be the early onset of deafness, at age 26," he wrote.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

IDEA #7 To make components even more space-saving, put speakers in bookshelves to look built-in, and conceal the turntable in a cabinet or closet.

IDEA #8
Frame fabrics. Look for bold geometrics and bright stylized flowers. Just stretch, frame and hang them as if they were the works of fine artists. Many are!
